Florida.

On Tuesday at Tallahassee, immediately after a telegram had been received from Louisiana announcing that Gov. Hayes had the State by about 3,400 majority, the wires were cut about four miles from Tallahassee. The democrats did not mean that any more news of that sort should come until the Florida board had finished. The dispatches sent by republicans at 3 o'clock on Wednesday morning announcing the result were sent on horseback thirty miles to Monticello. The Board of State Canvassers have acted with conspicuous fairness and propriety in conducting the canvass. No democrat will complain that his side was not treated with great courtesy, or that there was not the fullest opportunity up to the last possible moment for them to submit proofs and arguments. At the final hearing on Monday evening, when the last arguments were being read, and the republican final argument on Monroe County had been heard, the board allowed the democrats to introduce the oral testimony of witnesses to contradict facts commented upon in the argument.

No one of the distinguished lawyers or Northern democratic visitors will deny the fairness or liberality of the modes of procedure adopted by the republican majority of the board. Even Attorney-General Cocke came to realize the necessity, when acting officially, of laying aside partisanship and adhering to well-settled rules of law in acting upon returns. It will be remembered that he sent an impudent telegram of Nov. 14, asserting that he was a member of the Canvassing Board; and Tilden and Drew had carried the State, and that the Radicals should not be allowed to cheat them out of it. This telegram the World of the 29th approves, and says: "Cocke has done nothing to disqualify himself to be an impartial judge." The truth about the Attorney-General is that he is a lawyer of learning, and anxious, when not hampered by democratic party pressure, to administer the law as he understands it; but he is too easily induced by the desperate and reckless democrats about him to act contrary to his own real and honest convictions. This view of his character is the clew to his action in the closing work of the board. He has no doubt whatever that the honest and legal vote of Florida was for Gov. Hayes. He has doubt whether it is republican on the State ticket, and he wants to make it democratic if he can for the benefit of his party.

The precise action of the board I cannot give. It was about as follows: Additions to democratic votes—Clay, 23; Baker, 136; Jefferson, 59; Leon, 2. Reductions—Hamilton, 173; Jackson, 315; Orange, 7; Franklin, 10; Hernando, 5; Waldo Precinct, Alachua, 9; Manatee, 285; Monroe, 342; Calhoun, 1. These changes increase the Hayes majority to about 900, and elect the republican State ticket and both Congressmen. The board rejected the democratic claim that Archer Precinct in Alachua should be thrown out. The sworn testimony made at the time, and overwhelming testimony from the voters themselves and from credible and consistent election officers, proved conclusively that 399 republican votes were cast. The contrary testimony was from uncorroborated and admitted perjurers. That is all there is to the case of Archer. In Clay they restored 23 Tilden majority which the county canvassers had thrown out because the inspectors appeared not to have been sworn, it being shown to the board that they had been in fact sworn. They concluded finally to count all the precinct votes in Baker County, it not sufficiently appearing that the county judge, sheriff, and justice had good reasons for throwing out two of them; but in doing this they did not decide in any way against the validity and formality of the canvass and return showing a republican majority, nor recognize the so-called return of Coxe, the clerk.

They sustained the republican return in Duval County, it appearing that all three officers were present at the canvass, although the democratic county Judge continuously and improperly refused to sign the return. The precinct returns were also before them, showing the true vote to be as returned. They allowed a reduction of 59 votes in Jefferson County as the sole result of an immense mass of democratic testimony put in very late, and claimed as showing 900 fraudulent votes in the county because the names were not on a canvass made by the democratic committee, which was of course utterly valueless as a true guide. In Leon County also they reduced a large preposterous democratic claim of illegal voting to two. They threw out a precinct vote in Hamilton County because of gross violations of the election laws relative to guarding the ballot-box during the election. The board here acted on the advice of Attorney-General Cocke, who felt compelled, against his party interests, to vindicate the requirements of the law.

In Jackson County two precincts were thrown out. It had been shown that the ballot boxes had been kept out of sight of the electors. They all had to vote through high windows. In one precinct exactly six feet, and in the other several feet high above the standing place of the voters, whose ballots were, of course, at once lost to their view and went they knew not where. In fact, at Friendship Church only 44 republican votes were returned, while it was proved cy testimony of all the persons themselves and by others that 66 actually voted for the Hayes electors. In Campbellton 77 Hayes votes were returned, and it is conclusively proved, with no counter-evidence, that 132 republican votes were actually cast. The proof of a conspiracy to give a fraudulent majority, not by illegalities in conducting the election, but by frauds actually committed, amply justifies the board in rejecting, as they did, the entire precinct vote.

The Jackson County proofs are impregnable. They were prepared under the direction of Gen. Lew Wallace, who also summed up and argued them. I defy any democratic Congressional committee to break them, no matter how much figuring the democrats of the county may dare to commit. The county, this year reported at 98 Tilden majority was one of the strongest republican counties in the State, giving from 760 republican down to not less than 250, until all the white republicans were killed or driven off. Eighty-one unpunished murders have been committed there, including those of John L. Finlayson, a native Southerner, and surgeon in the rebel army, and Col. John Q. Dickinson, a native of Vermont, a Dartmouth graduate, permanently settled as a mill owner. Both were shot solely to get rid of them as prominent republicans, and as holders of the office of county clerk of Jackson County, Dickinson having succeeded Finlayson.

In Waldo Precinct, Alachua, as the democrats admitted, they allowed men from an emigrant train to vote, and only swore them that they were residents of the United States. In Manatee County there was no clerk of the county to give notice of the election, and no registration made or used, and so evidently illegal was the election that one-third of the voters did not participate. The democrats stopped the republican agents sent to take evidence, because they had no pass from Mr. Pasco, Chairman of the democratic State committee. The board properly rejected the vote.

The case of the Third Precinct of Key West, thrown out for illegalities, was carefully considered by the board. The election laws of Florida, as expounded by Attorney-General Cocke, are very strict as to the care of the ballot-box, and in requiring the canvass to be finished and the result declared in public and certified before an adjournment. In Key West, at all the other precincts, the count and declaration were made before an adjournment, but in this Third Precinct, where the vote was less, the count was not finished that night, but the inspectors left the voting place, taking the box and registration list, and all evidence of the election, to the home of one of the two democratic inspectors, leaving nothing in the hands of the republican inspector. The next forenoon they met at 10 o'clock, at a sponge warehouse in a different precinct, and there, from 10 until 2 o'clock, continued to canvass, and at last certified the vote. No possible honest reason existed for this violation of the law. On the contrary there had been evidence of fraudulent purposes during the election which this violation of law was intended to cover up. In this state of the facts the republican members of the board, Messrs. McLin and Cowgill, submitted the question to Attorney-General Cocke, saying distinctly that they would be guided by his opinion, and would vote exactly as he did. The Attorney-General decided as he had in the Hamilton-County case that the action of the election officers was so illegal and irregular as to create a presumption of fraud and to vitiate the whole poll, and thereupon the board unanimously decided to reject this precinct with its democratic majority of 342.

After passing upon all the counties the board passed a resolution that they had finished the canvass of all the votes on both the National and State tickets, and adjourned to meet the next day at three o'clock only to sign the statement of the vote for State officers, which required considerable time footing. They, however, at three o'clock Wednesday morning, signed their certificate to the Governor showing 930 majority for the Hayes electors, and the Governor forthwith issued his certificates to Messrs. Humphreys, Pearce, Hallien and Long.

When the canvass of the votes of Florida was completed and the result announced by the State Canvassers, Attorney-General Cocke went to his office, where the democrats had assembled. The democrats became filled with astonishment when they learned that the Key West precinct had been unanimously rejected upon his legal opinion. Exactly what occurred next republicans cannot now know; but it is to be presumed that prayers and entreaties if not imprecations were used, for at last the Attorney-General went back to the Secretary of State and said he must ask leave to withdraw his vote for throwing out the Key West precinct. The canvass, however, was finished and he could not do it. He has since been induced also to protest against the action of the board, and it is reported also to give an untrue and worthless certificate that the Tilden electors have a majority of the votes, in order to afford some foundation for the foolish plan of having the defeated Tilden candidates assume to cast the electoral vote, and of afterward testing the legality of the election by quo warranto. No more convincing proof could, however, be given of the correctness of Mr. Cocke's legal judgment that the Key West precinct should be thrown out, than that having deliberately so decided in consultation with his colleagues he attempts to retract his action by reason of entreaties or demands from his party leaders.

The republican electors cast their four ballots for Hayes and Wheeler at twelve o'clock on Wednesday and duly certified the result. While engaged in this work they were served with a process of quo warranto in behalf of the democratic candidates, and the Canvassing Board were also enjoined by Judge White, who has returned up again, against canvassing the vote for State offices until he graciously permits them. As they had done it already, however, the proceedings before him are likely to be as farcical as were the mandamus proceedings instituted to compel them to go ahead and do what he now undertakes to tell them not to do.

The result in Florida is a fair, honest expression of the votes of the people as actually cast for Presidential electors. No rejection of votes for mere errors of form was necessary to give the State to Hayes; and I believe further, that no legal tests will reverse the result either as to the State ticket or Congressmen. The republicans are ready for the most searching examination that any number of Congressional committees may give the case. I desire to record my high opinion of the democratic lawyers engaged in the canvass, Messrs. Raney and Pasco. The local counsel have been courteous as well as able, while Messrs. Biddle and Sellers, the leading Northern counsel, have much impressed me, the first with his thoroughness of preparation for trial and his eloquence in argument, and the latter for great logical power and unsurpassed clearness of statement.—W. E. CHANDLER, in New York Tribune.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 14, 1876

Mr. Whitehouse's Withdrawal.

We regret in common with the republicans of this Congressional district the business necessity which compels the withdrawal of HON. CHARLES S. WHITEHOUSE of Gonic from the canvass for the Congressional seat now held by Hon. Frank Jones. MR. WHITEHOUSE was nominated two years ago at a time when no other candidate seemed so available as he for a successful prosecution of a contest in which the republican nominee was to be opposed by more money than any previous democratic candidate had been able to command. MR. WHITEHOUSE entered the campaign with vigor and was unremitting in his efforts, stirring up the old republican elements from the mountains to the sea. Mr. Jones soon found him a dangerous competitor, and having mysteriously learned that he was beaten a fortnight before election, according to the republican canvass, went to work to obtain a sufficient number of republican votes to turn the scale. How Mr. Jones obtained his information and after ward acted upon it, is quite generally suspected and in some quarters is not a secret. After the hardest fought political battle ever witnessed in this district, he was elected over MR. WHITEHOUSE by a plurality of 336 votes, there being 344 scattering votes cast, mostly for a temperance candidate. MR. WHITEHOUSE received about 1000 more votes than were ever before cast for a republi an candidate in the district, his total reaching 13,631 in a total vote of 27,942. Mr. Roberts, democratic candidate for Governor at that time, had a plurality of 69 votes in the district. This shows that about 134 voters who cast their ballots for Gov. CHENEY voted for Congressman Jones. Had these men used their influence for instead of against MR. WHITEHOUSE, his election would have been certain. As it was, Mr. Jones has since declared that no other two men in the district could have polled such a tremendous vote.

The friends of MR. WHITEHOUSE, indignant at the treachery that defeated him, have been anxious for the expiration of Mr. Jones' term in Congress, that they might under more favorable auspices contest the district successfully. The lukewarmness of certain republicans had only strengthened the resolve that MR. WHITEHOUSE should be elected next March. MR. WHITEHOUSE has acted a manly part and had rallied around him a circle of friends of whose support any man might well feel proud. These men have urged him not to decline a renomination, but for business reasons he has felt compelled to do so in the admirable letter we publish elsewhere. The direct cause for this decision, in face of the fact that a triumphant election would without doubt follow his acceptance of a renomination, is a change in the business of the mills at Gonic and East Rochester, the management having been consolidated recently, Mr. WHITEHOUSE taking full charge. The management of such extensive business interests gives MR. WHITEHOUSE no leisure time to engage in politics, and one or two brief terms in Congress are not sufficient to compensate any man for an abandonment of such important trusts.

The Nashua Telegraph, in referring to MR. WHITEHOUSE'S withdrawal, says:

We are sure that MR. WHITEHOUSE would have made a useful and honorable record in Congress, had he been elected, and we never could under-tand why he was sacrificed for a man so totally unfitted for public life as the present incumbent of a seat in Congress from the First district. Extensively engaged in manufacturing, MR. WHITEHOUSE does well perhaps, not to sacrifice an interest, so vital to himself and others, for the uncertainties of political life, but he is the sort of intelligent, efficient and unselfish man that public life demands. We hope the republicans of the First district will be able to present as worthy a candidate as MR. WHITEHOUSE proved to be, and then prove themselves worthy of their candidate by electing him.

The republicans of the district have a number of able men who would confer honor upon the office and faithfully represent it. Among those prominently named for the nomination are HON. BENJ. F. PRESCOTT, of Epping, HON. JOHN J. MORRILL, of Gilford, HON. SAMUEL M WHEELER, of Dover, GEN. GILMAN MARSTON, of Exeter, HON. ALONZO NUTE, of Farmington, and Ex-Congressman JACOB H. ELA, of Rochester. There is a disposition generally shown to select a candidate who shall be the mouth-piece of no clique, and who may receive the support of every republican in the district. Under any expected contingency, the nominee will surely receive the hearty support of HON. CHARLES S. WHITEHOUSE and the many warm friends who were so devoted to his candidacy.

To the Electors of the First Congressional District of New Hampshire:

GONIC, N. H., Dec. 12, 1876.

In answer to enquiries from many republican friends in this district, it seems proper that I should announce to you that I shall not be a candidate for re-nomination. There are several reasons for this decision, the principal one of which is, changes in business, with increased responsibilities assumed since the election two years ago, which I cannot set aside without injury to others as well as myself. Under these circumstances it seems to me right and proper that you should be early apprised of this decision, in order that you may turn your attention to the duty of selecting some other candidate to represent you in the Forty-Fifth Congress.

While thus withdrawing from the list of candidates, I cannot let pass the opportunity to thank you for the generous support accorded me at the previous election, and at the same time indulge the hope that whoever you may select for your suffrages at the next election, will be equally fortunate.

CHAS. S. WHITEHOUSE.

Political.

Ben Hill continues to talk very plainly to his democratic colleagues in the House, insisting that the country will not stand another civil strife, and that if Hayes is declared elected by the Senate, the democratic party must accept the verdict and not resort to violence. He likewise tells democrats that if the country becomes involved in another civil contest, that the Northern democrats must expect to do the fighting, as those in the South have had enough to last this generation.

The democratic member of the Florida Returning Board is not a very perpendicular sort of man.

If John Morrissey had believed that the Oregon theft would elect Tilden, would he have declared all bets off?

Gov. Kemper of Virginia says that the debt of that State amounts to $33,000,000, all of which was contracted before the war. It amounts to one-tenth of the taxable property of the State.

A Prime Remedy for a Painful Disease.

The pangs endured by the rheumatic are attributed by scientific path logists to the contact of a certain abnormal acrid element in the blood with the sensitive covering of the muscles and joints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, being a supero blood depurent, is admirably calculated to expel this impurity, and by removing the cause to allay the pain and feverish symptoms which it produces. That it is a most successful remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and gout, as well as a reliable means of counteracting those diseases, is a fact amply evidenced by voluntary certificates emanating from those whom it has cured, and attested by medical practitioners of high repute. It is likewise a sovereign curative of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, urinary troubles and general debility, as well as the most popular and successful antidote to malaria extant.

The Grand Central Hotel, the largest in New York, has made another innovation, and "tumbled" its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.50 per day.

SUCH IS THE PURIFYING, HEALING OPERATION OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP that formidable abscesses and purulent ulcers, as well as the most obstinate skin diseases, are cured by it. It expels proud flesh and is highly anti-putrescent.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam has gained a reputation which places it in the front ranks of curative agents. It has been in the market but about four years. It is now recommended by the best physicians because it cures every time. Price 35 cts.

Armed to the Teeth,

Is a very common expression, but we think armed to embellish and preserve them to a ripe old age is decidedly more beneficial and appropriate—this can only be done by the fragrant "Sozodont." For cleansing, beautifying and preserving the teeth, sweetening and purifying the breath, it has no equal.

Spalding's Glue is up to the sticking point.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawu12'77

HUTCHINSON and CONNELL'S.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the ninteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, specially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,

"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"

by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.

To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this latest and highest writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.

2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of

by P. of. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its people from personal observation.

3. A series of popular papers on

by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.

4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled

PICTURES FROM SPAIN,

by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.

5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant

PAPERS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,

THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,

will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

7. During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

JOTTINGS.

Rev. Mr. DeNormandie's third lecture this evening. Free.

The adjourned meeting of the Portsmouth Music Society, for election of officers and other business, will be held at Mercantile Hall, Congress Street, this (Thursday) evening, at half-past 7 o'clock. Members of the old Philharmonic Society are also invited.

We shall be be treated to the lecture of the season to-morrow (Friday) evening in Franklin Hall, by Wendell Phillips, the acknowledged orator of the age. Whatever he talks about, we are sure of a choice entertainment. Tickets 35 cents; no extra charge for reserved seats — secured at Preston's.

At the Brokers' Board in Boston, Wednesday, one hundred and fifty shares of Eastern Railroad stock sold at $3.50 to $3.75 per share. At this rate a chromo will soon have to be given away with each share to induce people to take one gratis.

PRESENTATION.

On Tuesday evening the Portsmouth Heavy Artillery received from the Second Corps of Salem Cadets two large and very handsome companion pictures, "Before the Battle" and "After the Battle," the following letter accompanying the gift:

HEADQUARTERS SECOND CORPS OF CADETS, SALEM, December 9, 1876.

Capt. Frank Williams, Cond'g Portsmouth Heavy Artillery.—Dear Sir:—The members of the Second Corps of Cadets, M. V. M., remembering the great enjoyment of their visit to your city last October, and the many and liberal courtesies received at your hands and those of your gallant command, desire to place on record some testimonial of your kindness to them and their appreciation of the same, and they request that you will accept for your company the accompanying gift, and with it their hearty thanks and their cordial wishes for your continued prosperity as individuals and as a company. For the Corps. Your Obedient Servant,

A. PARKER BROWNE, Col.

THE FAIR.

The Fair of the Methodist society at Franklin Hall will close this evening.

There was a dramatic performance on Tuesday (the opening) evening, "Bombastes Furioso" being given, and a pantomime. The attendance was only fair, but all present were well entertained.

The baby show took place Wednesday afternoon, and attracted a large and deeply interested crowd. The entries were as follows:

Stewart Vaughan, 4 months, son of Horace G. Vaughan.

Carrie Goodwin, 4 months, daughter of Charles F. Goodwin.

Harry Snow, ten weeks, son of William Snow.

Eva Wallace, 4 months, daughter of Charles H. Wallace.

Robert B. Adams, Jr., 10 months, son of Robert B. Adams.

William Stott Mitchell, 4 months and 10 days, son of Wm. Mitchell.

Holmes Archibald, 4 months, son of Robert Archibald.

Louis Franklin Winn, 14 months, son of Benj. W. Winn.

John Goodwin Sweetser, 22 months, son of John P. Sweetser.

Bertrand Trefethen, 11 months and 15 days, son of Daniel Trefethen.

Harry Wendell, 1 year and 1 month, son of Charles A. Wendell.

Albert Gilson, 20 months, son of Nathan Gilson.

Nellie M. Lang, 19 months, daughter of Alfred M. Lang.

Harry Lovering Dame, 14 months, son of John W. Dame.

Annie M. Jones, 3 years, son of Dr. D. W. Jones.

Fred J. Allen, 3 years, son of William H. Allen.

Maria Wentworth Ayers, 2 years and 2 months, daughter of Albert V. Ayers.

The prizes offered were a five-dollar gold piece for the heaviest babe under six months old; silver cup for the handsomest babe under two years; silver cup for most robust babe under two years; silver knife, fork and spoon for handsomest babe between two and three years.

Nellie May Lang was awarded the prize as being the handsomest babe under two years, receiving 74 votes.

The first vote on the healthiest and most robust child resulted in a tie, R. B. Adams, Jr., and John Goodwin Sweetser each having 23 votes; on the second ballot Master Adams won.

Master Stewart Vaughan proved to be the heaviest baby under six months; weight, 22 lbs.; age 4 mos., 2 days.

The weights of some of the other heavy babies were as follows: Harry Snow, 16 lbs., 3 oz.; Eva Wallace, 20 lbs., 4 oz.; Herbert Whitehouse, 19 lbs., 1 oz.; William S. Mitchell, 16 lbs., 14 oz.; Holmes Archibald, 18 lbs., 9 oz.

Master Freddie J. Allen, son of William H. Allen, was adjudged the handsomest child between two and three years. Age 3 years.

Wednesday evening charades, tableaux, etc., entertained the audience. The hall was tastefully decorated with flags and streamers.

A handsome book will be presented to the handsomest man, and a wood-horse and saw to the "homeliest" one, this evening.

The Constitutional Convention.

In the Constitutional Convention, Wednesday, the Committee on Finance was appointed, as follows: Messrs. Kimball of Concord, Stuross of Sunapee, and Hatch of Keene. In Committee of the Whole on the Legislative Department, several propositions for new constitution of the Senate were made. After long discussion it was voted that the Senate should consist of 24 members, to be elected from 24 districts, once in two years.

A proposition that senatorial districts should not be changed oftener than once in five years was rejected. Pending a motion to constitute districts on the basis of population instead of valuation the Convention adjourned.

News and Notes.

Newburyport chose Hon. Geo. W. Jackman, Jr., for Mayor on Tuesday over Geo. J. L. Colby, Esq., temperance candidate, by a vote of 1046 to 811. Mr. Jackman was run on the license ticket. The city council is republican.

Mayor Stott, republican, has been reelected in Lowell, receiving 116 majority.

Worcester has chosen a democratic Mayor, Pratt, by 279 majority.

Gen. Henry K. Oliver, republican, is elected Mayor of Salem, Mass., by 196 majority over Hon. Henry L. Williams.

For Mayor of Boston, Hon. Frederick O. Prince, democrat, had 16,589, Bradlee, citizen, 13,967, Scattering 323. Prince's majority 2299. The democrats have nine of the twelve aldermen. The council will consist of 38 republicans and 34 democrats.

William Shaw, son-in-law of Simeon Smith, the South Weymouth, Mass., farmer who was shot near his own door last week, is under arrest on suspicion that he is the murderer. Shaw, who is of a rather disreputable family, had been for some years courting Smith's young daughter, but Smith vehemently opposed his advances. Notwithstanding this the young couple were clandestinely married last April. The evidence that Shaw murdered the old man is said to be strong.

Brig Vista sailed from Yarmouth, N. S., Saturday, and that night two sailors and the captain were washed overboard by a sea. A man and his two sons were drowned while on the way from Chester to Lunenburg in a boat. Schooner Plan sunk in Chester river on Saturday, and the captain and four men were drowned by the capsizing of a boat in which they were trying to get ashore.

A special session of the Senate, to begin on the 4th or 5th of March, will be called by President Grant before his term expires, to confirm President Hayes' Cabinet and other appointments. The new Executive, with the support of that body, will take immediate possession of the Government in all its branches. If the democratic House refuses to make appropriations during the present session, an extra session of the new Congress will be called. It will not be assembled, however, as many suppose, immediately after the 4th of March. Some date after the New Hampshire election will be fixed upon. The appropriations will unquestionably be made before the end of the fiscal year.

For Mayor of Keene, Farrar, republican, has 668 votes, Kimball, democrat, 431. Republican majority 237. The republicans hold four of the five wards.

Dale Brothers' shingle, grist and cider mill at Chester, caught fire on Sunday from a stove used to prevent the apples and cider from freezing, and is a total loss. It was nearly half burned down before the fire was discovered, owing to the high wind blowing at the time. Some 300 bushels of corn was damaged. Loss $3000; no insurance.

A body, supposed to be that of the lost aeronaut, Donaldson, was found on Wednesday, November 22, by some hunters, near Greenville, Michigan. The clothing was so much decomposed as to render it difficulty to ascertain its original color.

A Cincinnati special to the New York Herald says a friend of Gov. Hayes stated last evening that Mr. Hayes is satisfied from letters he is daily receiving from Southern democrats that they are willing and anxious to assist him in his efforts to restore peace and harmony in the South, and they will co-operate with him.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hour of prosperity settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are above comparmiter or argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is also correspondingly brilliant and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—Mrs. Marian Evans Lewes, best known to the world under the nom de plume, George Eliot, is the wife of Mr. George Henry Lewes, the celebrated English reviewer and philosopher. Previous to marrying her, Mr. Lewes was married to a Jewish lady, which connection proving unhappy he obtained from the English courts what is known as a separation from bed and board—but not a final divorce, which would admit of his legally forming another matrimonial connection in England. It was laboring under this disability that he married Miss Evans in Switzerland, and when the couple returned to England, the friends of both, refused to recognize the marriage. But a few years ago the first Mrs. Lewes dying, the second marriage was solemnly recognized in Eugand.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied on a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a penny.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will be given on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Oliphant. Bronson Howard's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mr. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Stone Engraving," "A Cotton Factory," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Food Lane, Sheffield," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hi-penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated article will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place whilst the latest product of the fashionable humorist will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Wendell.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, brighter and stronger, more useful and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a part of it froze up last winter, we can't see any injury done. LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this unrivalled (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it alone is a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter for a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, R. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jean Ingelow, Mrs. Molesworth, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, philosophy, philology, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount and kind of reading offered to those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers can do it with the new offer, viz.: to any new subscriber, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the period to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

DR. QUAIN'S
CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 29, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of their aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; as I seldom am troubled with my old complaint, I have been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be heard of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheuma ic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What more can I say? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am taking a big story I am. But remember I can not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get temporary relief. I have spent many hundred dollars in medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for weeks at a time, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians prescribed me to go to the west and use stimulants that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of H. H. Mills, I heard my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that I will be well in a few days. I recommend everybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Laura Jane Mitchell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N.H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the second I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Mary Canaki is the inventor, agent and adeciture of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative it could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing ing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE
OF
THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Science, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1876.

The Constitutional Convention.

There is quite an effort being made in the Constitutional Convention to pass an amendment for reducing the House of Representatives, which now consists of almost four hundred members. Hon. N. G. Ordway of Warner would accomplish this by amending sections nine and ten of the Constitution, which fix the basis of representation, by raising the number of ratable polls required for the first Representative from 150 to 200, and also increasing the number required for each additional member from 300 to 500. The roll of Representatives for 1875, which would be a fair test year, was divided politically among the counties as follows:

Counties.	Rep.	Dem.
Belknap	11	7
Carroll	3	19
Cheshire	21	11
Coos	9	13
Grafton	21	22
Hillsborough	33	40
Merrimack	25	24
Rockingham	29	20
Strafford	21	13
Sullivan	15	6
Total	188	182

A fair republican majority in the House averaging through a number of years would vary from 15 to 20.

Under Mr. Ordway's proposed amendment the result in the counties would be as below:

Counties.	Rep.	Dem.
Belknap	6	5
Carroll	2	9
Cheshire	13	8
Coos	5	7
Grafton	13	12
Hillsborough	25	17
Merrimack	18	11
Rockingham	22	18
Strafford	11	7
Sullivan	10	5
Total	125	102

In this plan there would be forty-two towns and one ward that would have less than 200 ratable polls, and they would have to be classed. Those places would be Centre Harlow in Belknap county, Albany, Brookfield, Chatham, Jackson and Madison in Carroll county, all having less than 600 ratable polls; Dublin, Nelson, Roxbury, Stoddard, Sullivan and Surrey in Cheshire county, also aggregating less than 600 ratable polls; Berlin, Carroll, Clarksville, Dummer, Errol, Pittsburg, Randolph, Shelburne and Stark in Coos county, having 730 polls; Benton, Bridgewater, Dorchester, Franconia, Groton, Hebron, Lyme, Monroe, Orange and Woodstock, in Grafton county, having 1140 polls; Bennington, Litchfield, (Ward 3) Nashua, and Sharon in Hillsboro' County, having 500 polls; Atkinson, Newington, Sandown and South Hampton in Rockingham county, having 286 polls; and Langdon in Sullivan county. These places now elect sixteen republicans and twenty-six democrats. In a classification they would probably choose twenty-one members, or seven republicans and fourteen democrats. These added to the last county lists would give 132 republicans and 122 democrats, or a total House of 254 members.

This is the most ingenious and fairest plan that we have yet seen for reducing the House of Representatives, and Mr. Ordway has prepared and perfected it with much care and study.

The Concord correspondent of the Boston Globe says the great problem before the Convention seems to be to reduce the number of Representatives in the House without obliging any town or city to give up any of the number of members now allowed. He says: "While all admit that a reduction is imperatively demanded, none of the towns or cities seem willing to submit to the reduction of the number of their Representatives. They want a reduction of the House without a reduction of the number of their members."

Mr. Jackson of Manchester wanted the Illinois plan of minority representation incorporated into the organic law of the State. Mr. Harry Bingham ably supported the proposition. He said that he regarded this as one of the most important matters to come before the Convention. It gave the minority, he said, a representation, and the inevitable tendency is to give better legislation on both sides. It was evident that the majority regarded the proposition as a new fangled notion, so they voted to stand by the old way which has stood the test of eighty years, and rejected the proposition on a yea and nay vote, by 95 yeas to 216 nays.

A final adjournment will probably be reached this week.

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.

The first week of the session is past, and so far as the democratic policy has been developed in the House it is to be directed to still further complicating the matter of President Grant's successor. Now that Governor Hayes has been formerly declared as having a majority of all the electoral votes, further efforts to purchase an elector out and out, as is reported from South Carolina and Louisiana, or to accomplish the same end by the infamous mode suggested by the New York Nation, must be abandoned; and any other desperate measures deemed necessary to foist Tilden upon an unwilling people must be entrusted to his abettors in the House and Senate.

Conformably with the necessities of the situation, the proposition of General Banks before the organization of the House was completed, to admit the Representative from Colorado that he might participate in the election of Speaker, was promptly rejected, and notification was given by several democratic members that Colorado's recognition as a State would be stubbornly contested. After Mr. Randall's maiden speech as Speaker had been made, in which he promised his hearers a patriotic and impartial presiding officer, who would not regard the President's sins of omission or commission with the least degree of allowance, he made a ruling so notoriously partisan and so contrary to the rules of the House and all precedent, that his own supporters were amazed. But it apparently secured the success of the proposition to at once appoint committees to visit South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana to enquire into the methods of the late election. By an amendment of the record which he permitted to be made on the next morning, this party measure was only saved by his own vote.

The President's annual message was quietly received the same day; but his special message transmitting the evidence taken before the Returning Board of Louisiana brought the apologists of the bulldozers to the front, Fernando Wood appearing especially shocked at the President's temerity in thus bringing before the public the sickening details of the murders and other outrages visited upon the republicans of that hapless State. It was noticeable however, that only those members who are ready to endorse anything and everything originating with democrats, came up to the defense of the cutthroats who have shocked the world by their terrible atrocities, committed in the interests of the democratic party. This action of the President has given tone and direction to about every move of special importance in the House since its reception, and has forced its way into the several caucus consultations, subduing and saddening the reflections of the more thoughtful and exasperating the hotspurs and the unadulterated Bourbons of the party to a point far beyond prudence or a regard for their reputations.

The Senate, after its quiet organization, adjourned with no incident of particular interest to mark the first day's proceedings. Since the reception of the message and accompanying documents, which proved such a fire-brand in the House, its time has been largely consumed in discussing the frightful practices of the late campaign in the South. A feeling akin to pity is awakened by the terrible position in which the intelligent democratic Senator finds himself placed, by these revelations of his Southern political associates' bloody crimes. He is filled with an abhorrence that he vainly strives to conceal, while he deprecatingly suggests that the picture is overdrawn; that while there may have been — probably has been some disorder, and partisans may to some extent have allowed their party zeal to overcome their humanity, yet there is every reason to believe that the reports have been grossly exaggerated. They protest that they cannot believe it, from very shame. What else can they do? There is the bloody record right before their eyes. The whole civilized world has read it and is now intently regarding them with mixed sentiments — partly aversion, partly commiseration and partly reproach. Is it any wonder then, that their defense of those butchers has been half-hearted, and wholly lacking in spirit? But the matter is before the country and cannot be hushed up nor winked out of sight. "Bloody shirt" will not prove a satisfactory response to a history like that of the Pinkstons, hereafter.

Mr. Hewitt is not likely to announce that his last interview with the President was "satisfactory." Indeed it must have been quite the contrary; for the President, probably smarting from a sense of the injustice done him in the dispatches sent away from this city after Hewitt's first audience, representing him as almost a convert to democracy, took occasion to express his views in a style so vigorous as left no doubt in the minds of either Mr. Hewitt or Mr. Randolph as to his opinion of bull-dozers and other democratic products of that nature. They were informed that the troops would not be withdrawn from Columbia, until advised by competent authority that it was safe to do so, notwithstanding Wade Hampton's rather peremptory request which they came to urge.

As the electoral votes have been cast, the sensational report about a republican Judas Iscariot among the Massachusetts electors needs no contradiction; and I am positive that not one of your readers needs the assurance from any quarter that the democratic effort of a few days days ago to make General Hayes out a democrat and in sympathy with that party, was as false as its originator.

The feeling among the hundreds of visitors here from every section of the country is one of peace and good will; and the positive refusal of Southern democratic members of Congress to be used by their Northern associates in stirring up the embers of civil war, has had an excellent effect. The spectacle of Ben Hill reproving Fernando Wood for his turbulent and revolutionary harangues is one of the refreshing incidents of the present week. "Society" is hardly organized, but is preparing to outshine all previous efforts. MAXWELL.

Proclamations.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 13.

To the People of the United States:

The National Democratic Committee announces as the result of the Presidential election held on the 7th day of November the election of Samuel J. Tilden of New York as President and Thomas A. Hendricks of Indiana as Vice-President of the United States. We congratulate you on this victory for reform. It only now remains for the two Houses of Congress, in the performance of their duty on the second Wednesday in February, to act so as to give effect to the will of the people thus expressed, in the constitutional mode, by a majority of the electoral votes and confirmed by a majority of all the States, as well as by an overwhelming majority of all the people of the United States.

By order of the Executive Committee,

ABRAM S. HEWITT, Chairman.
FREDERICK O. PRINCE, Secretary.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 13.

An address has to-night been issued by the Democratic Committee. It is the last desperate attempt to prop a falling cause. Gov. Hayes has been fairly elected by a clear majority of the electoral votes. There is no indication that any right-minded citizen has a doubt as to the result. The address of the Democratic Committee is an impudent and audacious attempt to prejudice and prevent the public judgment. Hayes and Wheeler are elected and the will of the American people will be carried out and maintained. Z. CHANDLER,
Chairman of the Republican National Committee.

Congress.

The House on Wednesday passed Bland's silver bill by a vote of 167 to 53. Hewitt, Kasson, and Garfield opposed it, and Kelley supported it. It has not a ghost of a chance in the Senate. Thirty-three of the 53 votes against it came from New England, the Massachusetts delegation voting solid in opposition to it. The bill provides "That there shall be from time to time coined at the mints of the United States silver dollars, of the weight of four hundred and twelve and one-half grains standard silver to the dollar, provided for in the act of January, 1838, and that said dollar shall be a legal tender for all debts, public and private, excepting payment of duties, and payment of the national debt, gold coin being required for this."

The Senate debated the resolution providing for the counting of the electoral vote by the Supreme Court, and finally defeated it by a vote of 31 to 14.

Election Notes.

Twenty-one States voted for HAYES and seventeen for Tilden. These States would have chosen by districts 149 republican Electors and 144 democratic, and 42 republican Electors at large and 34 democratic—making a total of 191 republicans and 178 democrats. The emancipation act increased the Electoral vote of the South 23, the republicans as it proved getting the benefit of four votes and the democrats 19. Had the rate of representation been the same as before the war, when the slaves of the South had but a three-fifths representation, Hayes would have had 181 votes instead of 185, and Tilden 165 instead of 184. The recent elections shows that State Sovereignty benefitted the party which had the least sympathy for it.

The New York Post concludes an article on the subject of the Presidential election as follows: "We do not believe that there is any reasonable doubt that one hundred and eighty-five votes—a majority of the Electoral College—will be counted for Governer Hayes, and that he will be declared to be President and inaugurated as President. There are signs that influential democrats are making up their minds to this result. Among these signs is the course of the most eminent democratic Senators in declaring that the twenty-second rule is not in force—the rule under which it was expected by democrats who are far less eminent that the legal result of the election would be avoided and a sentimental settlement would be effected. Their contemplated settlement would be revolutionary as well as sentimental. The country demands a legal settlement, and we suspect that before the middle of February the democrats in the House of Representatives will agree with the country."

The rifle-club House of Representatives of South Carolina has decided that Wade Hampton shall be governor, even if he wasn't elected by the voters of the State. The rifle-clubs proposed to inaugurate him on Thursday, and threatened serious trouble if their programme was interfered with.

The Louisiana Returning Board refuse to testify before the democratic Congressional committee sent to Louisiana in Tilden's interests, and claim that Congress has no power to over-ride the law of the State, which is in conflict with the demands of the democratic committee. This application of "State Sovereignty" principles will doubtless be warmly endorsed by Tilden and other extreme State Rights men.

The publication of the minutes of the Florida Board of Canvassers shows that the Board was unanimous in its action in many of the precincts. This fact, in connection with the discovery that Attorney-General Cocke filed no protest against the action of the Board, as he was reported to have done, will take Florida finally out of the list of disputed States. Now it has come down to a list of one.

The democratic statesmen who tried to lead the President gently by the nose are about in the same fix as the bewildered gentleman who got hold of the wrong end of the mule.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

HUTCHINSON and CONNELL'S.

Lippincott's Magazine.

AN ILLUSTRATED MONTHLY OF POPULAR LITERATURE, SCIENCE, and ART.

Announcement for 1877.

The number for January begins the nineteenth volume of this Magazine, and while its past record will, it is hoped, be deemed a sufficient guarantee of future excellence, no efforts will be spared to diversify its attractions and to provide an increased supply of Popular Reading in the Best and Most Emphatic Sense. The great object and constant aim of the conductors will be to furnish the public with Literary Entertainment of a Refined and Varied Character, as well as to present in a graphic and striking manner the most recent information and soundest views on subjects of General Interest; in a word, to render LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE strikingly distinctive in those features that are most attractive in Magazine Literature. The contributions now on hand, or specially engaged, embrace a highly attractive list of Tales, Short Stories, Descriptive Sketches, Narratives, Papers on Science and Art, Poems, Popular Essays, Literary Criticisms, etc., etc., by talented and well known writers. A large proportion of the articles, specially those descriptive of travel, will be profusely and beautifully illustrated. The pictorial embellishments of the Magazine constitute one of its many attractive features.

In addition to the general attractions of LIPPINCOTT'S MAGAZINE, the Publishers would invite attention to the following

SPECIAL FEATURES FOR 1877.

1. A new serial story,
"THE MARQUIS OF LOSSIE,"
by George Macdonald, author of "Malcolm," "Alec Forbes," "Robert Falconer," etc.
To those of our readers who are familiar with "Malcolm," this new story from the pen of this delightful writer will need no recommendation, and his reputation is a guarantee to others of a deeply interesting and powerful story. It began in the November number, which issue, with the December part, will be furnished gratis to all new subscribers for 1877.
2. A profusely illustrated series of sketches of
SWEDISH SCENERY AND LIFE,
by P. of. Willard Fiske, of Cornell University, who is thoroughly familiar with Sweden and its people from personal observation.
3. A series of popular papers on
ART AND ART MATTERS,
by Edward Strahan (Earl Shinn), author of "The New Hyperion," etc.
4. Illustrated Sketches of Travel, entitled
PICTURES FROM SPAIN,
by Edward King, author of "The Great South," etc.
5. Mrs. Lucy H. Hooper's Interesting and Piquant
PARIS AND LETTERS FROM PARIS,
will be continued through the year.
6. THE BEAUTIES OF THE RHINE,
will be described in a richly illustrated series of papers.

During the year will appear a number of handsomely illustrated short articles, descriptive of Life, Travel and Adventure in the United States, England, South America, Japan, Mongolia, and other countries.

JOTTINGS.

This evening at Franklin Hall, Wendell Phillips will talk on "The Political Situation." Mr. Phillips could not make an uninteresting talk if he tried, no matter what his subject, and 35 cents will secure a seat for this evening. Tickets at Preston's.

Isaiah Wilson, at No. 37 Congress street, has a full line of skates of all kinds, from cheap ones up to the highest-priced, for ladies or gentlemen. Also cutlery and general hardware in great variety. See advertisement.

We have received from Noyes, Snow & Company, No. 47 Main street, Worcester, Mass., publishers of games and home amusements, a new game entitled "Game of '76, or the Lion & Eagle," intended for the instruction and amusement of both old and young, during the long winter evenings. The game will be sent to any address, postage paid by the publishers, upon the receipt of fifty cents.

Roberts Brothers have issued another volume in the celebrated "No Name Series," entitled "Is That All?" which can but increase the interest with which the initial volume of this new series was received. The binding of black, with bars of red and ornaments of four-leaved clover and horseshoes gives the "No Name Series" a unique appearance. "Is That All" is a worthy successor to "Mercy Philbrick's Choice."

Of "Pique," which Chapman's Fifth Avenue Theatre Company will play at the Temple next Tuesday evening, the Manchester Union of the 13th says: "The presentation of this, the most popular of Augustin Daly's plays, by Chapman's Fifth Avenue Company at Smyth's Hall last evening drew together, despite the stormy weather, a large and appreciative audience. The company is a new one to this city, and it is greatly to be wondered at that it met with such a cordial greeting on its first appearance here, for Manchester amusement-seekers are very loath to give their patronage to any entertainment, the merits of which they are not fully cognizant of; but we have no hesitancy in saying that all who witnessed the production of 'Pique' last night went to their homes amply repaid for venturing out in the snow and wind, and agreeably surprised at the successful manner in which the play was acted and put upon the stage. It is rarely that a play is produced here with such good effect. The costumes, scenery, etc., were in advance of what is generally seen in this city."

The Mechanics' Association have, in response to a petition from the occupants of the stores in their building on Congress street for a reduction of rent, voted to reduce the rent fifteen per cent.

It will be remembered that on the 26th of August last the daughter of Mr. Charles H. Sides had her arm broken and received other injuries by being thrown from a carriage while crossing the Eastern Railroad track on Elm street. Mr. Sides has now commenced a suit against the city claiming $3000 damages, alleging a defective highway as the cause of the accident.

The Concord Railroad, on the 13th, made another reduction in the wages of their help, from eight to fifteen per cent. On Monday several engineers will go back to the position of firemen and a number of firemen will go back to cleaning, while the present cleaners will be discharged.

The democratic State committee held a meeting at Concord on the evening of the 13th, and resolved that "Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas A. Hendricks have been duly elected to the offices of President and Vice President of the United States," and "no intelligent person of any political party doubts it!" That's putting the question about the way Mose did it when he was presiding over the engine company meeting by virtue of his office as foreman. Said a member, "I move, by thunder, that der masheen be painted red." "Second that motion, by lightnin'," said another. "Fellers," said Mose, "it's moved by thunder, and seconded by lightnin', that der masheen be painted red. All in favor will say 'aye.' [General chorus in the affirmative.] Those opposed to the motion may go to h—l." [Not an opposing vote.]

No extra charge for reserved seats at Wendell Phillips' lecture this evening. Mr. Phillips' position at the head of the list of modern orators is unquestioned, and Franklin Hall should be filled to-night.

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, December 14th.

Edward Tobin was brought up for drunkenness. Tobin had been let off two days previously with a warning from the Court, to which he responded, "It'll be a long day before you see me here again, your honor." He probably thought he was keeping at least the letter of his promise by remaining sober for forty-eight hours, which would really be a "long day." Fined $5, costs $7.02. Brentwood.

—The candidate who emptied his barrel on elections says he got very poor returns for his money.

News and Notes.

James Ward, alias "Soakey," a seventeen-years-old boy of Salem, Mass., on Wednesday night fatally stabbed a Frenchman with whom he had been sparring in sport. The murderer was arrested.

Nine men were killed on the 12th by the explosion of a steam boiler in an Arkansas saw mill.

U. S. S. Kearsarge is watching the American barque O. C. Whitmore in Hong Kong harbor. The captain of the barque, Peabody, the first mate, Snow, and the second mate, Stafford, are charged with torturing to death Mr. Ellwood, a former mate of the vessel, and treating the crew with frightful barbarity, on the passage from Cardiff to Hong Kong; but owing to the hitch in extradition proceedings they cannot be arrested at Hong Kong (which is a British port) for their crimes. At an indignation meeting of citizens, a resolution was passed requesting the Governor of Hong Kong to telegraph for permission to surrender the accused to the United States authorities. It is supposed that if the Whitmore attempt to escape the Kearsarge will follow and secure her in some port where no difficulty will interfere.

Steamer Bristol had a rough time of it on Saturday night after her rudder chain broke. The accident occurred about 11 o'clock, and the chain parted directly over the boilers. It was repaired temporarily, but parted again four times. After it broke, the steering apparatus at the stern of the boat was resorted to, but the ropes soon broke. The boat drifted along, the officers and crew managing as well as they could to keep the boat right, occasionally backing the engine for that purpose. One of the paddle boxes was smashed in by the waves, and one of the boats broke loose from the davits and stove in the upper skylights. The colored waiters were pretty thoroughly frightened, as well as the passengers, and lost no time in availing themselves of the life-preservers. Finally, about eight o'clock Sunday morning new rigging was completed and attached to the steering apparatus at the stern, by means of which the boat was got into New London about nine o'clock, after having drifted about at the mercy of the wind and waves for about nine hours. The rudder chains were there repaired and the boat left in the afternoon, arriving here about half-past eight last evening.—Fall River News, 11th.

Barque Robert Kelly, of Boston, was in collision on the 12th with barque Huddersfield, of Liverpool, off Start Point. The latter vessel sunk, with fifteen of her crew. The Robert Kelly was abandoned that night, the crew landing next day; she registered 823 tons, and was insured for $45,000.

New Hampshire Items.

An adjourned meeting of the grantees of the Manchester and Ashburnham Railroad was held in the Common Council room at Manchester, on the 13th, ex-Governor E. A. Straw presiding. The following gentlemen were elected a Board of Directors: Samuel R. Payson, Edmond Dwight of Boston, Joseph Stone, Person C. Cheney, David Cross, Hiram K. Slayton of Manchester, John C. Palfrey of Boston. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Samuel R. Payson of Boston was chosen President, and David Cross, Clerk.

There will be a lively campaign in New Hampshire next March when the election for three Congressmen is to be held. The next Congress will be so close that neither party can afford to lose a member anywhere. The republicans should be on their guard against a "still hunt" which will be in progress before they know it.—Tribune.

W. C. Harriman, Esq., of Concord, oldest son of ex-Gov. Harriman, was admitted to the New Hampshire Bar, Wednesday, on motion of Hon. Asa Fowler, by the Supreme Court, now in session in that city. He will practice in Concord for the present.

A barn in Springfield, owned by Mr. Asa Chase, containing fifteen tons of hay, was totally destroyed by fire early on Monday evening. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a tramp smoking in the building, who has been arrested, and his case is now on examination. Loss partly covered by insurance.

Tuesday night as two sons of Alvaro Buttrick, of Lyndeborough, twelve and fourteen years old, were going home from their work at Geas' factory, at South Lyndeborough, they started to cross the gulf bridge on the Peterboro Railroad with hands joined, and when about half-way across were seen to slip and fall through to the river below, a distance of fifty-six feet. They were taken up insensible and carried home, where one died Wednesday morning. The other escaped so far as can be ascertained with a few flesh wounds.

It will cost seventy-five thousand dollars to investigate the Southern elections.

The Senate President, Ferry, denies that he had declared his intention to count as well as to open the electoral vote, and also declines to tell what power he thinks the President of the Senate has in the matter.

Gov. Hayes's popular vote in the twenty-one Northern States was 2,925,600. In 1872 the same States gave Gen. Grant 2,655,938 votes, showing a republican increase in 1876 over 1872 of 269,662.

Harper's Magazine.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its latter and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

Harper's Weekly.

ILLUSTRATED.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often conspicuous evidence of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is as a rule learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Daily Chronicle.

—In all policies of life insurance these, among a host of other questions, occur; "Age of father, if living?" "Age of mother, if living?" A man in the country who filled up an application made his father's age "if living" one hundred and twelve years, and his mother's one hundred and two. The agent was amazed at this and fancied he had secured an excellent customer; but feeling somewhat dubious, he remarked that the applicant came of a very long-lived family. "Oh, you see, sir," replied he, "my parents died many years ago, but, 'if living' would be aged as there put down." "Exactly—I understand," said the agent.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of
"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"
we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Gleanings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serious stories are announced:
by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.
The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

MENDUM, WHIDDEN & CO.,

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that tends to cultivate a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and scientific Progress of the world; it contains, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers; or Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not to be of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all Industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly Illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Sitting, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED Engravings. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS: In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a valuable work of 96 pages, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 182 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York. Branch Office: Cor. F & 7th Sts., Washington, D. C.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP! For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants. We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other med cine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when directly used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in Thousands of Cases. It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," Having the fac simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. Sold by Druggists throughout the world. dtf&w15

John Morrissey's Latest Swindle.

The action of John Morrissey in declaring bets off which were made on the general result of the Presidential election contrasts unfavorably, betting men think, with the conduct of the managers of Johnson's pool-rooms, and strengthens the well-founded suspicion that Morrissey has been using his gambling business as a political tool and that his political friends furnished the democratic money, if indeed the democratic bets were all bona fide, which is doubted. Morrissey arbitrarily took the matter into his own hands, declared the bets off, and has been pocketing a large commission, which by the established precedent of this unlawful business—for the law does not protect the persons who put up the stakes—ought not to be imposed and never is imposed by gambling rules in cases where no result is obtained. Johnson has somewhat mitigated the general swindle by calling a meeting of the ticket-holders in his auction election pools for this evening. He will take the position of being trustee for the whole mass of betting men who have patronized him, and will submit the question of declaring bets off to the meeting, and it is presumed will abide the decision of the majority.

A shrewd betting man in Johnson's rooms said yesterday that it was well known that Morrissey had run his pool-rooms with complete subserviency to the democratic politicians, and it was currently reported that Mr. Tilden had, mostly in New York and partially in the West, used a large sum of money to influence voters through public gambling. A prize-fighter is mentioned as the person who acted as the go-between for Tilden and Morrissey. It is believed, however, that a great many of the pretended democratic bets in the pool-rooms were mere fictions, and that republican money was put up against paper. If Tilden had been elected by a majority of one vote last Wednesday, it is believed that Morrissey would have declared that he would pay out the money on the Tilden ticket. Up to Friday he had maintained that he should wait if necessary to March 4 for a legal declaration of the result. It only took one day, after the meeting of the electoral colleges, which gave Hayes 185 votes, to convince Morrissey that the safer plan for himself and his democratic friends would be to have the bets declared off. His waiting till that time betrays the democratic hope that more than one Gov. Grover, or a corruptible elector, might be found. If Morrissey and his friends had any confidence in the Oregon fraud, it is believed that he would not have paid the money back.

One betting man yesterday strongly censured Morrissey's action in withholding the commission, which was odious to the small sense of decency that pervades gambling rooms. In his opinion, it was a kind of "Heads I win, tails you lose," business. If the election of Hayes should be conceded by Morrissey, his friends would be heavy losers. Morrissey was called a "square" gambler. He did not think this was "square." In his opinion it was a "skin game," which gamblers understood if the general public did not. He denied that Morrissey had a right to decide the question. It would break up, he thought, all pool selling on elections in this city, for which respectable citizens would be thankful. He considered pool-selling the worst and most unfair kind of gambling practiced in New York City.

It was said at Morrissey's pool rooms yesterday that most of the money in the pool-box had been paid out. At Tattersall's also the bets have been declared off, but if any objects there to the commission it is not withheld, the managers recognizing that they have no just claim to it.—N. Y. Tribune, 12th.

Reason for Church-going.

A new parson was presented to a living in a remote agricultural district, and, being a conscientious pastor, was anxious to make himself at home with his flock as soon as possible. He therefore began his pastoral calls at once. Among the first recipients of these attentions was a farmer Jones, whose family the new parson had noticed to be very regular and apparently very devout attendants at church. Farmer Jones was out, but his "missus" received the parson, when the following dialogue took place:

"I am your new rector, Mrs. Jones. I have noticed with great pleasure your regular attendance at church, and have lost as little time as possible, you see, in calling and improving your acquaintance."

"Yes, Sir; we're obliged to be regular at church, for if we didn't go, Farmer Smith claims that pew, and we're not goin' to give it up for the likes o' him. So my son Peter stands at the door half an hour before service begins to keep him out."

—"I've often seen men," said a veteran general, "who could stand a fire of shell or canister without showing any sign of uneasiness, but I never yet saw a man who could sit in a room where a bottle of soda was about to be opened without screwing up his eyes and looking nervous."

—It is said that the Lovejoy press, which was thrown into Mississippi by a pro-slavery mob in 1837, and which led to Wendell Phillips' first great speech, is now owned by Colonel Ranney, at Stuart, Iowa.

—Republican discovery—Rutherford B. Hayes.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 16, 1876.

The Constitutional Convention.

On Thursday the following State motto was recommended: "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

In Committee of the Whole the discussion of a plan to reduce the House by making 200 ratable polls necessary for a first Representative and changing the mean increasing number for additional Representatives from 300 to 500, occupied the rest of the forenoon.

The Convention in the afternoon, in Committee of the Whole, fixed the basis of representation in the House on population, by a large majority. After a long discussion of the several plans of apportionment presented, the whole subject of apportionment on the basis of population was referred to a Committee of one democrat and one republican from each county. This special Committee had a long session in the evening, and having discussed the four propositions before them, decided to report in favor of a proposition presented by Dr. Gallinger of Concord and amended by Mr. Lyford of Canterbury. The basis of representation will be the population of the town or ward. Six hundred persons will entitle the place to one Representative with one additional member for each 1200 population. The smaller towns will by this method be classed, or allowed to send Representatives different years pro rata to their population. The Committee were not decided which course would be preferable, but favored the idea of classing those towns that were contiguous and allowing those that were not well situated for classing to representation as their population should entitle them.

A Game of Bluff.

There are indications that one more attempt is going to be made by the democrats to scare the country into yielding to their demands. A cry for "Tilden or blood," evidently preconcerted, has broken out in the democratic press. The Cincinnati Enquirer led on a day or two ago, and now the Louisville Courier-Journal follows with a two-column article, ostensibly representing the attitude of the South. The main point is that the South will follow implicitly the lead of the Northern democrats; if they say surrender all, or surrender part, or fight for the whole, the South will squiesce. If it is decided to inaugurate Tilden by force of arms, the "South will respond with as much zeal as their brethren in the North," which seems to be a safe promise. On the question of the strength of the South the same paper says: "Here in Kentucky there are near 100,000 men trained to arms on either side of the late war, the greater part of whom would unite in a common cause that appealed to their patriotism and their sense of manhood. Those of us who, in the last war, fought for the continuance of the Union, know something of the spirit of the Southern people and the soldierly qualities of their men. There are in the South hundreds of thousands of these surviving veterans. If the time should come when the democrats of the North say that the right can be maintained only by meeting force with force, only by an appeal to the last resort of freemen, they will find that these Southern men, who, with such fearful odds against them, held out for four terrible years against the mighty power of the Northern people, can and will, with the same patience, fortitude, and valor, fight with them for the preservation of constitutional government and the majesty of the voice of the people."

Per contra, the old fire-eaters of the South are very cool and calm over the matter. Mr. Lamar states that he anticipates no serious trouble from the Presidential complication. He is confident that some amicable and equitable adjustment will be secured. Ben Hill was asked Friday what course he intended to pursue regarding the counting of the electoral vote. He replied; "I shall stand by the forms of procedure in counting the electoral vote, and I shall not be a party to any revolutionary or violent measures."

Simultaneously with the demonstration by the democratic National committee, the Indiana democrats meet to debate on the situation and reports from different districts declare an existing determination to inaugurate Tilden at any cost. A similar, but less blustering movement, was also made in Concord, New Hampshire, when the State Central Committee passed resolutions, one of which declared that all citizens without distinction of party should unite in the determination that Tilden and Hendricks must be installed in office. This concerted demonstration of the democrats is not unexpected. It has been foreshadowed in Washington correspondence. It is undoubtedly a scheme concocted by Mr. Tilden in New York, and while it will serve to keep up the spirit and interest of the party, its main object is to frighten the business men of the North and bring their powerful influence to bear on Congress. Mr. Tilden has a far reaching vision. He is one of the few men who can see clear across the country. The unexpected mildness of the Southern democrats, as illustrated by the peaceful position of Ben Hill of Georgia, and for some days apparent among the representatives of that section in Washington, has evidently annoyed Mr. Tilden. He finds the South unwilling to serve as a cats-paw to pull his chestnuts out of the fire. They still remember their serious burns on a former occasion and they are not willing even to threaten. So Mr. Tilden deliberately proceeds to stir up the Northern democrats. It will not be surprising if more of these meetings are held before the second Wednesday in February.—Worcester Gazette.

News and Notes.

Since that favorite and standard first-class hotel of Boston, the American House, has reduced its rates to $3, $3.50 and $4 per day, Boston is not behind any other city in affording first class accommodations at reasonable rates.

The collapsed Security Life Insurance Co., of New York, has liabilities of $3,359,000, and assets of $397,000.

Steamer Homer sunk in the Red river, La., Thursday, and ten deck passengers were drowned.

Four masked men robbed a bank at Somerset, Ohio, of $10,200, Wednesday night.

The American Express Company had a special car on the train which was burned near Dale station, about forty miles from Buffalo, Sunday morning. The car was burned and it was impossible to save any of the contents. The remnants of the money and valuables, amounting to $1,000,000, contained in two safes belonging to the express company were immediately shipped by the Adams Express company to the Treasury Department.

German barque Emma & Carl, from New York for Stettin, was capsized in a hurricane off the Orkney islands, and eight of the crew perished. Four men were saved.

Giovanni Giovanichi, the Italian who murdered a countryman named Avignone in Boston last July, has been found guilty of murder in the second degree. This consigns him to State Prison for life.

Schooner Wm. G. Shattuck, Captain Thatcher, which cleared at Boston November 11, for Port Royal, S. C., was abandoned in the Gulf Stream. All hands were saved. She was built at East Boston in 1874, registered 357 tons, and was owned by Hon. Nehemiah Gibson. It will be remembered by nautical readers that this vessel was constructed upon a peculiar model, and while in process of building she excited considerable attention. She was built without a frame, the hull being laid up in sections and bolted together. She had a long, sharp bow, with a raking stem.

John Morrissey is severely criticised for declaring all bets off and pocketing the commission, the precedent being that no commission is retained where no result is obtained.

Fishing schooner Lancet, of Gloucester, was lost on George's on the 11th inst.; crew saved, excepting John McCarthy, who was drowned.

John Fean, who pleaded guilty of murder in the second degree in killing Daniel McCarthy by cutting his throat with a razor, in Boston last August, was on Thursday sentenced to State Prison for life.

The celebrated Mason & Hamlin Organ Company has received a single order from London, England, for 250 of their best organs, which are as favorably known in Europe as in America. Business is excellent at this establishment.

An eminent physician, Sir H. Thompson says: "I am quite satisfied that fermented liquor of any kind is unnecessary as an article of diet. For the few who require habitual alcoholic stimulants it can only be considered as medicine, and should therefore for them be so regarded." Dr. Thompson acknowledges the grateful effect of a glass of pure and good wine, but insists that all kinds of alcoholic drinks must be considered a luxury, not a necessity.

Some enemy of the human race has issued a "Song and chorus" on the Brooklyn theatre disaster.

The London News prints the following in an official form: "We understand that Her Majesty's Government, after a discussion with the United States minister, has accepted the American interpretation of the extradition treaty. It is hoped that, now the American interpretation of the treaty has been admitted, the United States will be willing to enter into a new treaty enlarging the scope of extradition." The News gives the following as the interpretation of the treaty accepted by England: That a prisoner surrendered for an offence may, after a fair trial for that offence, be at once arrested in the country to which he had been delivered up and put on his trial for any other crime for which he would be liable to extradition under the treaty. The same paper confirms the report that Winslow got an inkling of what was going on and escaped. The News, editorially, rejoices that the English Government has seen this mistake on the extradition question, and had the courage and candor to acknowledge it.

The water is so low in the Merrimack river at Manchester that some of the mills are occasionally compelled to suspend. Great embarrassment is anticipated before the spring opens. The city's water supply is also in peril.

The Cocheco Manufacturing Company of Dover have begun to run all their mills on short time owing to the scarcity of water, except No. 5, which is run by steam.

A strong effort will soon be made to secure the pardon of Thomas Weir, of Enfield, who was sent to the State Prison in 1863, under a sentence of 30 years, for killing Caleb M. Dyer, the head of the Enfield shakers.

The New York Tribune sends along word to the republicans of this State to be on the look-out for a democratic still hunt for those three New Hampshire Congressmen next March. If the republicans of New York were half as good huntsmen as the republicans of this State, the country would not now be regretting that a democratic still-hunt has captured New York for three successive campaigns.—Nashua Telegraph.

The house and livery stable of J. B. Valentine of Enfield were destroyed by fire Friday morning. Loss $2500; insured $1500.

The Senate has confirmed C. Field as postmaster at Hanover, S. F. Brown as postmaster at Fisherville, and W. Nourse as postmaster at Newport.

Joseph Geshee, a half breed Indian from Oldtown, Me., was arrested at Keene on Wednesday for an outrage on Mrs. Joseph Burdick of Chester, Vt., on the 26th of November. His two accomplices, Pickett and Sullivan, were arrested immediately after the commission of the crime, but Geshee has been living in seclusion in Marlboro', and has until now escaped detection.

As the editor of this paper was away and "off duty" when the letter of Hon. Charles S. Whitehouse was received, declining the republican nomination for Congress, the letter went to press without comment from us. We now take the opportunity to say that in a political point of view we are glad he has travelled out of the field, because it is our firm conviction that he has more elements of real strength before the people than any other man of his party in the District. He is comparatively a young man, and his energy as a political manager is of that exceedingly vigorous and persistent character which gives him an advantage possessed by no other republican that we know of.—Dover Democrat.

Election Notes.

While the Hampton Assembly and Moses Court are denying that Chamberlain is Governor of South Carolina, the democrats all over the State, who were elected as sheriffs, county clerks, coroners, etc., are daily sending in their commissions to be signed by Governor Chamberlain.

Wade Hampton was inaugurated Governor of South Carolina on Thursday, by the rifle clubs. There was no disturbance, the legal government of the State not interfering with the amusement of the revolutionists.

Small Means.

The power of money is on the whole over-estimated. The greatest things which were done for the world have not been accomplished by rich men, or by subscription lists, but by men generally of small pecuniary means. The greatest thinkers, discoverers, inventors and artists have been men of moderate wealth, many of them little raised above the condition of manual laborers, in point of worldly circumstances. And it will always be so. Riches are oftener an impediment than a stimulus to action; and, in many cases, they are quite as much a misfortune as a blessing. The youth who inherits wealth is apt to have life made easy for him, and so he soon grows sated with it, because he has nothing left to desire. Having no special object to struggle for, he finds time heavy on his hands; remains mentally and morally asleep; and his position in society is often no higher than that of a polypus over which the tide floats.

PULMOCINE.

—A farmer set a steel trap for a fox which had been stealing his poultry, and for fourteen consecutive nights found the trap sprung, with a stick of wood between its jaws; there were no tracks about the trap but those of the fox, and the circumstance puzzled him sorely. But on the fifteenth night, he found a fine old fox hung to it by the nose, and in his mouth was a stick of wood!

—Two Chinamen were arrested last week in Hartford for assault on each other. They were held until Friday morning and discharged, as it was impossible to understand them or make them to understand English. One said: "We all like Mellican man, shortee hair, dressee, bootee, get drunkee, make noisee, much fun."

—The Pilgrim fathers had no brass band when they landed.

A Prime Remedy for a Painful Disease.

The pangs endured by the rheumatic are attributed by scientific path logists to the contact of a certain abnormal acrid element in the blood with the sensitive covering of the muscles and joints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, being a superb blood depurent, is admirably calculated to expel this impurity, and by removing the cause to allay the pain and feverish symptoms which it produces. That it is a most successful remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and gout, as well as a reliable means of counteracting those diseases, is a fact amply evidenced by voluntary certificates emanating from those whom it has cured, and attested by medical practitioners of high repute. It is likewise a sovereign curative of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, urinary troubles and general debility, as well as the most popular and successful antidote to malaria extant.

The Grand Central Hotel, the largest in New York, has made another innovation, and "tumbled" its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

SUCH IS THE PURIFYING, HEALING OPERATION OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP, that formidable abscesses and purulent ulcers, as well as the most obstinate skin diseases, are cured by it. It expels proud flesh and is highly anti-putrescent.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam has gained a reputation which places it in the front ranks of curative agents. It has been in the market out about four years. It is now recommended by the best physicians because it cures every time. Price 35 cts.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawf127

BURGLARY.

The cottage near Hotel Wentworth, at Newcastle, was entered recently (it is presumed about three weeks since) and thoroughly plundered. Besides about thirty bottles of wine belonging to Mr. Chace, all the bed clothing, carpets, table cutlery, crockery and glass ware, books (among them two folio volumes of a French weekly, bound), wearing apparel, curtains, etc., and a large American ensign, were carried off. Some of the stolen articles are bulky, and other persons beside the thief or thieves must know more about where the goods are than does the lawful owner; and any person possessing such knowledge can earn twenty-five dollars by imparting to the City Marshal so much of it as will lead to the detection of the thieves and the recovery of the property.

JOTTINGS.

The Temperance Reform Club will hold its weekly meeting at the Temple to-morrow (Sunday) evening. Capt. Cyrus Sturdivant of Portland, an old weather-beaten reformed sea-captain, will address the meeting and in his homely and practical way will tell what temperance has done for him. His lecture or talk will be worth hearing. Admission only five cents.

Rev. Wm. DeLoss Love, D. D., of Saginaw City, Mich., will preach at the North Church to-morrow. Services morning and afternoon.

Subject at Bow Mission, tomorrow, "The Heart," continued.

Captain George Paul, a native of Kittery, Me., and shipbuilder by trade, died at his farm in Medway, Mass., Thursday evening. He was formerly a captain in the New Hampshire militia, from which he derived his title some twenty years ago.

The Convention of the several temperance organizations held last Saturday evening, was adjourned to meet this evening, when important matters will come up for action. It was unanimously voted at the last meeting to extend an invitation to every clergymen in the city to take seats in the Convention, and participate in its doings.

The Woman's Temperance League has appointed committees to seek out the destitute and needy among the families of reformed men, and render all assistance in their power. Persons having cast off clothing, or other useful articles, are invited to aid the members of the League in this work of Christian charity. Any article left with Mrs. B. F. Thorndike, No. 18 High street, (Dr. Perry's,) or with any member of the League, will be thankfully received.

We hear many complaints that the sidewalks are not kept clear of ice as the law directs shall be done, and that they are so slippery in many places as to be positively dangerous to pedestrians. This should not be so; good citizens will either put the ice off the sidewalks or put ashes on; and bad citizens, who will not do either of their own accord, should be looked after by the police.

Kearsarge Steam Fire Engine Company, No. Three, will give their annual ball on New Year's night.

Schooner Carrie L. Payson, (Pilot boat No. 2) of this port, has been sold to Edwin Roberts, of Chelsea, Mass., and Charles D. Thomas and others of Portland, Maine, and will be employed in winter fishing, sailing from Portland.

The Portsmouth Music Society met Thursday evening in Mercantile hall, and elected the following officers: President, Frank W. Miller; Vice President, Jerome C. Butler; Secretary, L. V. Newell; Treasurer, L. S. Butler; Musical Director, Amos Pearson; Pianist, Miss Alice Hanscom. It was voted to change the name of the society to the "Portsmouth Philharmonic Society."

The Fair closed Thursday evening. The stage performances were most entertaining, and drawing and voting for various articles created much interest. An elegant book of poems was voted to Mr. John S. Rand; and the wood horse and saw to Mr. D. Webster Barnabee, who turned it over to the society, when it was sold at auction. A half barrel of flour was voted to Mrs. Evans Ross. Two ring cakes made considerable excitement. Mrs. Robert B. Adams securing one ring and Master Charles Newton the other. Guessing on the length of a pole to which was attached a $2.50 gold piece, was a "draw" between Messrs. Peirce and McIntire, who presented it to the society. The guess cake went to Mrs. Stephen W. Clarke. Altogether the Fair was a success.

Ship Sagamore, of this port condemned at Callao in August, has been sold at San Francisco.

The schooner J. D. McCarthy, ashore on Salisbury beach, with 300 tons of Cumberland coal on board, was sold at public auction in Newburyport on Wednesday, the vessel for $315, to James Power & Co. of Boston, and the coal to S. Smith Colby of Salisbury, for $299. The vessel lies in an easy position and will probably be got off if the sea remains calm, but a northeast blow will be likely to scatter her and her cargo along the beach.

A course of Monday evening Lectures on "English Literature," by Mr. John Albee, is advertised to begin January 8. People possessing or seeking to acquire a literary taste will find a fund of enjoyment and instruction in these efforts of Mr. Albee, who has the reputation of being a gentleman of excellent discrimination and a scholar of much ability.

Several influential ladies and gentlemen have resolved to give a Christmas dinner to fifty or seventy-five of the poor children of our city. The intention is to have the poor families visited, and cards of invitation will be issued for those only who are homeless or not otherwise provided for. The dinner will be spread at the Faith Home, and Mr. Loyne will receive on Friday or Saturday, 22d and 23d, any food that may be given. The dinner will be given Saturday afternoon, 23d, at two o'clock, and it is also the plan to give each child a little illustrated book to remember the Christmas of 1876; several songs will be sung to the children. The Committee have appointed Dr. Goodall treasurer. All who are inclined to give any money to this worthy object, will please hand it to him. There will be no expenses for hall decorations, etc., but all the money will be used entirely for the purchase of books and food for this object, to give a merry Christmas to those who have nothing.—Journal.

SURPRISING.

A teacher and class of the Congregational Sabbath School made an unexpected call at Faith Home, Thursday evening, and left pies, sugar, tea, apples, etc., and a cash gift of $15 for Mrs. Loyne, all which were thankfully received by the beneficiaries.

Rev. John A. Goss, of the Court Street Christian Society, was surprised on Thursday evening by a visit from a goodly number of his congregation, with quite a large delegation of the Reform Club,—the presence of the latter being an agreeable surprise to the original surprisers. The evening was spent in pleasant social intercourse, and the visitors on retiring left behind substantial tokens of the regard in which the worthy pastor is held by them.

The Heavy Artillery, after their drill Thursday evening, marched to the residence of Second Lieut. Shirley B. Cunningham and presented him and his bride with a very handsome silver ice-pitcher and salver, Capt. Williams making the presentation speech, to which Lieut. Cunningham gracefully responded.

THE SEAMAN'S HOME.

People are not generally aware, I think, what an excellent institution we have in our city under the name of the Seaman's Home, quietly conducted by the Ladies' Seaman's Aid Society. Used as we are to consider shipping quite at a discount at our port, we were surprised to find on the Custom House roll, for the year ending Oct. 1st, a list of 746 names. This furnishes a good reason for the re-establishment of the Home, namely, a good Temperance House for sailors.

Besides this, the restaurant is open to all who want a wholesome dinner at prices suited to the hard times. Last winter its help in this way was most timely. From all appearances it will be none the less needed the present season.

If we wish, also, to befriend the needy who come to our knowledge or who ask alms at our doors, we cannot do better than furnish ourselves with its printed tickets, which, for ten cents, will procure a comfortable meal, at No. 8 State street. Three will supply lodgings and a cup of coffee. We would advise those who buy tickets to take also a bill of fare. A few of our citizens contribute to the support of the Home, but it seems to me that every church should make a yearly collection to continue and carry out this desirable, practical charity.

Yours, K.

One Help for Hard Times.

To increase the product of one's labor, or business, and then to make the best use of what is obtained, will certainly be helpful in these hard times, or in any other. The hints and suggestions of half a dozen intelligent, practical men and women, who devote themselves to studying and observation, on just this topic, must certainly be of great utility to every one. We shall, therefore, do our readers a favor by directing their attention to that most practical journal, the American Agriculturist, which is just now entering upon its 36th year. It is packed full of useful information, that cannot fail to be very helpful to every family, and to every man whatever his calling, and whether residing in City, Village or Country. Each Volume gives from 600 to 700 fine original engravings, that are both pleasing and instructive—to Housekeepers and Children, to Farmers, Mechanics, Merchants, Professional Men, indeed to all classes. Its House Plans and improvements, with full particulars of cost, etc., with engravings, its fearless exposure of humbugs and quackery, indeed its whole make up and its thoroughly reliable character, render it worthy of a place in every household, and we advise every one to have it. An immense circulation enables the publishers to supply it at the low cost of $1.50 a year, post-paid, or four copies for $5.40. Take our advice and send now for volume 36, to the Publishers, Orange Judd Company, 245 Broadway, New York City.

—If women were as particular about choosing a virtuous husband as men are in selecting a virtuous wife, a moral reformation would soon begin, which would be something more than froth and foam.

—Governor Chamberlain's wife presented him with a son in the midst of all the disturbance in South Carolina. He was promptly counted in.

The Magazine has attained in the one quarter century and more of existence to a point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "it is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-established reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright as it can be in an atmosphere since the golden age of prosperity settled around its latest and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated paper is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that its essential excellence is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often conspicuous for merit of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competition as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is as a rule learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

Laconic Correspondence.

The following correspondence was carried on, as will be seen, in 1822, between the Secretary of the Treasury and the Collector of the port of Mobile:

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, January 15, 1822.

SIR: This Department is desirous of knowing how far the Tombigbee River runs up. You will please communicate the information. Respectfully,

W. H. CRAWFORD.

S. Dinsmore, Esq., Collector of Mobile.

MOBILE, February 1, 1822.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of your letter of the 15th ult., and of informing you in reply that the Tombigbee does not run up at all.

Very respectfully, S. DINSMORE.

The Hon. W. H. Crawford, Sec. Treasury.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT,
WASHINGTON, March 1, 1822.

SIR: I have the honor to inform you that the Department has no further service for you as Collector of Mobile.

Respectfully, W. H. CRAWFORD.

S. Dinsmore, Esq., Mobile.

An Accommodating Hotel Clerk.

Scene I. French's Hotel. Time, midday. Fat hotel clerk, smiling, and brushing his diamond stud with a feather. Enter young man in a hurry. He writes on the register, "John Green, Harrisburg, Pa."

Young Man—"I shall take a room this evening. Some bundles may be sent here for me this afternoon. If the charges are not more than $5, pay them."

Exit young man in a hurry. Clerk stiffly bows and continues to brush his diamond stud with a feather.

Scene II.—Time, one hour later.—Enter a small boy with heavy oblong package. He struggles up to hotel counter, and says: "A bundle for Mr. Green. The charges are $3.50."

Clerk drops his feather, and permits the diamond stud to dazzle the small boy's eyes. Then he takes the bundle and pays the small boy $3.50.

Scene III.—Time, following day.—Fat clerk scratches his head with the feather and thinks of Mr. Green and the small boy, and the $3.50. Then he opens the oblong bundle and discovers a brickbat in a paper box, with a note saying: "This is the best Russian clay I could find."

Clerk exclaims, "Goldenity," and the proprietor of the hotel debits him with $3.50.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will be on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson. This story, which begins in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the editor.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mr. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Exports in Co-operation," "A Scotch Leaf Factory," and the November number, and "Food Lane, Included," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "If Jenny's Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place. Whilst the latest production of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more social and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest book-seller, or send a check or P. O. money order to LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it still retains a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter or thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness fiction, essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented the most eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Francis Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. H. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price of the Living Age is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the choicest of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to any new subscriber, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10 50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in possession of the choicest reading.

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratuitously the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend a subscription at the commencement of our reading. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try the pills. Inclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and write to you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and two pounds (102); I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardships in the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by one Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no purpose. Nothing would do him any good, but he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatism in twenty years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the good news of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. BEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and some only got partial relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten weeks, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst they had met with, and that they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through your agent I got your pills. Immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that I have cured myself, but I will not cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

(Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the hard working agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative ... could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The full of selection, is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it aims to be itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a fine Steel-Engraving (usually a portrait)—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

—AND—

UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repository of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of All New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 140 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York.

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS,

For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs

No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. On Race Rock in a Storm.

The six men who were on Race Rock during the fearful storm of Saturday night were taken off in safety Sunday afternoon by the smack Sylvan Glen, which was engaged to go after them by Captain Scott. The men were named O. W. Gates, Alonzo Fone, John Rose, Alfred Paulberg, John Wood and Erastus H. Noyes. They were on an artificial island made of heavy masonry, about fifty-five feet in diameter and twenty-one feet in height, and surrounded by a rip-rap of huge boulders perhaps fifty feet in width. On the east side there is a stone pier extending fifty feet and about twenty-five feet wide. Their shelter, a small cabin of matched planks, was situated at the angle of the pier and stone work, and supported in part by the pier and by wooden piles. This, however, the men considered perfectly safe as far as the effect of the sea was concerned, but on the west side of the island there was a heavy platform of spars, and it was feared that the tremendous sea that was rising would carry it away, and these, owing to the peculiar flow of the tide, would come round the island and would probably be thrown against the supports of the building and would cause it to fall overboard. Consequently when the storm began to rise, arrangements were made to take up their abode in the cistern if it should be necessary. At six o'clock on Saturday afternoon part of the men retired to the cistern, the remainder staying in the cabin, where there was a hot fire.

After awhile the violence of the waves threw a large boulder, weighing about two tons, against one of the supports and broke it, but owing to the position in which the rock fell, it kept the house up; but its inmates not knowing how long it would hold an upright position, retreated to the cistern which the water had invaded to a depth of six inches. There are low brick partitions in the cistern on which the men built their bunks. They passed the night very comfortably, considering their circumstances, the men being wet through in their passage from the cabin to the cistern, and after getting there they had to go back and tear up the bunks and carry them to the well. About noon on Sunday they hoisted the signal agreed upon by them and Captain Scott, which was a couple of bed-quilts, hoisted on the top of a derrick. This being observed, the smack was sent off to them and they were taken off in a good but uncomfortable condition. Saturday night and Sunday there were many wild rumors afloat about the city concerning them, which were founded merely on conjecture, as Capt. Scott had not the slightest doubt of their safety. One of the men says that the rock presents a magnificent spectacle, every thing being covered by ice of two or three inches in thickness, every rope and arm of the derrick being covered during Saturday night. The spray dashed way above the top of the highest derrick, and so constantly was the rock deluged that in removing the bunks from the house to the cistern, a distance of about twenty feet, there was a coating of ice on them over an inch thick which, when they were used as beds, melted immediately, and made it very uncomfortable; but comfort was little compared to safety, and the men were only too happy that they were wet and uncomfortable rather than cold and dead.—Norwich Bulletin.

Yale's Funny Man.

At the Thanksgiving Jubilee of Yale Alumni, in New York, C. W. Gulliver said in the course of his sermon:

"What have we done to be thankful for? Well—not much. Nothing like what Princeton and Columbia and Harvard have done. But what we have done has been good.

We furnished Mr. Beecher with a lawyer who split the jury unevenly, so that a ragged edge was left, but not a man hurt. That was good! No one else could have done that, except a Princeton man, or a Harvard man, or a Columbia man.

Then we went to the Centennial! We gave the managers a little of our blood and sinew, and the visitors a boat race; but we didn't give ourselves away! We sent down a good little crew! Not a brilliant crew, like Princeton! nor a fast crew, like Cornell! but a good, quiet crew that just sat down and rowed as they do at New Haven. Cornell wasn't there. There was to be nothing there worthy of her steal, and so she stole away to the inter-collegiate literary contest, and, as that's only a misdemeanor, she's comparatively safe.

Then there's Cook! He can't row much, but he's good! He's slow. It took him nearly four years to teach all the colleges in the association how to row. But then, we ought to be thankful even for such a blessing as Cook!

And then, there's Moriarty! Take him for 'alf and 'alf, we ne'er shall look upon his like again, you know!

And then there's Waite, quietly weighing the scales of justice, and Taft peddling out law, and a lot more standing about in governing circles, with their hands in somebody's pockets. Not doing much. Yale men never do much. But looking good and handsome, and reflecting more or less credit upon the æsthetics of their ancestry.

And then there's foot-ball. All Canada beat all England. Harvard beat all Canada, and we beat Harvard. Still that would not count for much, except that we played Princeton on Thanksgiving Day, and, owing to an accident, we scored a victory, which will give us a fictitious reputation until New York city shall have happily recovered from the regrets inspired by the results of that game. For all of which we should give thanks. Well, we've occupied just such a good, commonplace position in almost everything which has transpired during the past year, except the Martinez-Del Valle trial! And we should have managed that, except that none but a Harvard man was considered moral enough. When the defendant learned that the head of the firm was a Yale, it was feared that he might swear, or make an allusion or something! And so the defendant naturally selected the junior, because, being a Harvard man, he would put a purer construction upon the "fashionable fax" which were developed by the "polite annygoats" of that trial.

We just go doing and let things happen to us! We don't advertise in the newspapers as much as the leading college because we're poor. But that reflects no discredit upon us, so long as we are honest! We haven't any brass band yet; but we're laying the foundation for one by patient practice on the bass drum! And then, we don't need a brass band as much as the leading colleges, because we're so good that everybody knows when we're coming by the change in the atmosphere!"

The Constitutional Convention.

The Convention on Saturday adjourned to the third Wednesday in April, having been in session eleven days, at an expense of less than $20,000, making in this respect, as well as in the result of its deliberations, a marked improvement over the Convention of 1850-51. Its deliberations have been devoid of party spirit, and it is earnestly hoped that the result will meet with the approbation of the people.

The amendments adopted abolish the religious test; provide that no money raised by taxation shall be granted or applied for the use of the schools of any religious sect or denomination; provide for the increase of the Senate from twelve or twenty-four members and divide the State into twenty-four Senatorial Districts; reduce the House to about three hundred members, changing the basis of representation from ratable polls to population; provide for a biennial session of the Legislature, biennial election of State and County officers, and change the time of such election from March to November; make the Registers of Probate, County Solicitors and Sheriffs elective, (but Judges of Probate are still to be appointed by the Governor;) provide that no removal from office shall be made for politicial opinions; empower the Legislature to establish courts for trial of causes wherein the amount in dispute does not exceed $100, and when the title of real estate is not in question, without the intervention of a jury; provide that no town or city shall loan its credit directly or indirectly for the benefit of any corporation having for its object a dividend of profit or in any way aid it by taking its stock or bonds; and recommend the adoption of a State motto.

Friday morning, after the report of the Committee on Bill of Rights, etc., had been made, the Special Committee to take into consideration several propositions to fix the form of representation, etc., reported, fixing the basis of representation at one Representative for every 600 inhabitants; towns of 1800, two Representatives, and allowing 1200 to be the mean increasing number for each Representative, with certain restrictions. It is estimated that by this change Rockingham County will lose thirteen members; Strafford, ten; Belknap, six; Carroll, six; Merrimac, eleven; Hillsborough, fifteen; Cheshire, ten; Sullivan, four; Grafton, fifteen; Coos, five—making ninety-four, perhaps ninety-six in all. The democrats will lose less than the republicans.

The Committee on the Judiciary Department reported the following: To amend article seventy-three, by adding at the end of said article, "but in no case shall such removal be for political reason;" also, by striking out the word "President," inserting the word "Governor;" to amend article seventy-seven by striking out the words "so that trial by jury in the last resort may be had;" also by striking out the words "four pounds," inserting the words "one hundred dollars;" to amend article eighty-three by adding at the end of said article, "provided, nevertheless, that no money shall ever be granted or applied for the use of the schools or institutions of any religious sect or denomination." The report was adopted without debate.

The Committee on the Legislative Department reported back to the Convention the several amendments agreed to in committee of the whole, with several unimportant changes; adopted.

A resolution of thanks to Judge Clark, President of the Convention, was presented, with a short speech of a complimentary nature, by Hon. J. S. H. Frink of Greenland. The resolutions were seconded by Judge Sargent of Concord, who spoke of the eminent services rendered by the presiding officer, and the impartiality and firmness of his decisions. He said that while resolutions of this kind were frequently merely complimentary, this was not one of that nature, but was a just tribute to the valuable services rendered the Convention; the resolutions were adopted. Judge Clark acknowledged the compliment in a very short but happy speech. He said that next to the approval of one's own conscience is the approval of one's associates and friends. He expressed himself as particularly gratified for the resolutions just adopted by this Convention, which contains so many eminent men. His speech was received with enthusiastic applause. Resolutions of thanks to other officers were adopted.

President's Special Message.

To the Senate of the United States:

In answer to a resolution of the Senate of the 6th inst., requesting information as to whether troops of the United States were stationed at the city of Petersburg, in the State of Virginia, on the 7th of November, 1876, and if so, under what authority and for what purpose," I submit the enclosed letter from the Secretary of War, to whom the resolution was referred, together with the report of the General of the Army and accompanying papers. These enclosures will give all the information called for by the resolution, and I confidently believe will justify the action taken. It is well understood that the presence of United States troops at the polling places never prevented the full exercise of the franchise by any citizen of whatever political faith. If then, they have had any effect whatever upon the ballot cast, it has been to insure protection to the citizen casting it in giving it to the candidate of his unbiased choice without fear, and thus securing the very essence of liberty. It may be the presence of twenty-four United States soldiers under the command of a Captain and Lieutenant, quartered in the custom-house at Petersburg, Va., on the 7th of November, at a considerable distance from any polling place, without any interference on their part whatever, and not going near the polls during the election, may have secured a different result from what would have been obtained if they had not been there (to maintain peace in case of riot) on the face of the returns, but if such is the case, it is only proof that in this one Congressional district in the State of Virginia the legal and constitutional voters have been able to return as elected the candidate of their choice.

U. S. GRANT.

Executive Mansion, Dec. 14th, 1876.

The letter of the Secretary of War is dated Dec. 11th, 1876, and encloses the report of the General of the Army and a communication with its enclosures received from the Attorney General. The letter of the latter encloses copies of papers on file in his office containing information which he states shows the necessity for sending troops to Petersburg, Va., on the 7th of November last, the day of the election. The following is General Sherman's report:

HEADQUARTERS,
ARMY OF THE UNITED STATES,
Washington, D. C., Dec 9.

Hon. J. D. Cameron, Secretary of War:

Sir—In compliance with your reference of the 7th inst., of the resolution of the Senate, calling for a report "whether troops of the United States were stationed in the city of Petersburg, in the State of Virginia, on the 7th of November, 1876, and if so, under what authority and for what purpose, I have the honor to report that Company E, Capt. Breckinridge, of the Second United States Artillery, was posted at Petersburg from November 4th to November 13th, when it was recalled to its proper station, Fort Foote, Maryland. To a more complete understanding of the case I will add that on the 2d day of November a gentleman came to me from the Attorney General, representing that there was reason to apprehend a breach of the peace at Petersburg, Va., and asking a detachment of troops to be sent there. You being then absent, I saw Judge Taft in person, and he advised that a company of soldiers be sent to Petersburg if practicable, and the next day being in New York city, I saw General Hancock in person, and after some inquiries as to the troops available, I ordered him to send the above designated company to Petersburg to remain during the election of November 7th, and then to return to its post. I enclose a copy of his orders; also, copies of General Orders, Nos. 85 and 96, which include all orders and instructions made to the troops arriving in districts where disturbances were apprehended.

I have the honor to be your obedient servant,

W. T. SHERMAN, General.

The enclosure embraces affidavits, etc., relative to the necessity for troops at Petersburg, covering some thirty pages of manuscript. The first is the sworn statement of George N. Marble, to the effect that on the 25th day of May last he was engaged in a building, a short distance from the polls, distributing the republican ticket, when an armed body of the opposition with officers, and marching in line, assaulted a few colored men in front of his building with clubs and stones which they used without the semblance of mercy, besides shooting one man in the face after they had knocked him down with a stone. Marble, who had escaped from the building at the beginning of the attack, was immediately arrested and carried before the judges of election, who committed him to jail for "inciting a riot," without any hearing whatever. When brought before the Mayor, no one appeared before him to make complaint, and Marble was discharged. He adds that he firmly believes the republican voters of the city will not go out at the Fall election unless the government will furnish them ample protection by sending troops for that purpose.

Other affidavits in relation to outrages in May, and expressing a belief that the presence of troops was necessary to protect republicans at the polls, and which were made public about the time the troops were sent to Petersburg, followed. Letters from L. L. Lewis, United States Attorney, and C. S. Rand and C. S. Ramsdell, United States Marshal, are also appended. They relate to the same subject, and also to the later disturbance on the 30th of October, when Messrs. Segar, Ball and Dezendorf were assaulted and a republican meeting broken up. Copies of Virginia new-papers, and some printed copies of orders from the War Department, are also embraced in the enclosures.

News and Notes.

According to a letter from Havana, some troublesome privateering is to be apprehended under the flag of "Free Cuba." The Peruvian iron-clad Amazon, the recently captured Spanish steamer Moctezuma and two prizes are declared to be at friendly port somewhere in the Gulf of Mexico. The Moctezuma has been armed with six pieces of artillery. A combined attack from this naval force and the insurgent land forces on some important Cuban port is feared.

Colonel Fulcher, of Virginia, and a Mr. Schell, one of the House door-keepers, had a discussion with knives at the Ebbitt House, Washington, Friday evening. Both were somewhat carved up, but neither will die. No arrests.

Thirty-four thousand cases of robbers were sold at auction in Boston on Friday.

Schooner Annie Jones, of St. George, Me., from Brunswick, Me., for New York with lumber, became waterlogged in a gale on the 9th, and two seamen were drowned. The captain, mate and three seamen were lashed on top of a deck-house for four days, with only molasses to eat; and the vessel was rapidly breaking up when they were taken off.

A New Brunswick paper reports the herring fishery at the Bay of Islands and Boone Bay a complete failure, and in consequence great destitution prevails among the people. About 140 sail were waiting fish, but most of them were preparing to leave with little or no fish on board. The supercargo of a vessel from the Bay of Islands says that some of the families are at present living on a few potatoes, and already there would be starvation among some of them were it not for the efforts of an Episcopal clergyman named Curling, who is buying up all the flour from the merchants and distributing it among the poor people. This gentleman has considerable wealth, and is using it on behalf of the poor people.

The Union de Credit Bank of Belgium loses four million francs through the defalcation of its President.

Gov. Tilden's reputation as a "reformer" rests mainly on his war on the canal ring of New York. Over $200,000 were spent in bringing to justice the thieves of that ring, and one single conviction was some months ago secured—against Jarvis Lord, the leader of the ring contractors. Lord appealed. Then he sent a man to St. Louis to work for Tilden's nomination; afterward, he subscribed liberally to help along the cause of Tilden and reform, and gave an ox to be roasted at a democratic barbecue. Now Mr. Lord goes out of court on a non-suit, carrying with him $2000 extra costs besides the expenses of the trial. Great is reform, and Tilden is its prophet.

Mr. Alfred Colony, of Keene, committed suicide by shooting on the 15th. He was about fifty years old, and one of the most respected and wealthy citizens of the place. Temporary insanity from business troubles was the cause of his suicide. His life was insured in the New York Mutual Company for $20,000.

A Prime Remedy for a Painful Disease.

The pangs endured by the rheumatic are attributed by scientific path logists to the contact of a certain abnormal acrid element in the blood with the sensitive covering of the muscles and joints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, being a supero blood depurent, is admirably calculated to expel this impurity, and by removing the cause to allay the pain and feverish symptoms which it produces. That it is a most successful remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and gout, as well as a reliable means of counteracting those diseases, is a fact amply evidenced by voluntary certificates emanating from those whom it has cured, and attested by medical practitioners of high repute. It is likewise a sovereign curative of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, urinary troubles and general debility, as well as the most popular and successful antidote to malaria extant.

SUCH IS THE PURIFYING, HEALING OPERATION OF GLEASON'S SULPHUR SOAP, that formidable abscesses and purulent ulcers, as well as the most obstinate skin diseases, are cured by it. It expels proud flesh and is highly anti-putrescent.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam has gained a reputation which p acts it in the front ranks of curative agents. It has been in the market out about four years. It is now recommended by the best physicians because it cures every time. Price 35 cts.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtf1277

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, for uniformity. The weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship and wisdom, and integrity for blow-hard pence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will continue to be the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting-room, and even by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers,—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury and by turning to account the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, in case any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At ten dollars a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. HOWARD BENEVOLENT SOCIETY.

At the forty-seventh annual meeting, on Saturday evening, Dec. 2, the following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

President, Hon. Ichabod Goodwin.

Secretary, Lewis W. Brewster.

Treasurer, John Stavers.

Directors, William Day, Benjamin Cheever, Samuel S. Green, Benjamin Carter, Rev. L. L. Harmon, John H. Broughton, Lyman D. Spalding, J. Chaplin Carr, Wm. D. Fernald, John S. Rand, John Stavers, T. E. O. Marvin.

Disbursing committees are as follows:

For December, Messrs. Goodwin, Day and Harmon.

For January, 1877, Messrs. Green, Cheever and Stavers.

For February, Messrs. Stavers, Carter and Carr.

For March, Messrs. Broughton, Spalding and Marvin.

For April, and to December, 1877, Messrs. Fernald, Brewster and Rand.

The drafts upon the treasury of the society have thus far been duly honored, and it has been enabled to accomplish very much of a very good work. Applications for aid have been frequently made through the summer and fall; and now that a hard winter is upon us there are many families who, being entirely destitute but unwilling to ask help, will be proper subjects for the aid of this institution, and there promises to be much work for it to accomplish. The directors urge upon those of our citizens who have means, to be liberal in their donations. The collector will soon make his annual call. The fact that the society has been the recipient of a number of legacies should not lessen the burden of any conscience in the matter of giving; for the only effect of such bestowments has been to enlarge the field of labor and the capacity of the society for answering the calls for help. —Journal.

ONE OF THE PRETTY SIGHTS

In Venice, always entertaining to travellers, is the feeding of the doves. When the great clock of St. Mark's strikes two, behold what a flutter of wings! Flocks of doves swoop down from the belfries, start from their distant cotes, and, arriving from every side, alight on the great square to receive their daily rations. Battalions of them, sometimes three deep, said a friend, begin a scramble for their dinner, which is served out to them every day at the same hour at the public expense. They march around among the children with no trace of fear or shyness, trusting people as people hardly trust each other. The custom is an old one, so old that the oldest inhabitant of the country cannot pronounce when or how it began.

Our doves will never plume themselves upon any such care as this. Hard winters go hard with them. They are often found with their feet frozen, and half starved. We were glad therefore to learn that the Humane Animal Society has put up a large dove-cote in the heart of the city, where doves and pigeons can find shelter, and children can have the pleasure of feeding them. They will find it very pleasant to think of helping little birds out in the cold, and enjoy their dinner all the more for having fed them. INCHES.

JOTTINGS

Morse & Ilsley will sell by Auction today, commencing at 11 o'clock A. M., on the premises, all the furniture in house No. 8 High street, corner of Ladd street. This furniture is of good quality and nearly new, and will positively be sold to the highest bidders, for cash. It includes black walnut marble top parlor, sitting-room and chamber sets, beds and bedding, carpets, stoves, pictures, kitchen utensils, and other articles. See advertisement.

Messrs. C. E. & J. E. Dixon, watchmakers and jewellers, (at the stand formerly occupied by the late Gershom F. Melcher,) announce a large assortment of goods in their line, suitable for the holiday trade. Read their advertisement and give them a call.

The Young People's Social Union connected with the Methodist society has secured the hall in Exchange building, formerly occupied by the Knights of Pythias, and the same is now being fitted up for the general uses of that society. The Union will dedicate the hall in about two weeks.

Chapman's Fifth Avenue Theatre Company, will appear in "Pique" at the Temple to-morrow evening. The play and the company are both highly commended by the papers of places where they have appeared. The scenery for the play is the property of the company, and is transported with them. The Mirror of the 15th thus speaks of their performance in Manchester: "The acting was almost universally good. Miss Virginia Buchanan as Mabel Renfrew, took the leading lady part very acceptably, and Mr. Edward Chapman portrayed Sammy Dymple, the young millionaire in search of what money can't buy, in a very vivacious, clever, and creditable manner, showing a keen appreciation of his role. His make-up was capital, and he kept the audience in a continual roar of laughter. Miss Stella Congdon made a great hit as Ratch, the waif from the Slums, achieving a most unequivocal success. Mr. A. H. Stuart was a good representation of a Massachusetts mill-owner, whose word was law, and proved to be admirably fitted to the part. Aunt Dorothy, a good-natured aunt, a friend and aunt to everybody, was enacted very naturally by Miss Nellie Tannehill. Most of the other personations in the cast were quite well taken. We hope this troupe will make Manchester another visit."

Under the new apportionment of Representatives, if the proposed amendment to the Constitution is adopted by the people, this city will lose three or four members of the House.

At a meeting of the School Committee on Saturday evening, the pay of Grammar school masters was reduced from $1100 to $900, and that of the writing teacher from $1000 to $600.

Steamer Tiger, from Portland, bound for Gloucester, arrived at this port Sunday evening, having put in here on account of being iced up. She will proceed this morning. On the way up, when off Wood island, fell in with schooner Coral, in a disabled condition, with sails torn and split, and towed her into Wood island pool.

Election Notes.

The vote of South Carolina for Governor, as declared by the Speaker of Wade Hampton's House of Representatives, was as follows: Hampton, 92,261; Chamberlain, 91,127; Hampton's majority, 1,134. For Lieut. Governor, Simpson, democrat, 91,689; Gleaves, republican, 91,550; Simpson's majority, 139. This includes the vote of Edgefield and Laurens counties, where the democratic majority exceeds the entire voting population of both parties. Wade Hampton is evidently permitting himself to be used as an experiment by Tilden, who thinks that if there can be two Governors in South Carolina there can be two Presidents of the United States.

For the first thirteen Presidential election the President of the Senate, under instructions of the Congress, issued certificates to the successful candidates for President and Vice President, stating over his own signature that he (the President of the Senate) had opened and counted the electoral votes, and that he (the successful candidate) was elected. After a half-century, this form fell into disuse, being supplanted by that of a Committee of Notification. But the fact remains that, for fifty years, the Presidents of the Senate issued certificates of election declaring that they had counted the votes. Will the democratic gentlemen please put that in their pipes and smoke it.

Hon. W. E. Chandler, who has arrived home from Florida, says that it is not wise for the republicans of the North to deceive themselves as to the purposes of the Tilden democrats. He believes the democrats will attempt another rebellion and bring on war rather than submit to Hayes' election.

The President of the Western Union Telegraph Company refuses to give up private telegrams to the House committee sent to Louisiana to try to make capital for Tilden.

The pool business, although rated as extra hazardous, is not only exempt from the ruinous results of influences which are baneful and blighting to two-sided industries, but it is nourished and stimulated by seeming disaster. The Presidential complication, for example, has caused "depression in business circles," but Mr. Morrissey continues chipper—remains in fact the champion chipper. When the judicial delays of the Louisianna Returning Board were paralysing the pork trade, operators in pools were drawing their bets with exhilarating eagerness, and Mr. Morrissey picked up his commissions. When the remote and numerous Mr. Cronin organized himself into an Electoral College, Mr. Morrissey promptly declared all bets off and credited himself with the bulk of what was left in the pot. From all this it would seem that the pool business offers special inducements to gentlemen who are running for President, provided they keep on the right side of the business—the inside, to wit. "It creates sentiment," it makes votes, and it helps to defray campaign expenses. The business, however, has few allurements for exterior investors, and it is safe to assert that public confidence in the "squareness" of inside manipulators is somewhat impaired.—Tribune.

—A new drink to supply the place of gruel or barley-water is recommended by the Times of India—"congee water," or the liquor in which rice has been boiled. This drink is impregnated with the properties of the rice boiled in it, and thus satisfies hunger; it quenches thirst, and is a capital draught in fever attacks; and lastly, when taken warm in bed, "congee water" is good for bad colds and influenza.

—"Private Panel, you are wrong to smoke so persistently. Tobacco is poisonous." "Ah, Sergeant, it's joking you are." "I never joke, and least of all, with my inferiors." "But Sergeant, my grandfather has smoked ever since he was weaned, and now is seventy-four." "And what does that prove? Perhaps if he had not smoked he would have been ninety-four by this time."

—Leap year is skipping away at a lively rate.

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter at any time since the golden hue of web-copy settled around its later and best years. —Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same characteristics which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted. —Chicago Journal.

Daily Chronicle.

—When it can be said of a young man "he drinks," and it can be proven, what more wants him for a clerk? What church wants him for a member? Who will trust him? What dying man will appoint him as his executor? He may have been forty years in building his reputation—it goes down, down, down! Letters of recommendation, the backing of business firms, a brilliant ancestry, cannot save him. Why? It is whispered all through the community: "He drinks! he drinks." That blasts him.

—A little New Haven boy, aged three years, was the subject of a remarkable feat of surgery recently. Being afflicted with membranous croup, when all other resources failed the physicians cut a hole in the child's windpipe and inserted two bent tubes, one inside the other; these were used for ten days, during half of which time the patient took no nourishment but a little milk. The tubes were then removed; the wound is healing, and the boy is in a fair way to recover.

—A little girl asked her mother, "What kind of a bear is a consecrated cross-eyed bear?" The mother replied that she had never heard of such an animal; the child twisted that they sang about it at the Sunday school. "No," said the mother, "it is 'A consecrated cross I bear!'"

ROCKINGHAM, SS.

BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of EKELINE KNOX, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, greeting.

You are hereby notified that SAMUEL ADAMS, administrator of the estate of said deceased, will present his account of administering said estate at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in and for said County, on the second Tuesday of January next, at 10 o'clock A. M. for examination and allowance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby ordered to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge,
WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Wanderings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," &c. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," "The Newspaper Manufactory," and "Tonil Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Sleepers," "Twopenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, &c., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

Attention is called to the following letter from David Cummings & Co., Shoe Manufacturers of South Berwick, Me.:

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Nov. 26, 1875.

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a part of it froze up last winter, we can't see any injury done. The Pipe was laid by you in a thorough manner, and we believe it to be the Best Water Pipe known, and if we lay any more shall surely lay the same, and you are to do the job if alive and well. Yours, D. CUMMINGS & CO.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Moloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other masters in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend he periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 29, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 26th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them about the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no avail. He is unable to be so bad, that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, and I did not know that he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ELI. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and spent all I could get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here is that one dose, or two doses, will cure me, and I cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. You sent me one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever used. I shall recommend them to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE
OF

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the best artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

MENDUM, WHIDDEN & CO.,

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & CO. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY SOLICITOR OF PATENTS.

No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE RILEY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms; with advice respecting validity, to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Examination of claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. EDMUND BURKE, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their meritorious claims in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.'

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their interests at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

The Latest Parisian Theft.

A curious theft took place the other day in the aristocratic precincts of the Faubourg St. Honore. A wealthy lady named Letellier, who resided near the Church of St. Phillippe du Route, went to that fashionable church one morning to say her prayers. While there she put her hand in her pocket and found that some one had stolen from her the bonbonniere which she habitually carried, and which was very valuable, being of gold set with precious stones. Her keys also, which had been in the same pocket, had disappeared. She looked around, but saw no one whom she could suspect of the theft, her only near neighbor being an elegantly-dressed gentleman who was absorbed in his devotions. To him Madame Letellier confided the fact of her loss, and he, putting his hand in his own pocket, exclaimed that his purse, also, had disappeared.

He made some remarks, tinged with forcible indignation, respecting the sacrilegious nature of a thief who could so profane a consecrated edifice, and then announced his intention of going to the nearest police station to make known his loss. "And if Madame will kindly favor me with her name and address," he added, "I shall take great pleasure in mentioning her case at the same time." The unsuspecting lady imparted to him her address in full, and he hurried off to the police station as he said, while Madame Letellier proceeded to pay a call or two, to relate her misfortune to other sympathizing friends. On her return home she was met by her maid with the announcement that a gentleman had called, stating that he was sent by Mme. Letellier's banker to take her jewelry to the bank for safe-keeping, that she had hesitated to confide the valuables to his care, and that he had then proved his right to take them by producing his mistress' keys. Consequently, all Mme. Letellier's valuable diamonds, and her other ornaments as well, had gone to join her lost bonbonniere in the possession of the adroit scoundrel who had so kindly sympathized with her at the church.—Lucy Hooper, in Phil. Telegraph.

Something about Peanuts.

Peanuts, or, as they are commonly known in the South, ground-nuts or goubers, grow in the ground on the roots of the plants, exactly like potatoes. The stalk and leaves of the plant somewhat resemble clover, and to get the nut when ripe the plants are pulled out of the ground, the nut adhering firmly to the roots. The greatest trouble with the ground nuts is in picking them, which has to be done by the hand, no machine having as yet been invented to do the work, though it would seem as if such a machine, in the shape of a coarse comb, might be easily invented. But labor is cheap in the places where they are grown, which are in the light sandy soils of Tennessee, Virginia and North Carolina, in this country. Peanuts are also largely grown in Africa, India, Brazil and other places. The best are raised in the valley of the river Gambia, in Africa, and yield large quantities of oil. This product, when properly produced, is esteemed equal to olive oil; but it is also used in woollen manufactories, in soap-making, in lamps, and for lubricating machinery. Last year the crop in the United States was as follows: Tennessee, 235,000 bushels; Virginia, 450,000; North Carolina, 100,000. The imports from Africa last year were 846,000 bushels, of which Boston imported 380,000 and New York 230,000. The average of the new crop this year is somewhat larger than that of last year, and the yield promises well, the nut being generally better filled and matured than for the past two years, and of finer quality. The past year was marked by fewer changes than any former one; by an absence of speculation, and by the small proportion of choice white nuts. Tennessee peanuts are put up in burlap bags of four or five bushels' capacity, and are sold by the pound, the grades being, respectively, inferior, prime, choice, and fancy. The crop year begins October 1 and ends September 30 of the ensuing year. The new crop will come forward under very favorable auspices. The previous crop having been well sold up, stocks are light in the hands of commission merchants and dealers.—Boston Herald.

—The goose-bone may be called the Kentucky weather-prophet. It is to be found in nearly every house there, and in many parts of the State the farmers consult it, and manage in accordance with its readings. The prophecy of the goose-bone does not extend beyond the year in which the goose was hatched, and the prediction is for the three winter months only. Take the breast bone of a last spring's goose and divide it into three equal parts, and the different divisions will represent December, January, and February. The breast bone of a goose is translucent, and if clear when held up to the light, the weather will be mild and pleasant; but if covered with cloud-like blots, it will be gloomy and cold; the heavier the blots the colder will be the weather. A study of this year's goose-bone indicates that the weather for December will be cloudy and gloomy, probably with much rain and snow, not very cold, but, withal, a very disagreeable month. About the last of December we shall have some cold weather, which will continue to grow colder as January advances. The month of January will be a cold one throughout, with some very severe weather during the last part of the month. On the prophecy of the goose bone, it may be predicted that about the last of January we will have the coldest weather experienced for a number of years. February will be more pleasant and spring-like, betokening an early return of the flowers. During the last of the month, however, there will be a few cold days, but no severe weather.

Mississippi.

It took many days last year to get the details of the Mississippi election. They are in no hurry this year to send along the facts. The democratic majority is so big that democrats do not like to publish it. Specimen figureshave been produced which, until the complete returns have been furnished, will enable the country to understand how well the democrats put in their work. Here are the votes in several counties in 1873 and in 1876 :

MADISON COUNTY.	Rep.	Dem.
1873	2,325	401
TALLAHATCHIE COUNTY.	Rep.	Dem.
1873	840	362
1876	1	1,144
LOWNDES COUNTY.	Rep.	Dem.
1873	2,723	716
YAZOO COUNTY.	Rep.	Dem.
1873	2,433	922

Sum up these figures and see what they tell. Four counties that in 1873 cast 10,319 republican votes, cast in 1876 but 18—not one in five hundred. At the same time the democratic vote increased from 2,401 to 8,262. That is, while there was interest enough in the election on the part of democrats to cause an increase of their vote of almost 400 per cent., the republicans took so little interest that not one in five hundred of them voted. We don't wonder the democrats delay publishing their figures. There are no four parishes in Louisiana where the figures so utterly condemn them as those of the four Mississippi Counties we have just cited.

All the counties but one in Mississippi have now been heard from, and there is a net democratic majority of about 62,000. The atrocious outrages of last year, the whippings, the open murders and the secret assassinations have had their expected effect. The State is as thoroughly republican as Iowa or Vermont. On any honest vote it would so have gone. The figures we quoted, yesterday, show that intimidation produced greater effects than those in Louisiana even. When over ten thousand republicans cast less than twenty votes, there is made out a case of violence that is conclusive. Mississippi needs looking up quite as much as Louisiana. It was stolen by the democrats last year. The title that came to the democracy by that stealing was the only basis on which they laid claims to the State this year. That claim could only be good on the supposition that the violence of 1875 was so terrible that its effects would last over until 1876, or that what was done a year ago would be repeated this year. We believe both these suppositions are true. The colored men did not forget the horrible cruelties that were practiced in 1875, and they were intimidated and bulldozed this year. Thus it appears that the State that in 1874 gave a republican majority of 30,000, in 1875 gave a democratic majority of 30,000, and in 1876, increased that democratic majority to 60,000. We don't believe the country is going to look calmly on and see this great outrage consummated.—Cinn. Times.

Spirit of the Democratic Press.

The editor of the Fort Wayne (Indiana) Sentinel is a terrible fellow, and breathes forth assassination and war as follows:

"If the spirit and nerve of the people of Louisiana have not wholly departed, they will see that the members of the Returning Board do not long linger in this vale of tears. Wells and Anderson at least should be promptly put out of the road. Assassination in this case would be justifiable—Are there no revolvers in South Carolina, that Chamberlain is permitted to exist?—One million men will be on hand to see that Samuel J. Tilden is inaugurated President on the 4th of next March."

We would wager fifty cents, and put the money in the hands of John Morrissey or any other representative Tilden reformer, that the editor of the Fort Wayne Sentinel is more likely to assassinate somebody else's chickens and make war on a melon-patch at midnight, than to do any more reckless deeds of darkness. Another terrible being is the editor of the Illinois Register, who, speaking of the proposition that President of the Senate Ferry shall count the electoral votes, exclaims:

"The friends of Mr. Tilden propose, by revolution, that he shall not."

Here is a specimen of editorial comment in the vicinity of the "X Roads." It not only exhibits the amenities of journalistic intercourse peculiar to the region, but at the same time indicates a healthy tone of public opinion with regard to the threatened democratic "war of the succession:"

War at Owensboro'.—Persons who have visited Owensburo' during last week, represent the state of feeling there as decidedly belligerent. They claim there, that Tilden is elected, at least has a popular majority, and that he shall be inaugurated. They have one piece of artillery in commission, have horses in training and are only puzzled by one thing, and that is, don't know whom to begin their warfare upon. They say their single gun is not all they have, is not, in fact, a drop in the bucket of their armament. When the charges of fraud are brought to their notice, they say they don't care a cent for fraud, they are going to inaugurate Tilden anyway. These fellows are probably the gods of war by whom the Monitor and the Evansville Courier swore that Tilden should be inaugurated.—Republican Journal.

The above is a seven-story lie. It is false from beginning to end. There is not one sentence of truth in it. It doesn't contain a single line that even approaches the truth. Truth is a thing the writer has no conception of. He would rather write an article like the above than to state the facts if they were laid before him. There was a piece of artillery imported here to be used in firing a national salute in honor of Tilden's election, but that is all. The salute was fired. Nobody is "belligerent" here. If the North acquiesces in the verdict of the Louisiana thieves, we shall. You are a fool!—Owensboro' Examiner.

The Constitutional Convention.

After providing the time when and the manner by which the several amendments of the Constitution proposed by the Convention, shall be submitted to the voters of the State, the Convention adjourned Saturday morning, subject to the call of the President, or in case of his death, to that of the Governor, such meeting to be held some time in the year 1877.

The "Reformed" House.

According to calculations made at Concord as to the towns which would lose a portion of their representation in the Great and General Court of the State of New Hampshire under the proposed amendment to the Constitution, the places which will lose each a single Representative are Candia, Dearfield, Exeter, Londonderry, Salem, Barrington, Dover, Farmington, Strafford, Barnstead, Gilford, Gilmanton, Laconia, Conway, Franklin, Henniker, Pittsfield, Warner, Goffstown, Hillsborough, Wilton, Milford, Bethlehem, Swansey, Hinsdale, Charlestown, Newport, Bristol, Enfield, Lebanon, Bartlett, Littleton, Plymouth, Colebrook, Whitefield, Atkinson, Danville, East Kingston, Fremont, Newington, Sandown, South Hampton, Madbury, Centre Harbor, Albany, Brookfield, Chatham, Hart's Location. Jackson, Bennington, Greenfield, Litchfield, Sharon, Temple, Windsor, Roxbury, Sullivan, Surry, Gilsum, Goshen, Langdon, Benton, Bridgewater, Ellsworth and Waterville (classed,) Lincoln and Woodstock (classed,) Franconia, Groton, Hebron, Monroe, Orange, Berlin,Carroll, Carksville, Drummer, Errol, Pittsburg, Randolph and Success (classed,) Shelburn, Stark and Wentworth's Location. The greater portion of these places have not ratable polls enough to elect a Representative under the present law, but they have been allowed to have one by special acts of the Legislature. These towns will hereafter, if the amendment is adopted, be classed when contiguous. Portsmouth will lose four Representatives, Rochester two, Somersworth two, Concord five, Mancester seven, Nashua two, Keene two and Claremont two. The result will not materially affect the relative standing of the two political parties in the lower House of the Legislature. The whole number of Representatives will be about 300, in place of 390, as at the present time. The count of population is that of the United States census. An enumeration will, however, have to be made by the State in the case of new towns formed since 1870, divided towns, and cities whose wards have been re-organized. Many places have gained in population since 1870, and will have a gain of Representatives after the census of 1880.

A Great National Work.

The Illustrated History of the Centennial Exhibition, with a full description of the Great Buildings and all the objects of interest Exhibited in them. By James D. McCabe, author of "The Centennial History of the United States," etc. Embellished with over 300 fine engravings of buildings and scenes in the Great Exhibition.

The National Publishing Co. of Philadelphia have issued a large and handsome volume bearing the above title. The intense interest everywhere manifested in the great Exhibition, and the eager desire to obtain a complete and connected account of it, will unquestionably cause this book to have a very extensive sale.

This History of the Centennial Exhibition is not a dry list of the articles exhibited. It is a superb volume of 874 pages, from the pen of one of the most popular authors of the day. Mr. McCabe received the constant and sympathetic assistance of the Centennial authorities, and enjoyed peculiar advantages in the preparation of this work. He went, note-book in hand, through every department of the Exhibition, and the result of his labors is a work abounding in brilliant descriptions of the great World's Fair. He traces the history of the great enterprise from its inception to its triumphant closing day. He then takes us through every part of the Exhibition grounds, giving brilliant accounts of every building and the features of interest within them. We are taken through the Main Building, Machinery Hall, the Agricultural and Horticultural Halls, the Art Gallery, the Government Building, and all the other structures, and our deepest attention is held all the time by the descriptions of the rare and beautiful objects contained in them.

The book is written with a vigor and brilliancy which render it a complete and life-like picture of the Great World's Fair, and which makes it invaluable to all classes of our people. To those who have visited the Exhibition it will be a pleasing souvenir of their visit, and enable them to recall the magnificent scenes they have witnessed. To those who could not make the journey, the book is a necessity, for it will enable them to enjoy the delights of a thorough acquaintance with the great Exhibition in the quietude of their own homes.

There is not another book in print which gives one-fourth of the information contained in this work. It is superbly illustrated, and the price is so low that all can afford to secure a copy. The book is sold by subscription only, and the publishers want agents in every county.

Election Notes.

The voice of the Indiana democracy seems to be for war. It was once before—till the fighting began.—N. Y. Tribune.

If the man who wrote the democratic bull-dozing resolutions, passed by the Democratic State Committee at Concord, will stand forth, we will point out a man who never willingly gave word or vote or cent to aid the Government in putting down the late gigantic attempt to break up the Union, destroy the constitution and utterly defeat the supremacy of liberty and self-government on this Western Continent. This is the man who now says, in the name of the entire democracy of New Hampshire, that Tilden and Hendricks "shall be installed," even at the cost of civil war. If the democracy of this State have not lost their senses as well as their patriotism, they will "sit down" on such a Bombastes at the first opportunity.—Nashua Telegraph.

Abe Hewitt, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, sees little difficulty in reaching a satisfactory settlement of the Presidential question. The democrats will submit to any settlement that counts in Tilden and Hendricks, and gives South Carolina to Wade Hampton and Louisiana to the bull-dozers.

Charles O'Conor, of New York, who is not only a great legal luminary but a personal and political friend of Tilden, recently wrote to a friend in St. Louis a letter containing the following choice language: "The drunken democrat whom the republicans dragged out of the Galena gutter, besmeared with the blood of his countrymen slain in domestic broil, and lifted to a high pedestal as the Moloch of their worship, rules—and, until a great change in sentiment shall take place, must continue to rule—over the prostrate ruins of Washington's republic. That republic perished on the day that McDowell moved on to Richmond." Mr. O'Conor has always been known as a Bourbon democrat,—in other words, a sympathizer with treason and a defender of the democratic attempt to destroy the Union,—yet he has been regarded as a gentleman; but the low vulgarity of this letter shows him to be not only a traitor at heart but a blackguard at bottom.

Advices from South Carolina say there is not a word of truth in the story of the horrible negro plot to massacre all the whites in Abbeville county. The facts about the shooting of a white man named Allen in Abbeville will be made known in a few days, when it will appear that the whites were the aggressors. Thus far it is only known that one white man was shot, and three negroes have been poisoned in retaliation.

During General Gray's harangue to the crowd at Columbia, S. C., on the occasion of Wade Hampton's "inauguration" as Governor, after telling his hearers not to commit violence, or do any shooting until they were commanded to do it by their leader Hampton, he added that when the shooting did begin they should commence with Chamberlain, and shoot from him down.

A Prime Remedy for a Painful Disease.

The pangs endured by the rheumatic are attributed by scientific pathologists to the contact of a certain abnormal acrid element in the blood with the sensitive covering of the muscles and joints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, being a supero blood depurent, is admirably calculated to expel this impurity, and by removing the cause to allay the pain and feverish symptoms which it produces. That it is a most successful remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and gout, as well as a reliable means of counteracting those diseases, is a fact amply evidenced by voluntary certificates emanating from those whom it has cured, and attested by medical practitioners of high repute. It is likewise a sovereign curative of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, urinary troubles and general debility, as well as the most popular and successful antidote to malaria extant.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam has gained a reputation which places it in the front ranks of curative agents. It has been in the market but about four years. It is now recommended by the best physicians because it cures every time. Price 35 cts.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dlm12&17

THE SUN.

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year 1876 has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for hollow pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend that the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by fraud and force, does not and in the mounting voice, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the People, and by cheating and evading the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of unjustified power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of $1 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers without the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best. POLICE COURT.

Monday, December 18.

James Brewster, an Englishman claiming to live in Manchester, was charged with being a tramp. As according to his own account he had wandered on foot most of the distance from New Orleans to this city, the Court considered the tramp charge sustained and sent him to Brentwood for three months; costs $6.30.

John Casper, for drunkenness, was fined $3 and costs.—$9.90 in all,—which amount he was unable to find in his wallet and will have to board out at the popular County retreat.

THAT COURSE OF LECTURES.

It is Mr. Albee, then, who proposes giving the lectures mysteriously hinted at in the papers a few weeks ago. We give them a cordial welcome. A course of lectures upon a given subject has many advantages, and the course marked out is one of unfailing interest, upon which people are sufficiently informed to have an opinion and sufficiently ignorant to admit and enjoy the criticism of any new master in literature. The direction which these lectures will give to thought, reading and conversation during the winter will be an agreeable factor in our social circles, and we are surely greatly indebted to Mr. Albee for the treat he promises. They will be given, too, at a season of larger leisure than the Fall affords, and we bespeak for him a large attendance. Let everybody that can, take tickets, and wipe out the reproach often made that nothing commands an audience in Portsmouth but pea-nut plays and negro minstrels.

Yours, K.

JOTTINGS

To-night at the Temple, Chapman's Fifth Avenue Theatre Company will present Augustin Daly's last and best play, "Pique." The company is spoken of in flattering terms by the press, the play is new and so is all the scenery (which is carried by the company), and we feel safe in saying the show will be a satisfactory one to those who attend. The advertisement may be found in another column.

The crew of seven men belonging to the schooner J. D. McCarthy, wrecked on Salisbury Beach on the 9th inst., were all furnished with free passes to their homes by the Eastern Railroad.

Sunday was a cool day all over New England. On Mount Washington the wind blew 160 miles an hour. At Littleton the thermometer was twenty-eight degrees below zero, and at Manchester sixteen below. In this city it was quite warm, only six below zero.

Harper's Magazine for January is out, and for sale at the bookstores. It contains the usual amount of interesting and instructive reading matter, including illustrated articles on "contemporary art in England," the "good old times in Plymouth," "a cruise among the Magdalene islands," etc. Poetry, stories, scientific, literary and historical records, the ever-popular "easy chair" and drawer," all combine to keep up the reputation of this excellent magazine.

Messrs. H. B. Buzzell & Son, having made extensive alterations and improvements in the arrangement of their store, and laid in a large and varied stock of goods suitable for the holiday trade, issue a column-long announcement of the same to the public, which intending present-givers will do well to read before deciding where to make their purchases. They have a great variety of toys of all kinds, cheap and costly, books, porcelain goods, etc., and will be pleased to show the same to their old patrons and new customers, and to sell them just such goods as they want at prices to suit the times.

A most excellent imitation of a snow-storm visited us on Monday, commencing at an early hour and keeping at it until the middle of the afternoon, when hail commenced to fall by way of a change. There was but little walking about the streets for fun during the day or evening. The thermometer stood at eight above zero most of the day, but the temperature rose toward night and the snow came down again thicker than ever. The evening trains from Portland and Boston did not arrive until an hour or more after the usual time.

Mr. W. F. O'Neil, a Councilman of Dover and the one member of the City Councils who did not vote in favor of further aid to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad, (he having been excused from voting at his own request,) writes to the Dover Democrat as follows: "Now, in regard to the Portsmouth and Dover Railroad, I can only say that as a member of the City Council, sworn to do what was for the best interest of the city, I felt it my duty to ascertain all the facts regarding a piece of property that the city was interested in to the amount of $225,000, and concerning which report said there had been some irregularities, before I could vote to have the city loan its credit to the same corporation for $33,000 more. I am unwilling to admit that Mr. Hatch, with his reputation as a refiner of dark and muddy legal matters, has cleared this matter so that it is apparent to the naked eye. The people of Portsmouth should give it another filtering, as I feel sure the sediment found will pay for the labor. I came to this conclusion partly from the remarks and admissions made by Mr. Bracewell, who stated before the Councils that the matter of $60,000 should have been kept out of sight, and that he had made the request of the directors of the road some time ago."

News and Notes.

Vanderbilt has been sitting up chatting with his physician. He is likely to outlive another doctor.

Gen. William F. Bartlett died at Pittsfield, Mass., on Sunday, aged thirty-six years. He was one of the most gallant officers in the late war, having lost a leg and been several times severely wounded.

The chief of the Spanish Centennial commission has sent a real Toledo blade to the editor of the Toledo Blade.

The three-masted schooner Belle Crowell, of Dennis, Mass., from Portland, Me., for Windsor, N. S., in ballast, was struck by a squall off West Quoddy Head, Friday afternoon, and filled and capsized. The crew were rescued by a fishing vessel.

Capt. R. P. Leach, of the schooner Pavilion, while on the passage from Boston to Bucksport, on the 13th inst., came upon the signs of a wreck, and four miles southeast of Cape Elizabeth passed the spars with rigging attached and the stern of a schooner apparently of about 100 tons. The remains of the stern were painted black, masts green below the saddle and white mastheads. He also saw a barrel near the wreck, supposed to be kerosene oil. He could see no name on the stern, nor could he hail owing to the strong southwest wind. The heavy sea prevented approaching with a boat.

Schooner Howard, of Gloucester, put into Liverpool, N. S., on the 16th, in a damaged condition. Captain and one man injured and one man drowned.

News received from St. Johns, N. F., states that the fishing schooner Daniel A. Burnham, Capt. Nickerson, of Gloucester, upset on the Grand Banks on the 10th inst., and carried away both masts to the deck. The crew remained on her for five days, when they were taken off by a steamer and carried to St. Johns. The crew lost everything and were all more or less injured.

Schooner Lucy, of Gloucester, engaged in off shore fishery, was capsized on the morning of the 15th, about two miles off Eastern Point, and soon after sank. Crew took to their dory, and were picked up by fishing boat Alhambra, and taken into Gloucester.

Smoke was seen coming from the house of Mr. Elkanah Williams, a wealthy and aged citizen of Providence, R. I., Sunday morning. The fire, which was in the bedroom of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, was soon put out, when the dead bodies of the two were found on the floor, their heads and the upper parts of their bodies burned to a crisp. They lived alone in the house, and are supposed to have been murdered by some one who afterward set the building on fire to hide the greater crime.

A despatch from Saco over the Atlantic & Pacific Telegraph Line, Monday evening, says a tramp who stole a dozen sheets from a clothesline, stuck on the line a paper on which was written, "I believe I have got them all!" A man with 195 stop-over checks and about 250 tickets over the Boston & Maine Railroad, was arrested in Saco, where he was endeavoring to sell them.

New Hampshire Items.

Two large barns belonging to the estate of Samuel Herbert of Concord were burned Saturday evening. Two horses and a large amount of hay in one of the barns were consumed. Loss $5000.

Hon. Charles E. Bartlett, one of the oldest and most prominent citizens of Great Falls, for many years in the dry goods trade, died Saturday morning last. Mr. Bartlett was seventy-three years of age, a life-long democrat of the Jackson school. He had served as State Senator from York County, Me., and held various other offices of trust in New Hampshire and Maine.

Light Artillery Tactics.

The Bureau of Ordnance, Navy Department, have just published a new system of Light Artillery Tactics, by Lieut. Thomas B. M. Mason, U. S. N. The new features are a drill adapted to all the different guns in the Naval Service; arming the numbers not actually necessary to the working of the gun with rifles, that they may become the Infantry reserve of the pieces, and that they may be employed as skirmishers, to cover a movement, or to protect the battery from the enemy's skirmishers, its most dangerous foe; the withdrawal of all fire arms from the men actually necessary in serving the piece, that they may learn to put their whole dependence in their guns. The system of deploying the battery, in order to take advantage of all cover for the guns, to cover more front, if necessary, to concentrate, if necessary, in fact, to make the battery as mobile as a line of skirmishers. These changes have been made to meet the most modern ideas in regard to the use of light artillery in the field. They are in advance of anything thus far published either here or abroad.—Army and Navy Journal.

True Politeness.

A poor Arab going through the desert, met with a sparkling spring. Accustomed to brackish water, a draught from this sweet well in the wilderness seemed, in his mind, a present fit for the caliph. So he filled the leather bottle, and after a weary tramp, laid his humble gift at his sovereign's feet. The monarch, with a magnanimity that may put many a Christian to blush, called for a cup, and drank freely; and then with a smile thanked the Arab, and presented him with a reward. The courtiers pressed eagerly around for a draught of the wonderful water, which was regarded as worthy such a princely acknowledgement. To their surprise, the caliph forbade them to touch a drop. Then, after the simple hearted giver left the royal presence, with a new spirit, he explained his up in his heart, the monarch explained the motive of prohibition. "During the long journey, the water in his leather bottle had become impure and distasteful; but it was an offering of love, and as such I accepted it with pleasure. I feared however, that if I allowed another to taste it, he would not conceal his disgust. Therefore it was that I forbade you to partake, lest the heart of the poor man would be wounded."

— Three-year-old happened to have a want to be attended to just as his mother was busy with the baby. "Go away; I can't be bothered with you now." "What did you have so many children for, if you can't bother with 'em?" he unexpectedly inquired.

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Seeking in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. Its family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMERS' PAPER PUBLISHED. The Weekly TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed.

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article sought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

Hydraulic Cement Stone Pipe, And Cement Lined Water Pipe.

20 WATER STREET, - - - - - PORTSMOUTH.
NEAR GAS WORKS, - - - - - - - DOVER.

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Nov. 26, 1875.

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a part of it froze up last winter, we can't see any injury done. The Pipe was laid by you in a thorough manner, and we believe it to be the Best Water Pipe known, and if we lay any more shall surely lay the same, and you are to do the job if alive and well. Yours, D. CUMMINGS & CO.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented the most eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Muloch, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Thomas Hughes, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, political criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year,) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

As extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend be periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and am free from pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was sick two years ago I weighed only one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal 'continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, and they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have no my mind, I could not stand all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One bottle of your Pills gave me great relief; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. I have spent three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me good as those pills. I parties employed by the old ones. To all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

MAGIC

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is as tonic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

— USE —

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE
OF

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it endeavors itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

MENDUM, WHIDDEN & CO.,

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room: in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it at will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP,"

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, CHARLES MASON, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Research made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other opinions rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

Portsmouth Chronicle.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 142.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

In our last a sketch of John Taylor Gilman was given, who was prominent as one of the early Governors of New Hampshire, and who held that office fourteen years. At this time, a sketch of John Langdon will be given. He was also an early Governor, who in length of time as Chief Magistrate was next to Gov. Gilman, he having held the office eight years. It should be said however, that Gov. Weare of Hampton Falls was in this office nine years, but for the larger part he held that office during the war of the Revolution, and before the State had a Constitution similar to its present.

John Langdon was a native of Portsmouth, and was the only native of the town who has been Governor of the State. Gov. Woodbury, who resided in Portmouth while holding this office, was born in Francestown, and Gov. Goodwin was born in South Berwick, Me. Mr. Langdon was born in that part of the town called Sagamore Creek, about two miles south of Market square and near the Lafayette road. It is said he was born in 1738, and that when old enough to attend school, he had to go to one in the compact part of the town, and that the distance was such, he could not go home at noon, and for his dinner he had corn bread, which he carried with him. He served in the store of Daniel Bridge. He made some attempts at a seafaring life, but the troubles with England induced him to leave that and give his services to his country. He espoused the cause of the Colonies with great ardor, and went into the service. He served for a time in Rhode Island under Gen. Sullivan, and was present at Burgoyne's surrender at Saratoga. His horse pistols used in the war, in 1873 were presented by a grandson to the New Hampshire Historical Society, and are in the Society's rooms in Concord.

He was a member for several years of the Provincial Assembly, and Speaker of that body. He was at one time during the war Judge of the Court of Common Pleas, also Delegate to the Continental Congress. After the State Constitution went into operation he was a Senator in the State Legislature. He was one of the Delegates from this State that helped frame the United States Constitution. In 1788 he was chosen Senator to Congress and was re-elected in 1794. He served in Congress during the After this he was again a member of the State Legislature and Speaker of the House. Mr. Langdon was Governor first in 1785. The two following years Gen. Sullivan was in office. In 1788 he was chosen again. Then having been chosen Senator in Congress others were Governors till 1805, when Mr. Langdon was chosen Governor for the third time. Mr. Gilman had held the office several years. Parties were federalists and republicans; Mr. Langdon was a republicans; Mr. Langdon had 16,000 votes and Mr. Gilman 12,200. In 1806, '07, '08, Mr. Langdon was chosen without much opposition. But in 1809 he was beaten by Judge Smith of Exeter who had 369 votes over him. In the next election, 1810, Mr. Langdon had 159 votes more than Mr. Smith, and was chosen. In 1811 he led Mr. Smith by 3,045 votes. This was his last election. At the close of the political year he retired to private life, being seventy-four years of age.

Gov. Langdon built the large house on Pleasant street, a few years since owned and occupied by Rev. Dr. Burroughs. In that he died. It is a large mansion house and makes a fine appearance. Gov. Langdon died Sept. 18, 1819, aged 81 years. His wife was Elizabeth Sherburn. We think they had but one child, a daughter. Langdon, a town incorporated in 1787, and in Sullivan County, was named in honor of him.

Vienna Bread.

The women say the rolls at that "Vienna bakery" were mixed with milk. Very likely. There were plenty of milk cans around, and the bakers were paid well enough to afford to use milk. The remarkable thing about that bread was that it was never sour nor fermented within a shaving of the acid point, as baker's bread so often is. Some think the putting of so many fingers to each dough ball is a humbug, calculated to pull the wool over the eyes of private enterprise, but I guess the passing of the dough through the hands of half a dozen lusty fellows has a basis of science. The science of working men to one end in gangs is involved, as well as the science of bread making. It hatches or kindles yeast to give it plenty of warm palm oil and one may suspect bread to be the stronger from much contact with strong knuckles. Kneading certainly makes the grain of the loaf finer, and where much is to be done, and done uniformly, as at that Vienna bakery, between the man who weighs the dough and the artist who arranges the finished dabs for baking, it would be difficult to secure an even quality in the product by any other means. Were every baker man in such a gang to work upon his own hook, then every fellow would impress his individual stamp upon each batch of bread, changing, too, with his moods and tenses. Dough in the hands of a cold-fingered chap does not rise so quickly, you must know. Ask your Kathleen, Nancy, Christine, or experienced Deborah—good, thoughtful bread makers all—how this is. They'll tell you it is rare to make every loaf in the batch of the same quality. Family bread comes out in greater or less variety, like children of the same family. Manufactured goods, to attain character, credit and popularity, must be alike and graded to a standard that often sacrifices spurts of excellence in a general average that is strictly, though uniformly, second rate. Every other fellow in that gang of bakers might have been a slouch, and yet leave the product fair, and improving, perhaps, while every other hand was a deft and faithful one. I have eaten as sweet rolls at hotels several times in the course of my travels, but they always charge pretty well for 'em! You must have known plenty of Yankee housewives, of the old style, who would be ashamed to make worse biscuit for tea. But the old style certainly did not run to so much crust. That crispness is a modern improvement for lunching and agreeable munching purposes, with coffee or meat, or cheese or fruit, that we may think the Vienna bakery for, if we please.—Hartford Courant.

Daily Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 20, 1876.

"Sailors' Rights."

Captain Peabody, of the American bark "C. O. Whitmore," at Hong Kong, and his first and second officers, Snow and Stafford, are known to have been guilty of great cruelty toward their crew, on the voyage from Cardiff; and to have tortured the third mate to death. There was much excitement at Hong Kong, and a public meeting requested the Governor to telegraph for permission to surrender the offenders to the American authorities. As extradition relations have been re-established between England and America, the villains cannot escape. The "Kearsarge" was watching the infernal commanded by Peabody, whose mates, or "pals," are quite worthy of him. If something shall not be done to put a stop to the cruelties that are so common in American ships, our mercantile marine will become infamous wherever it shall carry our flag. And what associations for that flag! Nothing but stripes!—Traveller.

The Traveller need not fear that "our mercantile marine will become infamous wherever it shall carry our flag," on account of the brutalities practiced on board of American ships, for it has been infamous for such cruelties for the past twenty years, to our certain knowledge; how much longer we cannot say. Twenty years ago the writer of this found that in British ports the generic term for vessels bearing the American flag was "Yankee floating hells;" and though his national pride at first prompted him to resent the insult, an experience of a dozen years and more in a favorable position for observation, satisfied him that the term was well deserved, and that the American mercantile marine is infamously disfor the hideous cruelties inflicted upon seamen. The murder of an old sailor by a captain is but a trifling offence anyway, under American laws as constantly administered. It is but a short time since a brutal scoundrel named Grindle was sent to prison for two years in New York, for torturing a man to death on the high seas. Two years in prison for committing a cold-blooded murder under circumstances of peculiar atrocity! And it wasn't Capt. Grindle's first exploit in that line, either, for he was tried on a similar charge some four or five years before, and though the evidence was conclusive against him he was acquitted on a technicality, and set at liberty to kill more old sailors. The fact that he was a murderer (of sailors) would not in the least interfere with his getting a ship to command; in fact, with many employers it would probably be an additional recommendation.

More recently the master and mates of the barque Daring were arraigned at Newburyport, charged with inhuman cruelty to the seamen under their command, and with having murdered one man by abusing him until he sprang overboard to escape further torture—a not uncommon occurrence, by the way, in "Yankee floating hells." Pleading guilty to the charges of cruelty, they were fined, and the charge of murder (or whatever the offence of driving the sailor overboard to his death may have been termed) was placed on file!

Let a seaman or a crew, maddened by the abuse of drunken or simply inhuman officers, mutiny and murder a captain or mate, and the strong arm of the law is ready and willing to utterly crush the law-breakers, regardless of what provocation they may have had; an instance in point may be found in the recent case of the mutineers of the notorious "Jefferson Borden." But not one case in a hundred of the unprovoked murders of seamen by their officers is ever heard of, and when a case is brought before the courts and prosecuted to conviction the punishment inflicted is less than is visited on a sneak thief for stealing a great-coat from an entry-way. It is said that deep-water sailors of the present day are a poor lot compared with the mariners of thirty years ago, and it is true; but is it to be wondered at? Can it be expected that men will go to sea to be treated worse than dogs, and feel that their only redress lies in the knife or the incendiary match? P.

Congress.

Sunset Cox, on Saturday, delivered a partisan democratic speech in the House, disguising it as a eulogy on the late Speaker Kerr. Injecting a political harangue into an address on a dead man is a novel idea, but it is not decent. The Congressional buffoon had better stick to buffoonery, in which he "has few superiors and no equals."

In the Senate, Monday, Mr. Cragin of New Hampshire, from the Committee on Naval Affairs, reported back the bill in relation to the retired list of the navy and asked its indefinite postponement; it was so ordered.

Mr. Wright of Iowa, asked that the bill to reduce the President's salary from $50,000 to $25,000 per annum, and which was vetoed at the last session by the President, be taken up and passed over the vote. Bayard of Delaware, and Hamilton of Texas, opposed the motion, arguing that $50,000 per annum was little enough for the President of the United States. Senator Conkling was in favor of the motion, not that he thought $50,000 too much, but he was in favor of undoing all that was done at the time the salaries were raised, and then having a commission to consider the whole question. On the vote to upset the veto the yeas were as follows: Alcorn, Clayton, Cockrell, Conkling, Cragin, Davis, Dawes, Eaton, Edmunds, Goldthwaite, Harvey, Hitchcock, Johnston, Kernan.

In the House, Mr. Frye of Maine offered a resolution for a special committee to investigate the elections in the Fourth Alabama and Sixth Mississippi Congressional Districts. The House refused by a strict party vote to entertain it.

Mr. Garfield laid before the House a despatch from one of the Congressional committee at New Orleans, saying "the despatch from Morrison to Randall is without the knowledge or consent of the committee, who have never been consulted on the matter," and asked to have it referred to the judiciary committee, to whom Randall had had Morrison's despatch referred. Agreed to. [Morrison's despatch referred to the refusal of the Western Union Telegraph to break faith with its patrons on the demand of a partisan committee.]

News and Notes.

Mr. Dunbury, of Saco, Me., was arraigned on Tuesday for having in his possession unlawfully a lot of Boston & Maine Railroad tickets, and was bound over in $500 to appear at a higher court. Committed in default of bail.

A despatch from Biddeford over the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Line, Tuesday, says: The gale of Saturday was a hard one for shipping in our lower harbor, and small craft in and about the Pool were somewhat damaged. The small fishing schooner "Cora" lay at anchor outside of Wood island, but during the afternoon parted one of her chains, and the captain, deeming it unsafe to remain on board, took his small boat and landed on Wood island, where he remained for the night. The Cora rode out the gale, but next morning was so iced up that her sails could not be set; a passing tug was signalled, came in and towed her to the Pool. The Cora is a small schooner of about thirty tons, and was on her way from Portland to Cape Ann. During the gale another schooner, whose name is not given, lost her rudder outside of Wood island but fortunately was got safely inside.

In Juliastown, N. J., John Hageman, a storekeeper and conspicuous resident, was [illegible] by Jos. Pancoast, a constable, who charged illicit intimacy of Hageman with Pancoast's wife. Hageman will probably die. Pancoast was arrested.

The packet schooner Sea Nymph left Sherbrooke, N. S., for Halifax on the 5th instant, and has not since been heard of. There were several passengers on board.

Ex-Secretary Bristow's daughter was seriously injured in Washington on Monday by a runaway accident.

During the heavy and widely extended snow-storm of Monday, Boston had a thaw, lasting from noon to about six o'clock. At about five o'clock a vivid flash of lightning, accompanied by a heavy clap of thunder, astonished the public, and especially the family of Mr. Marvin Binney, whose house, situated in Somerville, was struck and slightly injured.

Mr. Daniel Gilpatrick, an old and respected citizens of Kennebunk, Me., while on a visit to some friends at Boston Highlands, Saturday evening, fell back in his chair and expired without a struggle. He had been in unusually good health up to the moment of his death.

Brig Wild Horse, from New York for Halifax with coal, was dismasted and abandoned on the 17th inst. off Seal Island. The crew were rescued by the steamer Dominion.

Mr. Poor, of Portland, piloted steamer Sardinian out of Portland harbor on Monday. In trying to get back his boat filled and sunk, but he was saved by a tug. He says it is the roughest storm he has seen for fourteen years.

A costly mansion on Dartmouth street, Boston, owned and occupied by Mr. Hollis Hunnewell, was damaged $50,000 by fire Monday night, and a chambermaid suffocated.

Miss Bertha Von Hillern is attempting to walk 350 miles in six days at Boston Music Hall. She walked seventy-six miles on Monday.

Miss Patty Mayo of Wellfleet, Mass., a lady 77 years old, was found dead in the road on the 12th inst. She had lived alone, and it is supposed she became frightened in the gale of Saturday night, 9th, and attempting to reach a neighbor's was exhausted by the severity of the gale. There were marks on the ground that showed she had crawled some distance.

The latest advices from Mexico indicate that, having deposed Lerdo from the Presidency, Diaz and Iglesias have quarrelled and marshalled their respective forces against each other. Diaz proclaims himself Provisional President.

New Hampshire Items.

The "Old Whitcomb House" in West Swanzey was destroyed by fire on Sunday night. It was owned by the Stratton Mills Company, and was occupied by four families.

The house of Joseph Daignan, a wood and lumber trader, who resides near Suncook, was robbed of $5000 Friday morning. The thief left no clue by which he might be traced, but detectives are working up the case.

A. C. Hurlbut, engineer, was severely injured at East Lebanon, Monday, in attempting to jump on a train while in motion. His foot slipped and he was thrown under the baggage car. He was struck by the rear trucks and drawn along the track a distance of about 300 feet.

Election Notes.

Dispatches from Florida state that the Supreme Court will grant a mandamus requiring the Board of Canvassers to reopen their returns and include omitted votes. This will not change the electoral vote given for Hayes, but it may secure the election of a democratic Legislature and two democratic Congressmen.

"Perley," at Washington, informs the Boston Journal that "It is positively asserted by those who have opportunities for knowing that since the Presidential election at least twenty thousand men have been organized under democratic leaders in New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City, and that arms and equipments are in readiness for them. The officers and non-commissioned officers are all war veterans, and they will be in readiness to move when President Tilden makes a requisition on the Acting Governor of the State of New York for troops. This startling information is not given as a rumor, but as a positive fact, ascertained by the employment of detectives, who have rosters of officers, lists of the places of rendezvous and duplicate copies of the invoices of weapons purchased. It is doubtless a knowledge of the extent of these New York armed organizations and of others at the West which makes the Northern democrats so aggressive and abusive. The Southern democrats are much more reasonable, and many of them don't appear to care much who will be the next President."

That Indiana war meeting has done the business for Mr. Tilden. It was of more service to the republicans than Cronin's gymnastics in Oregon.—Tribune.

The St. Louis Times, the recognized organ of the Missouri democracy, says:

"The democracy of Missouri have no time to lose. They should inform their fellow democrats whether they intend to contribute the necessary amount of physical aid to place Mr. Tilden in the White House or not. They must not say they will, however, unless they mean it."

The next candidates for President and Vice President will be Hampton, of South Carolina, and Grover, of Oregon.—Madison (Wis.) Democrat.

A Prime Remedy for a Painful Disease.

The pangs endured by the rheumatic are attributed by scientific pathologists to the contact of a certain abnormal acrid element in the blood with the sensitive covering of the muscles and joints. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, being a superb blood depurent, is admirably calculated to expel this impurity, and by removing the cause to allay the pain and feverish [illegible] ceasful remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and gout, as well as a reliable means of counteracting those diseases, is a fact amply evidenced by voluntary certificates emanating from those whom it has cured, and attested by medical practitioners of high repute. It is likewise a sovereign curative of dyspepsia, constipation, liver complaint, urinary troubles and general debility, as well as the most popular and successful antidote to malaria extant.

SUCH IS THE PURIFYING, HEALING OPERATION OF GLENN'S SULPHUR SOAP that formidable abscesses and purulent ulcers, as well as the most obstinate skin diseases, are cured by it. It expels proud flesh and is highly anti-putrescent.

The Grand Central Hotel, the largest in New York, has made another innovation, and "tumbled" its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam has gained a reputation which places it in the front ranks of curative agents. It has been in the market but about four years. It is now recommended by the best physicians because it cures every time. Price 35 cts.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental surroundings, with drawings by Slamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sundayschool," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Veterans' Christmas," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, Edward Eggleston, Edward Atkin, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa May Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science ever given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to be in all this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. * * * The literature and art of the illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the prices of Volumes 1 and 2 have been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so it will only give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The Green bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Send the money with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Scamperings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are promised:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven Oaks" gave the highest reputation to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but when by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mr. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Wool Factory;" in the November number, and "Food Lads, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Jenny's Work for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the best pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more useful and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

SCRIBNER & CO., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

E. G. PIERCE, Jr., P. M.

CHRISTMAS IS COMING.

So is New Year's Day. It is a good time for those who can afford it, to be liberal, not only to the poor, but to their friends. There is money enough in the country, if it was only being circulated, to make times good, —in fact, there is about as much money as ever; people need food to eat and clothes to wear, as much now as six years ago; surplus stocks of goods no longer exist, having been used up since manufacturing was checked, and new goods are required; yet trade is very dull compared to what it was before the panic, manufactures revive but slowly, and neither food nor clothing are so easily purchased now by many as they were a few years ago, notwithstanding prices are much lower than then. Now, economy is a good thing when not carried too far; but we think a little judicious extravagance on the part of those who have money to spare would benefit themselves and the country much more than for them to button their breeches pockets, shout "hard times," and count their dollars over every night to see that none have gone adrift. [Having got so far in our article on Christmas, we fell in with the following in the Worcester Gazette; and as it is easier to write with the scissors than the pen we clipped it, altered a few words, and hereby adopt it as our own, without credit.]

Certainly, there is no call for the rich to pinch themselves at this time. They have always a margin, and in the next world their bank accounts will avail them nothing. Men on regular salaries can buy more for a dollar now than for many years before. Remember the poor first; after that live generously,—always within proper bounds, but still generously. From extravagance the country rushes to the other extreme of pinching parsimony. The dollar ceases to circulate from hand to hand and the nation suffers. This is not the time to preach economy. There is something too much of it among those who do not need to practise it, and whose liberality would now count double, it is so much needed by the community. It is not good for the soul to neglect the custom of making Christmas gifts, be they ever so humble; nor to fail in observing the festival, be it in a fashion ever so quiet and unostentious. And in making purchases for the holidays, it is now more than ever the duty of every citizen to buy at home. This we say openly is one of the main points we desire to enforce in this Christmas sermon. The business men of Portsmouth,—and the same is true of every other city, great or small,—have seen hard times this year. They have fought a good fight and kept up their spirits nobly. They deserve encouragement at the hands of the people at large, and especially from professional men and persons of means. "Live and let live" is a good motto enough, in a selfish world, but it goes but a little way. "Live and help others live," is a far better and more Christian sentiment, and the Christmas time is the season above all others to practice it. We find a great deal of local pride; we should be glad to see a great deal more of unselfish public spirit. The city may now fairly boast that it can supply every reasonable wish or want in the way of merchandise, useful or ornamental. The business men have a right to ask the reward of their enterprise. It is their just due and not a charity that every person who has the means should do what they can to help tide them over the dull times. A shawl, or a silver fork, or a carpet, or a writing desk, or a picture is none the better for being bought in Boston or New York, and to speak plainly it is snobbish to think that it is. The first and best way to build up the city is for men of means to spend their money at home. The "bearing of these observations," we need hardly say is, in the application of them. We have urged similar considerations in the past, and at the present time they have ten-fold the weight that they ever had before. Once more we say, observe Christmas now and always, spend liberally according to your means, and buy what you want in your own city.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, Dec. 19.

John Barry, severe case of drunk, fine $8, costs $6.90; will board it out at Brentwood.

JOTTINGS.

The sunken schooner Ceres, together with all her appurtenances and cargo of coal, will be sold at auction to-day at noon.

Joseph H. Foster, at his old stand, No. 1 Congress Block, has a large and choice stock of standard works by the most famous authors, gift books, toys, games and fancy articles, ornamental and useful, and suitable for Christmas and New Year's presents, which he is willing to exchange for gold coin, greenbacks or even the much despised silver, on favorable terms for the purchaser. Persons who inspect his stock are not thereby obligated to buy, though the probability is that they will do so. See advertisement.

The Wisconsin State Journal, referring to the organization of the State Assembly, pays the following compliment to a Portsmouth boy: "To fill another very important place in the organization of the Assembly in the same proper and satisfactory manner, would be accomplished by the election of Hon. W. A. Nowell of Milwaukee, Chief Clerk. Mr. Nowell was for one term or more, a member of the Board of Public Works in that city. He is an accomplished gentleman, possessing high character and standing among the business classes of his city. His peculiar fitness for the position in point of general qualifications, which are absolutely necessary for an intelligent discharge of its varied and responsible duties is beyond all question. When such a man as W. A. Nowell consents to be a candidate for Chief Clerk of the Assembly, he confers a favor upon that body. He comes forward not as a place hunter, or one pushing his own claims, but rather as a gentleman willing to serve in that capacity, and to give the Assembly the benefit and advantages of his many acquirements for this position of trust and responsibility."

It was the fishing schooner "Cora," not the "Coral," as before reported, that was towed into Wood island pool on Sunday by steamer Tiger while on her way to this port from Portland.

At the annual conclave of DeWitt Clinton Commandery, Knights Templar, Monday evening, the following were elected officers for the ensuing term: Eminent Commander, Washington Freeman; Generalissimo, William P. Walker; Captain General, Albert R. Hatch; Prelate, John Christie; Senior Warden, Charles W. Gardner; Junior Warden, John H. Cheever; Treasurer, Wingate N. Ilsley; Recorder, James F. Jenness.

Chapman's Fifth Avenue Theatre Company had a good audience, Tuesday evening. The play and the company have been "cracked up" pretty highly by the papers of places where they have been, but no higher than they deserve. The play is good; so is the scenery; and the acting is very far ahead of what is usually offered by travelling companies. The press in places where this company is to play "Pique" need not fear to guarantee their readers their money's worth of entertainment at the show.

An unknown schooner is reported to have been seen on fire off Salisbury Beach, Monday evening. Soon after she was discovered she blew up.

Sagamore Lodge, No. 258, Knights of Honor, elected the following officers Monday evening for the ensuing term: Past Dictator, George H. Griffing; Dictator, Clarence B. Mason; Vice Dictator, R. H. Perkins; Assistant Dictator, E. H. Leslie; Reporter, G. A. Perkins; Financial Reporter, W. O. Sides; Treasurer, Plumer D. Norton; Chaplain, S. W. Clarke; Guide, A. M. Lang; Guardian, E. E. Sawyer; Sentinel, S. B. Cunningham; Trustees, Joseph H. Gardiner, Elbridge G. Peirce, Jr., Washington Freeman; Representative to Grand Lodge, Elbridge G. Peirce, Jr.; Alternate, J. H. Gardiner. Washington Hall is to be immediately fitted up for the uses of the Lodge.

A form of diphtheria is prevailing here among children, which is quite violent. The symptoms are bad swellings in the throat, sore throat, white spots on the throat, resembling canker, and general prostration. With these symptoms a gargle of diluted alcohol has been found beneficial in the early stages.—Times.

The Convention of the various Temperance organizations will meet at Sons of Temperance Hall, this (Wednesday) evening at half-past seven o'clock. All the clergymen in the city are invited to meet with them. This meeting will be one of great interest, and it is desirable that every delegate should be present.

The spacious, handsomely arranged and well filled book, room paper and fancy goods store of Mr. Mercer Goodrich, under the City Rooms, is a great improvement to look at over the meat shop that had been kept there for many years previous to Mr. Goodrich's taking the stand. With the room at his disposal he is enabled to so display his large and well selected stock that his patrons can see almost anything they may happen to want without having to ask for it. His goods are all new, he has a great variety of them, and will be pleased to exhibit them to any and all who may call, whether they purchase their Christmas presents of him or not. He has an advertisement in this paper, which see for further particulars—and then call at his store.

Ship Anna Decatur, Proctor, of this port, at New York from Antwerp in ballast, was seventy five days on the passage, and reports first twelve days had heavy westerly gales; split fore and main topsails; Oct. 26, in a heavy gale, sprung foremast head; had heavy gales the past twenty days, the wind going all around the compass; split several sails.

"Buffalo Bill," with a new company and a new play, will appear at the Temple on the evening of January 3d.

—"What station do you call this?" said a man as he crawled out of the debris of a railroad smash-up. "Devastation," replied the conductor.

—It is confidently affirmed that iron rails, more durable than steel rails, can be produced by a new process at a much less cost and at a price but £1 per ton in excess of ordinary iron rails. Considering that steel rails, when worn out, are worth but little, and that this new rail will be worth two-thirds of its original value for reconversion, the long agitated question of iron vs. steel would seem to be determined.

—Mr. Longfellow, it is said, once received a letter requesting him to compose an acrostic, the first letters of which should spell "My sweet girl." The applicant added, "Write as if it were some beautiful girl with whom you were in love—just as if it were for yourself." At the foot of the letter were these words, "Send bill."

—A New York school master told a young miss that the word "obligatory" meant binding, whereupon she laid her hand upon her hand, and after a brief cogitation, handed the teacher this sentence: "The obligatory of my spelling book is worn out." He fainted.

—If you wish to be respected kill all kindly impulses of your nature; if you wish to be made a fool for others' pleasure let your heart influence instead of your brain.

—The Newark papers tell of a man who was "dangerously stabbed in the twelfth ward." That blow must have struck him right where he lived."—Alta California.

—The man who gave the clergyman four thousand dollars for marrying him a few years ago, has lost his property and become a depraved sewing-machine agent.

The New-York

TRIBUNE.

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The servant of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it will never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. In Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in pure politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respecting course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and strong corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Nov. 26, 1875.

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a great deal of frost has taken place, we can see no injury done. The Pipe was laid by you in a thorough manner, and we believe it to be the Best Water Pipe known, and if we lay any more shall agree by the same, and you are to do the job if alive and well. LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serial and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Muller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Jas. A. Froude, Mrs. Mulock, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, the Story, Anonymous, Rushin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, political criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading furnished; while for those desiring the choicest of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make it still cheaper, viz.: to new subscribers, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading weeklies, a new subscriber, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in "command of the whole situation."

An extra offer also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of 1876, containing, besides other valuable reading, the first instalments of a new and extremely powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the periodical to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

"Unquestionably the best sustained work of the kind in the World."

Notices of the Press.

The Magazine has attained in its one quarter century and more of existence to that point where it may be said of it, in the words of Dr. Johnson, "It is vain to blame and useless to praise." The lustre of its long-ago-attained reputation has increased as the years have passed, and its future seems as bright if not brighter than at any time since the golden hue of prosperity settled around its later and best years.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Harper's Monthly is marked by the same character, tastes which gave it circulation from the first with the better class of readers. It combines reading matter with illustrations in a way to make clear and vivid the facts presented. Pictures merely designed to catch the eye of the ignorant are never inserted.—Chicago Journal.

Notices of the Press.

Harper's Weekly should be in every family throughout the land, as a purer, more interesting, higher-toned, better-illustrated News Journal is not published in this or any other country.—Commercial Bulletin, Boston.

The Weekly is the only illustrated paper of the day that in its essential characteristics is recognized as a national paper.—Brooklyn Eagle.

The leading articles in Harper's Weekly on political topics are models of high-toned discussion, and its pictorial illustrations are often convincive argument of no small force.—Examiner and Chronicle, N. Y.

The Weekly has to a still larger degree distanced all competitors as an illustrated newspaper. Its editorials are among the most able of their kind, and its other reading matter is at once learned, brilliant, and amusing. Its illustrations are abundant and of rare excellence.—Christian Advocate, N. Y.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after a dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

OF

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, the choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving (usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

MENDUM, WHIDDEN & CO.,

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Engineers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every Branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all Industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the most widely illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms: $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice.

A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP! For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to your selves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants. We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in Thousands of Cases. It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic. We believe it is the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—and ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. Sold by Druggists throughout the world. dfeb15

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS. R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for a Attorney to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are saved to inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

A Thanksgiving Dinner That Counted.

At a reunion on Thanksgiving Day of the family of one of the old residents, in which there are four solid sons and one solider daughter, three average daughters-in-law, and a medium-sized son-in-law, with grandchildren enough to make the number who were present up to fifteen, the following statistics were taken:

	Pounds.
United weight before dinner	1,897
United weight after dinner	1,897½
Net gain	⅝
Average gain per person	2 7-10
Greatest gain of any person	4½
Smallest gain of any person	¼
Greatest weight before dinner	188
Greatest weight after dinner	189½
Smallest weight before dinner	28
Smallest weight after dinner	28½

The dinner was pretty thoroughly settled by an half-hour's ride perpendicularly upon the hay-rack, which we believe was prescribed by the medicine man of the family, and fully endorsed by all.—Clinton (Mass.) Courant.

Laughter as Medicine.

Laughter has often dissipated disease and preserved life by a sudden effort of nature. We are told that the great Erasmus laughed so heartily at a satirical remark that he broke a tumor and recovered his health. Joubert gives two similar instances. A patient being very low the physician, who had ordered a dose of rhubarb, countermanded it, and the medicine was left on the table. A monkey in the room, jumping up, discovered the goblet, and having tasted, made a terrible grimace. Again putting only his tongue to it, he perceived some sweetness of the dissolved manna, while the rhubarb had sunk to the bottom. Thus emboldened, he swallowed the whole, but found it such a nauseous potion that after many strange and fantastic grimaces he ground his teeth in agony, and in a violent fury threw the goblet on the floor. The whole affair was so ludicrous that the sick man burst into repeated peals of laughter, and the recovery of cheerfulness led to health. Another case recorded is that two individuals were lying in one room very sick—one with brain fever and the other with an aggravated case of mumps. They were so low that watchers were needed every night, and it was thought doubtful if the one sick of fever would recover. A person was engaged to watch one night, his duty being to wake the nurse whenever it became necessary to take the medicine. In the course of the night both watcher and nurse fell asleep. The man with the mumps lay watching the clock and saw that it was time to give the fever patient his potion. He was unable to speak loud, or to move any portion of his body except his arms; but seizing a pillow, he managed to strike the watcher in the face with it. Thus suddenly awakened, the watcher sprang from his seat, falling to the floor and awakening both the nurse and the fever patient. The incident struck the sick men as very ludicrous, and they laughed most heartily at it for fifteen or twenty minutes. When the doctor came in the morning he found his patients vastly improved—said he had never know so sudden a turn for the better—and they both got well.

—Norwich Bulletin: When he invited her to marry him, she gazed into his face and tenderly inquired if he knew what a costly thing he had asked for—a woman's life, a woman's wondrous love. Four months after the wedding he climbed through the scuttle on to the roof, and when a neighbor came with a ladder to take him down, he put it to him, as a fellow creature, whether it wasn't a man's duty to run when a woman rose up after him with a hot tea kettle in her hand.

—An Amazon on skates can cut a prettier figure than an 8. A group of lasses were skating merrily on the river near Omro, Wis., on Dec. 16, when a noisy, graceless scamp appeared upon the ice and began to annoy them in many ways. So persistent were his persecutions that the girls were resolving to take off their skates and go home, when the avenger glided from the opposite bank. It was only a girl—a coy, rosy, slender girl. She went to the young scapegrace, and seizing him by the collar dumped him upon the ice. She handled him as she would a feather duster. She took off her dainty glove and cuffed his ears till he roared for help. She dragged him along the ice and rolled him into a snow bank. She also said something. She remarked that if he ever troubled them again there would be a coroner's inquest on the river.

—Macbeth with variations was performed in the Circuit Court-room at Saginaw, Mich., last Thursday. Freeman Cragin was charged with murdering his brother-in-law, Charles Smith, and the victim's wife was called as a witness. To the amazement of the court she confessed her own guilt. She had endeavored to induce her lover to shoot her husband and he had promised to do it, although she hinted at the time that he would not have the grit. When the time came his courage failed him and she had to hire the prisoner to undertake the job for the consideration of $500 in hand paid. The murder was committed on the very night the money was paid, and the woman was in the house—nay, in the very room—when the fatal blow was struck. She ran into the next room where her children were sleeping, put her fingers to her ears, and heard nothing more. The murderer dragged the body into the barn and set fire to the building. The woman ran out doors, and busied herself in saving such property as could be easily removed from the bed and then composedly returned to the bed wherein her husband had been murdered. She had watched the clock and knew when to expect the murderer's knock at the door. Her testimony was given with remarkable self-possession. She seemed to have lost every instinct of her sex, but not her reason.

The Democratic Bloody Shirt.

Having claimed the election of Tilden before the returns were in, so loudly and confidently that even the astonished republicans, until the returns proved the contrary, very generally conceded it, the democrats now do not take kindly to defeat, and threaten what terrible things they will do if Tilden is not counted in, as vigorously (if not as universally) as they claimed that he had carried the republican States of South Carolina, Florida and Louisiana before they had been heard from at all.

Indiana very properly takes the lead in this democratic waving of the bloody shirt. The Knights of the Golden Circle, Sons of Liberty, and kindred democratic organizations which were formed during the rebellion to make war on the Union, are reported to be now eager for the fray which is to put Tilden and Hendricks into the White House; and a whole lot of democratic meetings have been held, to impress the republican masses with a due sense of democratic desperation, and warn the country that the only way to escape a devastating war is to let the democrats have their own way. These democratic patriots have a better chance to go ahead now than they did during the war, for then a fearless patriot, Oliver P. Morton, was Governor of Indiana; while the present Governor is a man who was an avowed sympathizer with the rebels, (and, it is asserted, a Knight of the Golden Circle,) and a defeated candidate for the Vice Presidency in the late election. But for all this we do not imagine the Indiana Knights of the Golden Circle will kill a great many more men than they did during the war, should the country decline to give the Presidency to a defeated candidate at their dictation.

Then there is a soul-harrowing tale of twenty thousand men enrolled, officered, armed and drilled in New York and Brooklyn, ready to burst things generally if Tilden is not elected. But even this story seems to have little terror for the people at large; for though nobody doubts that among the degraded foreign population in the cities named, and from which Tilden got his majority in the State of New York, there are more than twenty thousand men willing to destroy the Union or do anything else not too dangerous, for pay, few are ready to believe that such a body of men has been enrolled or if enrolled that they would amount to anything more than a ferocious and brutal mob in case of a civil conflict.

The New Hampshire democracy also, through their State committee, have taken a hand at waving the bloody shirt. A member of that committee, who was a good secession sympathizer during the war, wrote a set of resolutions which were adopted, declaring that Tilden and Hendricks "shall be installed" President and Vice President of the United States. These great men (the democratic committee, we mean,—not the defeated democratic candidates) announced that Tilden and Hendricks "have been duly elected," and that "no intelligent person of any political party doubts it." Possibly that precious committee monopolizes the intelligence of the country—certainly their intelligence equals their modesty—but their manifesto does not seem to trouble anybody very much.

The "rifle-clubs" of the South, too, to the number of a hundred thousand or so, are to be in Washington on the 4th of March "to assist in the inauguration of President Tilden." That is down in the democratic programme. These rifle-clubs are largely made up of ex-rebel soldiers, officered by ex-rebel leaders, well drilled and well armed; how they can fight is well known, and should they attempt to inaugurate another rebellion (which we don't anticipate they will do) they would be a great nuisance to whoever opposed them.

All this talk and mass-meeting and resolving by the democracy—so similar to the action of the democracy just before the rebellion—leads some people to believe we are really to have another war; but such persons should remember that in one vital particular the circumstances now are far different from what they were then. Then the Presidential chair was occupied by a man who was either a weak or a willing tool of the rebels, and his Cabinet and nearly all subordinate officers of the Government were traitors; now the President is a man of iron will, and a patriot,—such a man as would in Buchanan's place have crushed out the slaveholders' war before it had got fairly under way,—and a knowledge of this fact will do more in confining the demonstrations of the democracy to a verbal war, than all the attenuated patriotism of the party. They evidently hope to terrify the country into giving Tilden what the ballot-box has not given him; but the country does not terrify worth a cent as yet, and we do not believe it is to be terrified with a war.

The Constitutional Amendments

Proposed by the Convention will be submitted to the people in the form of questions, which will be as follows:

1. Do you approve of striking out the word "Protestant" in the Bill of Rights as proposed in the amended constitution?

2. Do you approve of so amending the constitution that the General Court shall be authorized to provide for the trial of causes in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars and the title to real estate is not concerned, without the intervention of a jury, as proposed in the amended constitution?

3. Do you approve of the biennial election of Governor, Councillors, members of the Senate and House of Representatives, and biennial sessions of the Legislature, as proposed in the amended constitution?

4. Do you approve of a House of Representatives based upon population and constituted and chosen as provided in the amended constitution?

5. Do you approve of a Senate of twenty-four members to be constituted and chosen as provided in the amended constitution?

6. Do you approve of the election by the people of Registers of Probate, Solicitors and Sheriffs, as provided in the amended constitution?

7. Do you approve of abolishing the religious test as a qualification for office, as proposed in the amended constitution?

8. Do you approve of prohibiting the General Court from authorizing towns or cities to loan or give their money or credit to corporations, as proposed in the amended constitution?

9. Do you approve of changing the time for holding the State election from March to November, as proposed in the amended constitution?

10. Do you approve of authorizing the General Court to provide that appeals from a justice of the peace may be tried by some other court without the intervention of a jury, as proposed in the amended constitution?

11. Do you approve of authorizing the General Court to increase the jurisdiction of justices of the peace to one hundred dollars, as proposed in the amended constitution?

12. Do you approve of the proposed amendment prohibiting the removal from office for political reasons?

13. Do you approve the proposed amendment prohibiting money raised by taxation from being applied to the support of the schools or institutions of any religious sect or denomination as proposed in the amended constitution?

The vote is to be taken next March, and to be by ballot. If two-thirds of the people voting upon the subject vote Yea on any proposition it will be ratified, otherwise not. The Governor and Council will count the votes on the third Tuesday of next April, and the Governor will make a proclamation announcing the result.

Among the amendments which were proposed, advocated and beaten was one changing the time of the meeting of the Legislature from June to January and another to May. The argument against June is that it is a hot month, and that the members suffer from the heat, but there was a very general impression that if the session began in January, when the members have little to do at home, it would last until spring, and that a May session was to a certain extent open to the same objections. In this, as in other decisions of the convention, will be found evidence of the fact that the most of the members have had their turn at law making and do not expect to serve again. It was voted at one time to make Judges of Probate elective officers, but this was reconsidered by one majority. Propositions to abolish the Council, to make the Secretary of State and State Treasurer elective officers, and to abolish Registers of Deeds and transfer their duties upon Town Clerks, were voted down.

News and Notes.

The steamer City of Bristol, from Liverpool Dec. 6, for Philadelphia, put back to Queenstown. She lost foremast and bowsprit and all attached during a northwest gale. At noon on the 14th the second officer and four seamen were washed overboard and drowned.

When Mr. Thurman had the floor in the Senate, on the Oregon question, he caused Judge Hoadley's opinion on the Grover-Cronin fiasco to be read. The reading of that long-winded document had a singular effect, causing the Senators to retire to the cloak rooms and the occupants of the gallery to leave en masse.

At Memphis, Tenn., on the 18th, L. S. Hill, an old and highly respected citizen, was shot and killed by "Golly" Bond under the following circumstances: Bond had been paying attention to Hill's daughter, and visited him an hour before the shooting. After some conversation he went off, saying that he would return in an hour. Bond went to his own house, procured a double-barrel shot-gun, returned to Hill's and shot him through the door of his own house. After seeing that his victim was dead, he seized the young lady, actually dragging her over the dead body of her father, and carried her by force before a neighboring minister, demanding that he be married to her. The minister's wife called Bond's attention to the approach of a posse in pursuit of him. At this time some of the neighbors rode up to the minister's house, when the young lady was taken from her captor and locked up in a room secure from any possibility of his carrying out his threat to kill her. Bond had been riding all the night previous, and had so jaded his horse that he required another on which to make his escape. This was accomplished by deliberately shooting one of the horsemen, so wounding him that he fell from his horse, which Bond mounted and rode to the residence of a Mr. Persons, a few miles distant, and made a forcible exchange for a fine gray animal, on which he was last seen riding westward toward the Mississippi river, making his escape from his pursuers.

The coroner's jury in the case of Mrs. Cornelia Hersome, who was found dead in her room in Malden, Mass., and whose husband was arrested on suspicion of having caused her death, has rendered a verdict that she died from the effect of laudanum taken of her own free will.

The schooner Frank Atwood, from Porto Rico, brings intelligence of the American schooner Baracoa, Captain McClintock, of Boothbay, Me., previously reported seized by the Spanish authorities at Ponce. The Baracoa, it will be remembered, was libelled, and a fine of $4600 Spanish gold imposed on her for an alleged but not proven discrepancy between her cargo and manifest. This was in October last, and the matter went into Court as a charge of smuggling, but no evidence was adduced in support of the accusations. Captain McClintock, after unavailing efforts to bring the matter to a reasonable compromise, demanded his papers and the protection of the American Consul. He was told by that official that his papers would not be given up until he exhibited a clearance from the authorities, which they of course refused pending the non-payment of the fine. Finding it impossible to obtain the required documents, Capt. McClintock quietly made his preparations, and on the evening of November 28 slipped past the castle with a land wind. His departure was not noticed until morning, when a Spanish gunboat was ordered in pursuit of him. After an unsuccessful chase of several days she returned. When next heard of the Baracoa will no doubt be reported safe in some home port.

Capt. Webster of the English steamship "Nestor," and formerly captain of the National line steamship "England," writes to a friend in Brooklyn that he and all the passengers and crew saw the sea serpent in the Straits of Malacca the 26th of September. He says it was 500 feet long, 50 feet across the back and elevated its head fully fifty to sixty feet out of the water at times. Something like a sea serpent, that.

The Bureau Veritas gives the following statistics of marine disasters for October, 1876, concerning all flags: Sailing vessels reported lost:—55 English, 20 American, 15 French, 13 German, 12 Norwegian, 5 Danish, 5 Spanish, 5 Swedish, 4 Italian, 2 Dutch, 2 Portuguese, 2 Russian, 1 Brazilian, 1 Greek, 11 of which the nationality is unknown; total, 153. In this number are included 6 vessels reported missing. Steamers reported lost—9 English, 2 American, 1 German, 1 French, 1 of which the nationality is unknown; total, 14. In this number is included 1 steamer reported missing.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The edition for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual, known as Hostetter's Almanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America, and indeed in every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

Without a shadow of doubt the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, soreness of the throat, asthma, influenza, catarrh, whooping cough and lung diseases, is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Price 25 cts.

Hurrah for the good old times. The Grand Central Hotel, New York, the leading hotel announces ante bellum prices. It has reduced rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Hope Told a Flattering Tale,
But never was accomplished so without a preparation for the toilet, as that delightful preparation "Sozodont." So cool and refreshingly agreeable to the mouth and teeth, hardens and invigorates the gums, gives pure and healthy tone to the breath, cleanses, beautifies and preserves the teeth, and arrests decay.

Spalding's Glue with brush, always ready.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

JOTTINGS.

Many persons will be pleased to hear that Hon. Levy Odell, who has been seriously ill for some weeks, is improving and bids fair to fully recover in a short time.

The Annual Register of Rural Affairs for 1877, published at Albany, N. Y., by Luther Tucker & Son, is mailed to any address for the nominal sum of 30 cents. It is the oldest (and now the only) publication of the kind, and contains 150 pages of practical matter, interesting to every resident in the country, illustrated with no less than 140 beautiful engravings, almost all original. We notice particularly a capital article on "Practical Ventilation," which discusses this all important topic in a clear and at the same time scientific manner, giving fully illustrated descriptions of all the improved systems. Elaborate almanac pages are prefixed, and a very useful feature is the "Farmer's Register," which gives the address of about all the reliable dealers in every thing a farmer needs to buy—live stock of all kinds, seeds, implements, nursery stock, etc., etc.

Valentine Doane & Co. are fitting out schooners Clyde and Velocipede for winter fishing out of this port. Capt. White, of Newcastle, will command the Clyde, and Capt. Thos. Jamieson the Velocipede.

Union Rebekah Degree Lodge, No. 3, I. O. O. F., had an entertainment at Odd Fellows' Hall on Tuesday evening, when they were visited by the Rebekah Degree Lodge of Kittery, whom they received in fine style.

The amount of paper held by the banks of this city in the matter of Frank W. Davis, David Moulton and Jeremiah C. Carr, bankrupts, foots up $84,672.77, of which amount the defunct Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank held $56,304.48. Their indebtedness to individuals here is within a fraction of seventy thousand dollars, making a total indebtedness of nearly one hundred and fifty-five thousand dollars.

New Hampshire Items.

An Andover school teacher, 18 years old, left town suddenly Saturday, and was traced by her father to an obscure part of the village of Tilton, where it was found that she had a male companion. A man named Bean, alleged to have been her partner in the runaway, has been arrested, and is charged with adultery. He is a married man, and was formerly a resident of Manchester, but has recently been at work as a mechanic at Andover. He is of good appearance, about 30 years old, and his father resides at South Danbury. The young lady connected with the affair has heretofore borne an unblemished reputation.

There will be a hearing before the Governor and Council on Thursday next in behalf of Edwin W. Major, the condemned wife poisoner, with the hope of getting his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life.

At the request of the Exeter Reform Club, the liquor dealers in that town have shut down the sale of liquors.

The shoe business is beginning very flourishing. B. W. Hoyt Rix just completed a three-story addition to his factory, thereby largely increasing its capacity. The brick business is also increasing every year and gives employment to a large number of men.

Within a radius of one mile in the town of Haverhill, there are living thirty persons over seventy years of age.

Jason S. W. Bean of Andover, who was arrested on the charge of adultery, has been arraigned and held for trial in the Supreme Court in the sum of $1000. He has not yet obtained bail.

About fifteen inches of snow fell in Peterboro on the 19th. Trains were delayed several hours.

The second annual exhibition of the Western New Hampshire Poultry Association opened at the City Hall, Keene, on the afternoon of the 19th. The display of poultry is very fine.

In the County Court at St. Johnsbury, Vt., on the 19th, Judge Ross sentenced Henry Rivers to hard labor in the State Prison for five years, for grand larceny. John Caswell, an accomplice of Rivers, was sent for two years. Rivers has served a term in the New Hampshire State Prison for bigamy, has six wives and is only twenty-two years of age.

Election Notes.

Mr. Hampton's legislature in South Carolina on the 19th elected "Gen." M. C. Butler,—formerly of the Confederate army and later of the rifle club army of South Carolina, and manager of and leader in the Hamburg butchery of republicans in the interest of Hampton, Tilden and reform,—as Senator of the United States. South Carolina now has three U. S. Senators, two legally elected, and "Butcher" Butler,—but the latter has not yet taken his seat.

Warlike sounds continue to issue from Indiana, but they proceed from the large mouths of a few very small men. One excited reporter says that a new secret league, called the Constitutional Democratic Veteran Legion, is rapidly extending and increasing, and that its vowed object is to resist the inauguration of Hayes and proclaim Tilden President. The same authority adds that Dr. John C. Walker has prepared a speech in which he advocates Tilden or blood, and then remarks that the same ferocious doctor was for many years a fugitive from justice. The doctor is now red hot for Tilden and reform. There is also information that one package of 100 muskets has been sent to Indianapolis, concealed in a box which was marked "old clothes." That is proof enough for anybody. No wonder Mr. Morton went to Indianapolis. The United States Army, or at least one company of it, should be forwarded at once. A corporal's guard would send Dr. Walker and his whole pack of warriors by the shortest route to Canada, and there would be no more war talk from Indiana.—Tribune.

The Columbia, S. C., correspondent of the New York Times says the money paid to members of the A. Wallace Legislature was not from the Carolina Bank, but from the democratic political fund. No bank has advanced a cent to any member of the Hampton government. Speaker Macky is to soon publish a detailed statement of the organization of his Legislature, together with the evidence on which the votes of Edgefield and Laurens counties were thrown out. The Legislature will adjourn sine die on Friday.

As a general thing, the men who shout for another war are the ones who didn't have anything to do with the last one.—Providence Sun.

The action of the democratic House seems to evince a determination to refuse consent to any prearranged method of counting the Electoral vote. This situation has occurred but once in the history of our Government—in 1801. At that time, under the excitement of a tie between Jefferson and Burr, the House refused to agree with the Senate in the ordinary preparations. The Senate thereupon took the matter in its own hands, and passed a resolution notifying the House that it would be ready to receive it (the House) in the Senate Chamber, on the day appointed by law, to be present at the counting of the Electoral vote. Finding that it was likely to be left out in the cold, the House finally resolved to attend. It did so attend, and quietly watched the proceedings while Mr. Jefferson, President of the Senate, counted the vote, and certified to the result. The outcome in this situation will doubtless be the same.

"Standing on the Constitution of our country," says Mr. Wade Hampton, in his inaugural. "Trampling it under foot," is what he means.—Cinn. Times.

"The mode and manner of receiving and counting the electoral votes for President and Vice President of the United States are in plain and simple terms prescribed by the constitution. That instrument imperatively requires that the President of the Senate shall, in the presence of the Senate and House of the Representatives, open all the certificates and the votes shall then be counted. Congress has, therefore, no power, under the constitution, to receive the electoral votes or reject them. The whole power is exhausted when, in the presence of the two Houses, the votes are counted and the result declared. In this respect the power and duty of the President of the Senate are, under the constitution, ministerial."—Andrew Johnson's message, 1867.

It is very certain that the bluff game is not going to settle the Presidential question. The National democratic leaders know this, and they accordingly have restrained themselves, in their address of to-day, from appealing to the people to "rise up." The discussion in Congress seems to the public to make slow progress, but we believe that when the counting of the votes comes before Congress on the fourteenth day of February a legal solution of all existing questions will be secured.—N. Y. Post.

Information from South Carolina outlines the programme which Hampton intends to follow out. He will send a memorial to Congress, which will be entrusted to Gordon in the Senate and Hewitt in the House, giving the details of the recent election from his standpoint and a review of the action of the Returning Board and the counter-action of the Supreme Court. By that time the House Investigating Committee will have returned to Washington in time to support his claims, and he expects hearty endorsement from them. Meantime petitions will be circulated throughout the State with a desire to obtain the names of citizens, irrespective of party, who believe him to be lawfully elected Governor. Mass meetings will be held in the interest of these petitions, and if Hampton succeeds in obtaining recognition it will be matter of regret to persons who decline to sign the petitions. There will also be a movement among the democratic merchants and business men of the State.

In Augusta, Rev. H. W. Tilden is pastor of the Baptist church, and is highly esteemed, especially among the children of his parishioners. Recently a little five-year-old boy, who is a republican true-blue and thinks very much of the clergyman, was about to retire, and closed up his bedtime prayer with, "O Lord, bless father and mother, and bless Mr. Tilden; O Lord, you know which one I mean."—Bangor Whig.

A Few Statistics.

It is hard to realize the truth which statistics of marine disasters show and force us to believe. The number of vessels, both American and British, which are annually lost is startling. During the year 1875, 1052 American vessels suffered disaster on our shores, besides 85 foreign, giving a total of 1137. Of this number 477 collided, and 209 casualties arose directly from carelessness or ignorance; 312 were totally wrecked, causing the loss of an immense amount of property and 888 lives. In 1873-4 there were reported to the British board of trade 150 vessels not heard from after sailing or being spoken at sea. They are all supposed to have been lost, with the 2381 persons on board. Besides these, there were reported to the same authority 6084 vessels as having suffered wreck or casualty, resulting in the total loss of 1411 vessels and 5817 lives. During the ten years ending June 30, 1874, there were 29,098 wrecks, collisions and other accidents to vessels on or near the British I-les alone. Over twenty-five per cent were total wrecks, involving a loss of 8200 lives and the value of $90,000,000 in property. Of the vessels lost, 923 were known to be [illegible] years old, and twelve over [illegible] hundred.

—The skating [illegible] now very good. Sore throats have appeared among the boys, just after school begins, in the nature of an epidemic, and threaten to sap the foundations of our educational system.—Norwich Bulletin.

The New-York TRIBUNE,

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The sentiment of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth about all.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republicans, and concessions in the republican party; but it never ceases to be true to republican principles, nor ever comes to be true to the doctrines of civil rights, especially to those golden doctrines of civil rights, equal suffrage, the sanctity of the National credit, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the corner-stones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATING. The family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its columns, including Correspondence, Poems, Sketches, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMER'S PAPER PUBLISHED. THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE is done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed.

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every farmer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article of national sale in the markets of the world, and with unerring and almost infallible accuracy. Its Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other Markets are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES OF THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country, which is the best demonstration of the value of its paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in sound politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger editorial corps than any other newspaper, it is richer than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, and my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month Later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-two pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Sore Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 8, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir: I can now walk out every day, and am gaining in strength every day, and am able to walk as well as any man of my age in this town. I have tried many medicines, but find no medicine so good as DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They are the best pills in the world. They have done everything for me they claim to do, and I can truthfully say there are no other medicines so good as DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They certainly cure them of all the effects of exposure and hardship to which we soldiers, for they will cure the worst cases and pains caused from a bad state of the flesh. Please send me another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism One Pack for Twenty Years Cured by Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. The Best Medicine in the World.

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. DR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; I have to send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought for it, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his head to his bed or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been six days free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for nearly twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been lying, selling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most miserably. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through Mr. H. Kinsley, of Mobile, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if Quain's Condition Pills will cure anybody, I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to our address, Jas. Patton, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N.H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the trying climate of New England

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases: For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As a stitch in time saves nine, so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Cronp,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $7.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

Which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, as no other paper beyond doubt of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world. Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science throughout the world.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

IN connection with the Scientific AMERICAN, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Skeitches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a Volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 142 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Be sure and call for

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS.

R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs NO. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON.

After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure Patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Claims of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessary for business to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. EDDY as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"Mr. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY Applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases, and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART.

COMMENCED PAPERS-FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and one additional copy for one year, for the sixth name in a Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year, free to the person who forms the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the best farmers of all Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Departments continuous variety of information, and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind through the country, and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published and for sale by druggists and grocers.

A Little Retrospection.

Take the instance of the Jefferson-Burr election, which closely resembles the present political situation. If the reader will turn back to the few journals which existed then he will discover that the country labored, for nearly five months, under the persuasion that it was on the brink of revolution and of civil war. Jefferson and Burr had a tie for the Presidency, and Jefferson was to count the votes. The two Houses of Congress differed then in political sentiment. It was urged that both federalists and republicans were resolved to rule or ruin, and that the conflict could only be determined by the sword. The two Houses were wholly unable to agree upon a method of examining the electoral votes, and chaos seemed come again. Yet what was the outcome of it? The Senate took the matter into its own hands, the House yielded a quiet assent, Mr. Jefferson counted the vote (including the objectionable one of Georgia), the House completed the election, and the excitement died away as quickly as it had arisen. So completely was it forgotten two years thereafter that, in making constitutional changes as to the mode of electing a President, the method of counting the Electoral vote was re-enacted just as it stood.

Again, in 1825, we went through the same flurry. Four candidates received votes for President. Jackson led by a large plurality, both of the electoral and popular vote. Just after him came, in the succession named, Adams, Crawford and Clay. There was no majority, and the election must go to the House, which was known to be in opposition to the strongest popular candidate. Revolution was again the theme of popular talk—this time we were certainly going to the dogs—the people would never allow a defiance of the popular will. We should have two Presidents, and a civil war. The public prints teemed with sensational alarms beside which even the late efforts of the Cincinnati Commercial seem tame. Well, the election went to the House. But three candidates could be admitted under the Constitution, so Clay dropped out, being a few votes behind Crawford. The House chose Adams, though he had but 84 electoral votes from the people. It has been stated, and is largely believed, that the vote of Kentucky was directly bought for Adams by promising Henry Clay the chief place in his Cabinet; and yet, the election once over, the people submitted as quietly as to the decrees of Fate. The excitement died out almost instantaneously—there was not a ripple left upon the fair sea of our prosperity.

Again, 1844, we went into convulsions. Henry Clay, the undoubted choice of the majority, lost the election through losing New York, and lost New York through the meagre 5,000 votes cast for Birney. Fraud was alleged in New York, and proven in Louisiana; and once more we were assured upon all hands that we were going to the dogs, or that the dogs were coming to us. Yet Mr. Polk went into office serenely quiet, and pursued without interruption the most bungling and inefficient administration on record, unless we except that of Buchanan.

The crisis which followed Buchanan's administration does not belong to this time of precedents—it is sui generis—it was the coming to a head of the "irrepressible conflict," and in its course removed that conflict from our politics.

We may console ourselves, therefore, to-day, that the present excitement will pass away as easily as those others we have mentioned. Indeed, it is in rapid decline already. The money market, that sensitive barometer of National storms, refuses to be affected in any degree. The people are serene, even the politicians are becoming quiet. Such papers as find their own profit in it, strive to keep up the alarm, but are only made sport of for their labor. The democrats are striving to manufacture a little "indignation" for future party ends, but meet with indifferent success. The great mass of the people have quietly accepted the result; and will witness the peaceful inauguration of Hayes with pleasure and confidence.—Cinn. Times.

What "Adjournment" Means.

The verb "adjourn" is oftentimes used very loosely. It is pretty well settled among parliamentarians that an adjournment takes a body over at least until the next day. The primary meaning of "adjourn," as given by Webster, is "to put off, or defer to another day." If a body proposes to hold a second session on the same day it should not "adjourn," but "take a recess." When General Stewart L. Woodford, as Lieutenant Governor, was presiding over the Senate of New York, a resolution was adopted one day that the Senate hold another session that evening. When the hour of dinner had arrived some Senator moved that the Senate adjourn. Governor Woodford, having put the motion and declared it carried, announced that the Senate "stood adjourned until to-morrow morning at eleven o'clock." "But we've voted to have an evening session, Mr. President," exclaimed several Senators. "Can't help it," replied Woodford, "the Senate has just voted to adjourn, and this last vote overrides the other. To adjourn is to go over at least a day. The motion should have been to 'take a recess' if you wanted to meet before to-morrow. Too late now—the Senate stands adjourned until to-morrow morning at eleven o'[illegible] astonished Senators saw the [illegible], and went away sadder but wiser men.

—The bull-doze cocktail has just made its appearance at the fashionable bars. You must tilt about a teaspoonful of water into the glass and immediately intimidate it with as much whiskey as the glass will hold. Then when the count is made, throw the water out.

News and Notes.

The report of the Commission sent on the 24th of August last by the Government to procure the relinquishment by the Sioux nation of the Black Hills country and the right to establish three roads across the Indian reserve from the Missouri River to the Black Hills, with agencies either in the Indian Territory or on the Missouri River, has returned and submitted the report, which will probably be transmitted by the President to Congress at an early day. The Commission was entirely successful in all particulars.

A dory came ashore at South Truro, Mass., on the 16th, two men lashed to her, dead, thought to be two Portugese fishermen belonging in Provincetown.

Ship Pensacola, of Liverpool, 1421 tons register, with guano for New York, was abandoned 200 miles off Bermuda on the 17th, in a sinking condition. All hands saved.

W. B. C. Barber, assistant accountant of the Bank of Montreal, has irregulated the funds to the amount of $50,000,—according to one account $200,000. He is under arrest.

Miss Bertha Von Hillern completed the 188th mile at midnight on Wednesday, in her attempt to walk 350 miles in six days, at Boston Music Hall. Many prominent ladies and gentlemen of Boston, including Gov. Rice, Mayor Cobb, Rev. James Freeman Clarke and others, have been among the visitors. The Boston papers say "the young ladies from the Normal School, who were expected to walk with Miss Von Hillern on Wednesday, did not appear, but Miss Ricker of Portsmouth accompanied the lady, much to the gratification of the audience." The interest in the great test of female endurance is rapidly increasing, and every succeeding day brings a larger number of spectators, embracing the most cultured and respectable ladies and gentlemen in the community.

W. O. Fletcher, a broker of Westfield, Mass., was found by the police about 11.30 on the night of the 19th, lying dead in the snow, on Water street, New Haven. He had nearly $6000 in cash on his person.

Two passenger trains collided on the Boston, Barre & Gardner Railroad, Wednesday afternoon. Both engines were totally wrecked, being telescoped. Edward Wiley, an engineer, was severely if not fatally injured; Conductor Charles T. Myrick was badly bruised; Charles Farrar, a brakeman, lost a leg. Charles O. Lamb of Taunton, a passenger, died soon after being taken to Gardner. Several passengers were severely bruised.

Gov. Tilden has pardoned W. J. Ree, the notorious forger, who has served five months of a five years' sentence.

Rev. William Monck, a Methodist minister of Huddersfield, Yorkshire, who had turned Spiritualist medium, has been sent to jail for three months at hard labor under the vagrancy act.

Political.

The democratic press of the South is unit in speaking with disrespect and even contempt of the "red-eyed" warriors of the North. Thus the Atlanta Constitution, with a bitterness of sarcasm which rouses the suspicion that "overtures" have been made to it, says: "The war talk we see in the newspapers is not refreshing. It makes us shudder. There is something so sanguinary in the spectacle of a consumptive editor, with his shirt collar cut low in the neck and his pantaloons calling loudly for reform, squatting himself upon his eloquent haunches and firing off imaginary brass-pistols, that we involuntarily desire to retreat to the rear. Not that we are opposed to war—not at all; but if there is to be war we want the patriots of the North and West to have it out among themselves. The South has been crushed in the struggle, and the northern democrats have stood by and watched the crushing process with infinitely more curiosity than interest. Howbeit, the turn of the wheel has brought them face to face with the same deadly elements of despotism. If they submit—well. If they resist, they must fight on their side of the line."

The House of Representatatives, by a vote of 115 to 51, has decided that no privacy attaches to a telegraphic despatch. A mighty sight of respect for "the rights of the people" the democrats have, when such rights stand or are supposed to stand in the way of democratic partisan schemes.

At a consultation between Speaker Randall and Acting Vice-President Ferry, in regard to the political division of the joint committee to consider the question of counting the electoral votes, the former said he intended to appoint five democrats and two republicans. Mr. Ferry said he thought this an unfair division, and proposed that Mr. Randall should appoint four democrats and three republicans; then he, Ferry, would appoint in the Senate four republicans and three democrats. Mr. Randall agreed to this, but Mr. Ferry will not announce the Senate committee until after Mr. Randall appoints the House committee.

The New Orleans Republican publishes the sworn statement of Granville M. Pierce, a lifelong democrat of East Baton Rouge parish, La., from which we extract the following: "Granville M. Pierce, sworn, says—I reside in the parish of East Baton Rouge, on the road near the Granville spring road. Charles Robertson, a colored man living on my place, was dragged from my place and taken about three-quarters of a mile from his house to the forks of the roads, in a conspicuous place, and there hung to a tree, and I found his body there the next morning." On being "cross examined by Mr. Finney, democrat," Mr. Pierce said: "Myself and four or five of my neighbors visited persons suspected of killing negroes and advised them to stop as the people did not desire them to carry it any further. These parties neither admitted nor denied having any connection with these troubles. This is the only effort that I know of having been made to stop these troubles, and did stop them in my neighborhood after the hanging of Robertson."

Abe Hewitt, the great reform patriot who has taken the job to do by bullying and bluster what was not done by ballots—make Sam. Tilden President—stated on the floor of Congress that his letters during the late campaign were opened in the New York post-office. Postmaster James, of New York, thereupon sends to Hewitt the following: "I am informed that you charge, on the floor of Congress, that your letters, passing through this office, are or have been opened before reaching your hands. Do you charge that it is or has been actually or probably done in this office? If so, please supplement your charge with a motion for an immediate investigation, as I pronounce such an accusation utterly and absolutely false." Hewitt should be able to understand that language, without spectacles.

The Chicago Tribune has in its possession nineteen editorials, cut from as many Southern papers by a gentleman in Tennessee, which indicate that Mr. Tilden is still writing editorials through his bureau for the democratic papers. All of these editorials are exactly alike and arraign the Administration for attempting to defeat the people in their choice of President.

The Washington Republican gives a very definite idea of the past life of Congressman Fernando Wood in four columns of its issue on Tuesday. The article shows by the records of courts, by the testimony of officials and credible witnesses, that the new great Reformer has been a forger, a swindler, a perjurer, and, while Mayor of New York, an office broker.

I do not think that a Government which has withstood the shock of nearly four years of battle will now fall before the clamor of a mob.—President Grant.

Republicans will submit to everything that is right; they will submit, if they must, to great wrong; but they will not abandon the trust placed in their hands so long as they have the lawful power to protect it. Several propositions have been made by republicans looking toward an agreement upon a plan for counting the vote and declaring the result, or calling in the assistance of the Supreme Court upon questions concerning the powers of the Senate and House in respect to the counting; but thus far democrats have rejected everything. They have shown no willingness to accept anything from republicans but surrender,—and that they cannot have.—Boston Advertiser.

When the democrats come to investigate Mississippi, they will probably be able to bring testimony that the eighteen votes secured by the republicans in the four counties of Lowndes, Madison, Tallahatchie and Yazoo were the result of intimidation and outrage.

It is evident that if the democrats desire to reap the rewards of their victory they will have to install Tilden at the point of the bayonet. The Radicals, though beaten, do not intend to give up peaceably. We believe in making up one case thoroughly, in exhausting every peaceable remedy, and then, if it must come to that, we believe the democrats should fly to arms, as did their patriot fathers, and wipe the usurpers from the face of the earth. We believe that peaceable methods are best, if they can succeed; but if they can not, war, bitter, unrelenting war, is far preferable than a servile submission to tyranny, usurpation and thief rule.—Baton Rouge Advocate.

The Northern mind is shocked by the solemn declaration of Governor Chamberlain that "I have held my life by a frail tenure for the last three months," and the boastful utterance of General Hampton that he holds his opponent's life in his hand. Twice, during his brief term of office, has Governor Kellogg been fired upon while riding through the streets of New Orleans, and threats to assassinate him have been almost as numerous as democratic voters. It is full time the North was arousing to the perils involved in accepting Southern leadership in the party which preserved the Union.—N. O. Repub.

We think it is safe to suppose that none of those colored democrats who say they were bulldozed by Louisiana republicans, lived in East Feliciana. That was the parish where there was not a single republican vote cast.

The contempt of the Southerner for the Northern fire-eater is not confined either to ex-Confederates, or to mere mention. The Southern editors are as full of it as their readers are of the secession virus. In Richmond, Atlanta, everywhere, the papers declare their entire readiness for another war—to be fought between government and the Northern democrats. "Go in," they say to our Cox, and Wood, and Randall, and the Indiana remainder—men of the Golden Circle, "go in; above all things we should like to see another rebellion, with you, gentlemen, doing the fighting on one side or the other." But from Ben. Hill to the rankest ex-rebel in Louisiana, there is not a man of influence in the South who does not exhibit a wholesome regard for the uniform of the United States. In the old days of slavery, the Southern contempt for a Northern "dough-face" was usually covered by a decent reserve; now the disdain of the Southern secessionist for the Northern man with Southern principles, which he did not fight for, is open, unreserved, uttered in the most caustic terms and repeated with "damnable iteration." All the same there will be bluster so long as Mr. Tilden deems it essential to his case; but there will be nothing more. Gen. Grant will be President until his term expires, and he will see that his legally elected successor takes his place.—Providence Journal.

New Hampshire Items.

A terrible accident occurred on Monday night near the Fabyan House at the White Mountains. Two men named Pettingill and Bean took a handcar and rode out to the Twin Mountain House to attend a pleasure party. On their return they attached their car to a locomotive. Before going far one of the car-wheels broke, and almost instantly the car itself was smashed to atoms. Pettingill was thrown on to some rocks and instantly killed, his body being shockingly mangled. Bean was terribly injured, but it was thought he would recover.

Col. John Hazeltine, of Orford, got up as usual Wednesday morning, prepared to go to his day's work, laid down on a lounge and died at once without a struggle.

Capt. John L. Morrill, late Superintendent of the Nashua Poor Farm, has been paralyzed in the lower limbs from the effects of drinking water drawn through lead pipes.

A Temperance society, to be known as the Moral Suasion Club, has been organized in Manchester, under the old Washingtonian principles. William E. Moore, President; Frederick L. Kynes, Secretary. Their pledge prohibits ale, lager and cider.

The body of an old lady, who died twenty years ago, aged 82 years, was lately taken up for reinterment at Laconia, and found to be completely petrified. The body of her husband, which was buried by her side, had entirely decayed.

James Moriarty, forty-five years of age, fell twenty-five feet in the Stark cloth room, Manchester, Wednesday afternoon; he struck on his face and was badly disfigured. His right leg was broken and he was internally injured.

William N. Anderson, one of the oldest and most respected dry goods merchants at Dover, died in that city Wednesday morning of typhoid fever, at the age of seventy.

The house of Mrs. Mary A. Prescott, of Canaan, was recently broken into and a large quantity of silver-ware stolen.

—Mr. Dudley of Oakland, Cal., went to a masquerade ball recently in the character of a giraffe. His costume created much amusement, especially at the supper table, where he remarked that he must drink three bottles of champagne in order to wet his throat all the way down. On his way home at early hour in the morning he was extremely fatigued, and lying down under a tree-box fell fast asleep. A timorous policeman seeing the strange figure from a distance, and concluding rather hastily that a tiger or some other wild animal had escaped from the menagerie that was exhibiting in the next block, fired four shots at the recumbent giraffe, one of which perforated the padding, and is now embedded in Mr. Dudley.

—A very novel and at the same time interesting experiment according to the Lockport papers, is soon to be attempted in that city by Mr. Holly, the successful water-works pump inventor. This experiment is to heat the whole city with steam, after the same manner as it is lighted with gas. Unfortunately the entire programme is not published, as it would no doubt be interesting reading. It is not thought feasible to have one boiler do the job, but the city is to be divided in districts, and each district is to have its separate boiler. Mains from each boiler are to run to different houses, and all the occupant has to do is to turn on a faucet and obtain all the heat he wants.—Rochester Times.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for young folks that is overissued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining serial, "From the French," "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge,

Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number;

besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Stanton artists. The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Steeple," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Homes or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Pedigree of Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, Jonn G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer;

with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal it in the excellence of its contents, in the merit of the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. The literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS, Dr. Holland got up a children's complete set. These volumes contain more attractive reading than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $3 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for the year, only $12. State size with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (many illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Saunterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Bonn," by Eugene Schuyler; "Life and Education in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Sevenoaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to his mother's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Traftom, will be on the competition of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a plot and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL,"

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tool Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hapenny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest products of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary subjects, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, December 21.

John Williams, tourist, was ordered to Brentwood for two months, and to board out $6.90 after the two months have expired.

George Jason, tourist by profession, vagrant by Police Court brevet, was sent to jail for two months; costs $6.90. This Jason is not to be confounded with the gent who commanded the Argonauts of '49 when they went to steal the Golden Fleece, as he has never been able (judging from his appearance and the contents of his empty pockets) to steal anything more valuable than a chicken or a door-mat. He mildly suggested to the Court that he had rather take three months at Brentwood than two at the jail, but Judge Batchelder comforted him with the assurance that it would be three months before his time and costs were both worked out at the jail, and he once again turned adrift to beg and steal a living from the unfeeling world in which he is a peripatetic nuisance. This may not be exactly what the Judge said, but it is what he thought.

THE OWL CLUB.

Mr. H. W. Briant has on exhibition at his store a handsome stuffed specimen of the Arctic owl. This bird was evidently fitted out for cruising in regions where the latitude is higher than the thermometer. His legs and feet are covered with a dense coat of fine, hairlike feathers, only his long, uncomfortable-looking toe-nails protruding; his beak also is protected to its very end, his eyes and talons being all you can see of him for feathers. More of these owls have been seen about here this winter than we ever knew of before, which may possibly indicate unusually cold weather in the high northern latitudes.

Near his Arctic majesty is a barn owl—one of a species quite common in Europe and occasionally found in the Southern States, but very rarely in New England. This specimen was imported from Germany.

Next the barn owl is a most ridiculous and (to those who never saw him or one like him) impossible owl, about as big as a robin, his body being about one-half of him, and his head the other half. This absurd owl rejoices in the name of "Cady" (a corruption or contraction of "Acadian," we are informed,) owl, and small as he is he looks as wise as Minerva, her pet bird, and a member of Congress, all put together. Perhaps he actually does know as much as some members of Congress; he is a great thief, any way, and will devastate a large dove-cot in a night, or "get away" with a half-grown chicken, many times his own size. The three birds are well worth looking at.

THE NAVY YARD.

The board of officers appointed by Congress to determine whether any navy yards could be dispensed with, and if so what one, in their opinion, in which they recommend that the navy yard here "be not abandoned or dispensed with," gives the following reason for the recommendation:

First. On account of its value to the Government as a building and equipping station.

Second. Because it is in a harbor where the water is open in the coldest weather and the port is at all times and seasons accessible.

Third. As a refuge for vessels coming from a sickly station with an epidemic on board there is no other harbor where so many facilities are presented, or where the inhabitants have made so little objection to our infected ships occupying the outer harbor.

Fourth. There is a large population in and around Portsmouth, N. H., and Kittery, Me., who have passed their lives in ship-building, and the naval mechanics in that vicinity are esteemed among the best in our country.

While the board are decidedly opposed to abandoning the Kittery yard, it seems to them that some expression of opinion on their part should be recorded in regard to what should be done with the yard in case work there is temporarily suspended. They recommend that the yard should have a sufficient force of officers and employes kept on duty to maintain it in the most efficient condition and ready for any emergency."

JOTTINGS.

Persons inclined to contribute to the dinner for poor children on Saturday afternoon, can leave an ygifts of food at Faith Home to-day (Friday), or any time to-morrow before the dinner, which will be given at two o'clock. Money contributions, in aid of the fund for purchasing some small present for each of the children, may be handed to Dr. Goodall. Don't be afraid of contributing too much, either of food or money, for it will all be put to a good use.

The statement of the indebtedness of the firm of Davis, Moulton & Company, of Rochester, N. Y., to the banking institutions of Portsmouth, as published, was based upon the circular of the United States Marshal of New York, which it is found largely overstates the actual debts held here. Their indebtedness is arrived at by adding all the private debts of J. C. Carr's or his endorsements of other parties' notes. This would give a much larger aggregate of indebtedness than the actual sum due, and is liable to be twice stated as a bank loan. The banks in Portsmouth hold of the firm's paper only $28,000, part of which endorsers have taken up, while they have also secured paper of J. C. Carr to the amount $23,000. The indebtedness of the firm to individuals here is less than $10,000.—Times.

The Rink was thoroughly cleared of snow on Thursday, ready for the skaters. The ice is in fine condition.

Sheriff Kent has been presented by deputy sheriffs of Rockingham and other counties, with a splendid bear-skin carriage robe, a buffalo robe and a pair of otter-skin gloves.

A schooner whose name we have not learned, from Bucksport, Maine, commanded by Capt. T. J. Gray, went ashore at Isles of Shoals on the 18th, but owing to heavy sea the crew were obliged to remain on the vessel until Wednesday.

The hull, spars and rigging of schooner Ceres, sunk at Portsmouth Bridge, were sold at auction on Wednesday for $190, Mr. N. Gibson being the purchaser. The cargo of coal was sold to Mr. John L. O. Coleman for $8.

Endeavors after the Christian Life, by James Martineau. A reprint, from the sixth English edition, of several discourses which have no especial connection with each other, except that they are all intended to direct the aspirations of the human heart toward a Christian Life. Published by the American Unitarian Association, Boston.

Ship Nightingale, 722 tons register, built at this port in 1851, metalled in 1875, now in port at New York, has been sold to go under the Norwegian flag, the price paid being $15,000.

Mr. McIver proposes to go around among the butchers and grocers to solicit contributions for the poor in the way of meats and groceries. Mr. McIver agrees to cook the food thus procured and to himself contribute one hundred brown loaves for a Christmas dinner for the poor. The food as prepared will be issued to whoever may present a ticket, and tickets will be furnished by the City Marshal or any member of the Police force, on application.

An Easter cross and flowers, in wax, made by Mrs. Samuel Lamprey, attracted much attention and admiration in H. W. Briant's drug store on Thursday, where it was placed on exhibition and for sale. A passion flower, roses, heliotropes, smilax, fine grasses and other beautiful things combine to make one of the most elegant ornaments conceivable for a centre table or bread mantel. Those who admire the beautiful in nature and skillful in art will find themselves repaid for an inspection of it.

The proprietor of the Rattan Works, proposing to go into another line of business, is selling out the stock of rattan goods, of which there is on hand a large variety eminently desirable as Christmas or New Year presents. Persons in want of first-class rattan goods, for themselves or others, should call at once.

What more acceptable Christmas present for a boy or girl can be procured for the money than a ticket for the Rink? You can get them at Preston's.

—The Woodhull says, "Tilden or Blood!"

—Water, though well warmed, would quench nevertheless; the fire that warmed it. Thus may the character of a treacherous person be described.—Sanskrit.

—During the trial of cases of the milk dealers selling adulterated milk, in New York, it was stated that out of 120,000,000 quarts of fluid annually sold in that city and Brooklyn as milk, 40,000,000 quarts at least were water.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The issue for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual, known as Hostetter's Almanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America, and indeed in every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., for receipt of a two cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

Without a shadow of doubt the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, soreness of the throat, asthma, influenza, catarrh, whooping cough and lung diseases, is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Price 25 cts.

Hurrah for the good old times. The Grand Central Hotel, New York, the leading hotel announces sale bellum prices. It has reduced rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot. dawtr12'77

Daily Chronicle.

—A wealthy Chinese merchant was entertaining a party of friends in a Shanghai restaurant, when a messenger burst into the room with the announcement that a disastrous conflagration was raging near his mansion, and that he was in imminent danger of losing his property. "It is heaven's affair," said the merchant, quietly; "if my house is to be burned, it will be burned; if not, it will escape." The banquet was resumed with much animation, and the host was even merrier than his guests. The next morning he ascertained that the flames had eaten their way to the fire-proof wall of his mansion but had been checked in good time. The fire brigade in Shanghai is so very uncertain and untrustworthy that property owners may as well take refuge in fatalism.

—Mr. Hans Schimdt, keeper of the Danish stores at Disco, Greenland, has been over thirty years in that position. During the Polaris expedition he extended great courtesy and hospitality to its members, and upon learning beforehand of intended expeditions to the North Pole he has luvariably made every preparation within his means to make his bleak northland home enjoyable to the brave soldiers of science. Nearly all Mr. Schmidt's employes are Esquimaux. He perfectly understands their language and character, and has effected much good among them.

The Leading American Newspaper.

Largest Circulation

AMONG THE BEST PEOPLE.

I.—IT PUBLISHES ALL THE NEWS. The service of no man, the slave of no party, it can afford to and does tell the truth absolutely.

II.—IT IS IMPARTIAL AND INDEPENDENT. Believing in intelligent suffrage, it aims to furnish voters the fullest and fairest information, to qualify them for the wisest discharge of their responsibility.

III.—IT IS, AS IT ALWAYS WAS, ESSENTIALLY REPUBLICAN. It may quarrel in the future, as it has done in the past, with errors of republican leaders or corruptions in the republican party; but it can never cease to be true to republican principles, and especially to those golden doctrines of civil service reform, hard money, the sanctity of the National faith, and equal justice to all classes at the South, which formed the cornerstones of Gov. Hayes' admirable letter of acceptance.

IV.—ITS MORAL TONE IS PURE AND ELEVATED. No family circle is never profaned by anything which appears in the columns of THE TRIBUNE.

V.—THE CHOICEST STANDARD AND CURRENT LITERATURE of the day is presented in its column, including Correspondence, Poems, Stories, and Reviews from the most talented and popular writers.

VI.—IT IS THE BEST AND CHEAPEST FARMERS' PAPER PUBLISHED. "THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE has done more to make good farmers than any other influence which ever existed."

VII.—THE MARKET REPORTS of THE TRIBUNE are indispensable to every buyer and seller in the country. Quotations are given daily and weekly of almost every article bought and sold in the markets of the world, and with unvarying and almost infallible accuracy. As Cattle, Butter and Cheese, and other articles are the recognized standard.

VIII.—MORE COPIES of THE TRIBUNE are paid for and read by the American people than of any other newspaper of equal price in the country—a fact which is the best demonstration of the value of the paper.

IX.—THE READERS of THE TRIBUNE represent largely the best enterprising and progressive minds of the country. Persons who are interested in more politics, the advance of science, and the progress of opinion, will find their demands met by THE TRIBUNE.

X.—PUBLIC APPROVAL AND PROSPERITY have rewarded the independent and self-respectful course of THE TRIBUNE. It has a larger and stronger corps of earnest workers among its friends than ever before, and constantly receives from old and new readers words of encouragement.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Fever, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me a Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $6.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 23, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and eighty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining three pounds very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will stay to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hard fatigue. Send me three more by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and what they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, and I did not send them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. P. PEVARE.

DANBERSFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could scarcely get anything relief. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South for the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. M. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that all the pills you send will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N.H., Jan. 22, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for Mr. Elliott of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. F. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the cause of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His effered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and Science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. Munn & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty-thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are also sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents sent free. MRS. WINSLOW'S

SOOTHING SYRUP!

For Children Teething,

greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

Sure to Regulate the Bowels.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

Relief and Health to Your Infants.

We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in

Thousands of Cases.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve

Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.

We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudice, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.

Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting One Dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington.

No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions.

All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I judge Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of pushing their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

LEM. Commissioner of Patents."

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over TWIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges.

AN INTERESTING LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., December, 17, 1876.

Hon. WILLIAM BUTTERFIELD, Secretary of the Democratic State Committee, Concord, New Hampshire.

MY DEAR SIR: Yours of the 15th inst. is just received, and in it you say that at a meeting of the State Committee and others, representative men of the democratic party, held on the 13th inst. the enclosed resolutions were unanimously apopted, and that you were directed to send a copy of them to me. The following are the resolutions which I find inclosed:

"Whereas Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas A. Hendricks have been duly elected President and Vice President of the United States for the term of four years commencing on the 4th of March next, and whereas the evidence of such election is so plain and conclusive that no intelligent person of any political party doubts it, and whereas bad men have conspired against their inauguration, and are seeking to prevent it by fraud, usurpation, and violence, and are thereby threatening to overthrow the republic and subvert the liberties of the people: Now, therefore—

"Resolved, That all good citizens, without distinction of party, should unite in the determination that Messrs. Tilden and Hendricks shall be installed into the offices to which they have been chosen.

"Resolved, That in the present crisis the democracy of New Hampshire have entire confidence that their national Representatives and popular leaders will exhibit calm courage, firm purpose, and resolute action, and we pledge them our firm support in all efforts to maintain the rights of the people, to vindicate the supremacy of the ballot-box, and to sustain the vital principles of free government against all attacks, whenever, wherever, however, or by whomsoever made."

As this is an authoritative utterance of a great political organization, comprising nearly one-half the people of the State which I have the honor in part to represent in the National Legislature at the present time, upon a matter of the utmost gravity, which these resolutions are likely and probably designed to increase and not to diminish, I feel under the necessity of briefly stating a few reasons why this action of your committee is to me a source of profound regret.

The assumption in the preamble, which is the logical basis of the resolutions, that Samuel J. Tilden and Thomas A. Hendricks have been duly elected President and Vice President of the United States for the term of four years next ensuing, and that the evidence is so plain and conclusive that no intelligent person of any political party doubts it; and that whereas bad men have conspired against their inauguration and are seeking to prevent it by fraud, usurpation and violence, and are therby threatening to overthrow the Republic and subvert the liberties of the people, is so entirely untrue, and known to be so by the American people, that I am not able to think that the very intelligent gentlemen composing your committee believe it themselves, and I am driven to the conclusion that this false statement is sent abroad at this time for the purpose of preparing the public mind for more active measures, the design of which is, if it can be done in no other way, to subvert the government by force, and establish a successful usurpation upon the ruins of our free institutions. Indications are not wanting that similar designs exist elsewhere. It can hardly be claimed that consideration for the morbid sincerity of minds diseased by many years of active sympathy with insurrection, turbulence, and armed hostility to the government of their country, requires that I should throw the mantle of charity over the false assumptions which it is attempted thus to palm off upon ignorant brute force—a most dangerous element in this country, which it is thus sought to arouse to readiness for any emergency which may be created by such ill-advised action as that of your committee; for notwithstanding the facts which I state below, all of which are well known to every one who voted for these resolutions, or at least ought to be, they charge that no intelligent man doubts even the due election of Tilden and Hendricks, and that they who are seeking to prevent their inauguration are endeavoring to accomplish that object by fraud, usurpation, and violence, and are thereby threatening to overthrow the Republic and subvert the liberties of the people.

Gentlemen who can make an assertion of this kind ought not to expect credence of any statement whatever which they may see fit to make relating to political affairs; and, least of all, that in issuing a revolutionary manifesto of the sort they have here promulgated, any moderate and sensible person who knows how to read and who does read, or who has the slightest knowledge of affairs, should give them credit for political veracity. No such person could "doubt" that they are either ready to destroy their country for the sake of political power, or that adopting their resolutions in the security of some social retreat, they have worded them a little more strongly than they really meant to. It certainly seems to me that ordinary respect for the opinions and feelings of people quite as numerous, possibly as intelligent, and, in the light of the history of the last twenty years, perhaps as patriotic and upright as themselves, should have led them to couch their "Declaration" before they "gave their hands and their hearts" to it, in different language, even if they believed their own assertions.

Driven as I am to elect between respect for the intelligence or the veracity of the authors of these resolutions, or to doubt both, or to excuse an indiscretion, I can only say that I choose to leave that an open question, and to invite them to a few considerations which occur to me as one of the ignorant persons who "doubts" the election (and legal inauguration also) of Tilden and Hendricks—one of the "bad men," who in my humble way and by peaceful constitutional means (and I know of no republicans who are employing any other) have desired to ascertain whether they have been elected; and since by the action of the electoral colleges it is now fairly settled in my judgment that they have not, and that Hayes and Wheeler are fairly, lawfully, and constitutionally chosen to the highest executive positions in the country, now desires first by temperate and candid discussion to make that fact apparent, and then to see those gentlemen peacefully inaugurated.

I need not refer to the bitter and exciting campaign through which we have passed, nor the propriety of adopting a line of conduct which shall lead men of all parties to endeavor to quiet rather than to disturb the public tranquility by truth and moderation. Evidently that course is not contemplated by the managers of Mr. Tilden's interests, or at least of their own. But it should be remembered that in Louisiana, Florida, and South Carolina — the contested States, although I believe several other States were wrongfully carried for Tilden and Hendricks, but the House of Representatives has refused to investigate the charges, though sending committees to the other three, about as numerous and certainly no more peaceful than the "troops" in the South — the only legal tribunals which can pass upon the result of the election in those States have in every instance decided, after the fullest investigation, at which both parties were strongly represented, that they were honestly and fairly carried by the republican party; that certificates of election have issued in proper form to the electors, whose vote was been duly and constitutionally cast for Hayes and Wheeler, although it is said upon the best authority that large bribes were offered to members of the electoral college in each of those States to induce them to defeat the will of their people by voting against Mr. Hayes, after indescribable atrocities and crimes had failed to defeat him by the popular suffrages. That essential one vote which could not be obtained for Mr. Tilden by fraud, terrorism and blood before election nor by attempted bribery and subornation after it, anywhere among the despised but brave and incorruptible colored citizens of the United States living in the unfortunate South, was to be secured by an abortive fraud attempted to be practiced upon the country by the democratic Executive of a northern State, who, against his conscience and his own more honorable instincts—as in a case not unknown to the gentlemen composing the Democratic Committee of New Hampshire—has been elevated to a dishonorable immortality, for which Oregon is less responsible than New York.

The electoral colleges of the whole country have now voted as the Constitution requires. Hayes and Wheeler have 185 votes, Tilden and Hendricks have 184, and the case is settled in law, and I believe upon its merits, in fact, by what seems to me to be most explicit compliance with the laws of the State of Oregon and of the Constitution and laws of the nation. The republican electors, whose election was certified to by Governor Grover, and who were the majority of the college constituting the only possible quorum, being met in the legal absence of the democrat who fraudulently withheld the certificates which had been fraudulently delivered to him, filled the vacancy thus occasioned, and the full college then proceeded to cast three legal electoral votes for Hayes and Wheeler, all which facts are known to the country, and "intelligent" democrats generally concede this themselves, so far as I know, in this vicinity, as does the leading metropolitan democratic press. These facts constitute a plain, legal, honest case of election of President and Vice President under the forms of the Constitution. The good sense of the country perceives this, and until there is a different showing, nothing can prevent the irresistible purpose of the American people to inaugurate Rutherford B. Hayes, the President of their choice. Incendiary meetings and resolutions may provoke riot and bloodshed. I am aware that desperate men and powerful influences are at work, though acting less in the dark than they suppose, whose machinations, while ripening into crime, will never achieve the dignity of respectable insurrection.

The South is less averse to the result of the election than their allies of the North, and it may yet be found that there is more to be hoped from the sincere patriotism of men who once fought the flag, but now proclaim anew their love and devotion for it, than from the pesilent and perfidious school of Northern agitators who are "invisible in peace and invisible in war."

This long looked for evidence that the greatest and best leaders of the South can be trusted to trust themselves, and that they may yet be wise enough to cut loose from the Northern men who have well nigh ruined both sections of our beloved land, is eagerly noted and will be gratefully remembered by all true patriots everywhere. It foreshadows the restoration of the Union in the hearts of the controlling elements of both sections. At last the South perceives that she must ally herself with the strength and not with the weakness of the North.

Now my dear sir, I do not desire to be understood that there are no honest men who believe there is doubt of the election of Hayes and Wheeler, or who do not desire by fair investigation to review the action of State tribunals whose action is certainly conclusive until it can be impeached. Nor do I mean to deny that there are democrats who sincerely desire, by proper and peaceful methods, to ascertain the truth. There may be, and these resolutions will influence it if there is, an ignorant, violent, reckless, and irresponsible element in the democratic party of this country, who will assume that anything their leaders say is true, and, like heedless animals, ready to rise up in madness and attempt to hurl the country for a time into confusion and anarchy. But I do mean to say that there is not now, so far as I can see, any reason why an "intelligent person" should doubt the peaceful inauguration of Mr. Hayes.

Should subsequent events confirm the now general belief that he has been fairly elected, any party or members of any party who shall make the experiment of "bulldozing" the American people on inauguration day, will wish they had never been born. If, on the other hand, which is not likely, Mr. Tilden should hereafter appear to be elected, I will fight, if necessary, to see him inaugurated and sustained. It may be well to play with fire, but I doubt it. It is better to make no premeditated efforts to inflame the public mind with false assertions and to seize the Government by intimidation and revolution. Violent harangues, incendiary editorials, and treasonable resolutions, dressed in the garb of falsehood and assumed concern for the rights of the people, while really engaged in a conspiracy to destroy them, are exceedingly ill-timed, and may involve us all in great disasters. Possibly some may discover in a second rebellion what was not learned in the first, that to incite insurrection is a crime which is punishable by law.

In conclusion, I can only add that I trust we shall survive this exigency, and that the leaders of the great organization which through you sends me these resolutions will take counsel of their patriotism, give others credit for political sincerity if they claim it for themselves, and remember that a word ill spoken in these times of anxiety is of dangerous tendency; that it may involve the issues of life and death to multitudes of their fellow-men, who have no interest in the country but to live in peace and enjoy the blessings of liberty—blessings which having so lately been secured by a terrible war, no man can guiltlessly again put in jeopardy by false statements and threats of violence.

I thank you personally for the kind terms of your letter of transmission, and with assurances of high esteem,

I am truly yours,

H. W. BLAIR.

Daily Chronicle.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1876.

News and Notes.

John Riley, James Reagan and Thomas Burns were killed at South Natick, Mass., on Thursday, by the caving in of a bank on which they were at work.

On Wednesday, two Portuguese lads named Antoine and Joseph Desouza, at Oak Lawn, seven miles from Providence, while playing with an old pistol in a shed over a keg of powder, exploded the powder, tearing the shed to fragments and seriously injuring the former boy and the latter fatally.

Wm. J. Ree, who has just been pardoned by Gov. Tilden, was sentenced to the State Prison in New York, last February, for five years, for swindling and forgery. There were twenty-three more indictments against him, and his swindling operations in New York city alone are said to have amounted to nearly one million dollars.

During the past season a great many alterations and improvements have characterized the internal arrangements of the popular American House of Boston. Although this house is one of the oldest and decidedly the largest first class hotel in New England, there are few so well kept and none more clean and comfortable.

The late Gen. Bartlett, then colonel of the 49th Massachusetts, led the last assault on Port Hudson in the saddle because he had but one leg. His little horse leaped obstacles that seemed insurmountable to any horseflesh. Struck with his daring, it is said that the rebel officers commanded their men not to fire on him, but deadly missiles fell thick and fast into that valley of death, into which duty led him, and having gone about fifty rods, a bullet slightly wounded him in the heel of his good leg, and another shattered his left wrist. Attempting to grasp the reins with his right hand he fell over the head of the horse, which ran to the rear. When his men came to help him his first question was, "Did you see the horse? he jumped like a rabbit."

The strength and sagacity of the sparrows was illustrated in the gale of Monday at Westfield, Mass., when one of the birds, overcome with the cold, lay helpless on the ground, and another, spying its condition, flew down, and, taking it in its claws, flew in the face of the wind to a warm, protected spot some 20 rods away, where the half frozen bird revived.

Little Rock, Arkansas, is having a hard time of it with incendiary fires, six having occurred within a week, with damages ranging from $20,000 for the least destructive to $150,000 for the worst one. The firemen cannot get water enough. Guards have been stationed throughout the city, and orders issued to shoot down any person stealing or attempting to set fire to any other property.

A house in Cherryfield, Me., was burned Wednesday night, and a Miss Guptill, aged eighteen years, and a young child, perished in the fire.

James H. Coe, the forger, took poison Thursday afternoon in the Massachusetts State prison, and will probably die. His wife dropped dead on the 18th inst., since which he has been very much depressed.

New Hampshire Items.

A young man named James Carpenter was found on Thursday badly frozen, lying across the track of the Concord Railroad, a mile and a half above Nashua. Having trouble with a girl in a mill, her father threatened to arrest him, whereupon he fled. He was discovered just in season to prevent a train from passing over him. He is likely to recover.

The Governor and Council on Thursday had a hearing on the petition for commuting the sentence of Edwin W. Major, the Wilton wife poisoner, to imprisonment for life. The petition was denied, and Major will be hanged on Friday, Jan. 5th, in the State Prison yard.

Francis A. Cushman and Edward J. Durant have been appointed Justice and Associate Justice of the Lebanon Police Court.

Lewis Blackwell, sentenced to two years in State Prison for stealing, was pardoned by the Governor and Council, Thursday.

Political.

Senator Ferry has declined to give receipts to the bearers of bogus electoral returns from Oregon, Florida, Louisiana and South Carolina, and they will not, consequently, be able to draw their pay.

When Abram S. Hewitt, reformer, and chairman of the Democratic National Committee, made his charge about his letters having been opened in transit through the New York post-office, he was completely taken aback by the declarations of Messrs. Garfield and Hoar, republicans, that it was his duty to move for an immediate investigation, and that the republican side of the House would give him prompt and efficient assistance. In the face of this proposition, twice forced upon him, he sat silent, and the whole House seemed to feel his embarrassment. A little later it was so increased as to become painful to his friends, by a republican Congressman offering a resolution providing for a committee to investigate the matter; and in Hewitt's interest, so apparent was it that he had simply uttered a sensation, the democrats felt constrained to object to the consideration of the resolution! However, the indignant message of postmaster James of New York, branding the statement as an absolute falsehood, and demanding of Hewitt that he push an investigation, put the democratic reformers in an even worse position, and Cox's committee was finally instructed to look into the matter.

The New York democracy should hold a war meeting with Indiana, Ohio, and Pennsylvania on Jan. 8th. There are several statesmen among them who would not have to prepare new speeches, since those made by them them in 1861 will answer the purpose.—Tribune.

On Thursday, Mr. Ferry appointed as a special Committee of the Senate, authorized by the recent resolution of Mr. Edmunds to devise a means for a proper count of the vote for President and Vice President in connection with a similar Committee of the House, Messrs. Edmunds, Morton, Frelinghuysen, Logan, Taurman, Bayard and Ransom.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The edition for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual, known as Hostetter's Almanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America, and indeed in every civilized region of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country or language. Mrs. Hostetter Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

SOUTH AND WEST. — The N. Y. & N. E. Railroad now makes close connections at Philadelphia for all points West; and at Richmond or Danville for all points South and southwest. Passengers by this line have but one change of cars between Boston and Jacksonville, Fla., or St. Louis, New Orleans, or Mexico.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., is noted for its fine location and the unsurpassed elegance of its appointments.

Without a shadow of doubt the best medicine in the world for coughs, colds, hoarseness, bronchitis, soreness of the throat, asthma, influenza, catarrh, whooping cough and lung diseases, is Adamson's Botanic Balsam. Price 25 cts.

Hurra! for the good old times! The Grand Central Hotel, New York, the leading hotel announces Ignis bellum prices. It has reduced rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements for European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

NEW CINCINNAT. SUGAR CURED

HAMS AND BACON,

FOR SALE BY

CHARLES E. LAIGHTON & SON.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY,

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sojournings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are promised:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," in the November number, and "Toad Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Ha'penny a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

CITY AFFAIRS.

In Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Thursday evening, a communication from the school committee relative to ventilation of the school street school house was refered to the committee on school houses, with power.

Communication from A. J. Penhallow relative to bonds held by P. & D. Railroad was accepted.

Copy of writ, C. H. Sides vs. City, was laid before the board.

The use of Common Council room was granted to Board of Trade on the 1st and 3d Tuesdays of each month.

The subject of paying the January coupons on the bonds issued to pay for stock in the P. & D. R. R., was refered to committee on finance, with power.

The committee appointed to examine certain papers relating to P. & D. R. R. presented their report, which was accepted.

Received, a message that the Common Council had voted to postpone indefinitely the matter of selling a part of the City Farm to Mr. H. W. Mason.

Voted, That the Street Commissioner be authorized to clear away the snow from the streets in the vicinity of the engine houses so that the engines can be removed.

The subject of additional seats and desks at the Gravelly Ridge school house was refered to the committee on school houses, with power.

The subject of appointing lighters for the street lights on Dennet and North streets was refered to committee on gas lights, with power.

A request of the Common Council that the report of the committee appointed to examine the affairs of the P & D. R. R. be transmited to that board, was complied with.

The committee on claims, to whom was refered the claim of Stephen W. Weeks, etc., reported that there was no damage so far as the city is concerned, and the report was accepted.

A petition, a bill entitled "An ordinance relating to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad," passed by the Common Council. Said bill was read twice under suspension of the rules, amended, and as amended passed and sent to the Common Council for concurrence by the following vote:—Ayes—Ald. Bryant, Hoyt, Betton, Sides, Marcy, Coffin and Norton, seven; Nays—Ald. Spinney and Yeaton, two. The amendment was concurred in by the Common Council. The bill as amended is as follows:

"In the Year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and seventy-six.

An Ordinance relating to the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad.

Whereas the sum of one hundred thousand dollars is required to pay the debts of the Portsmouth & Dover Railroad and to complete the road; and the Legislature has authorized the issue of new stock at par to that amount, and empowered the present stockholders to subscribe for and take the same:

Be it ordained by the City Councils of the City of Portsmouth:

SECTION 1. That His Honor the Mayor be authorized and instructed to subscribe for four hundred and forty shares in said new stock, at one hundred dollars each, in the name and behalf of the city of Portsmouth; and that His Honor the Mayor issue to the City Treasurer his warrants to pay for the same.

SECTION 2. For the purpose of obtaining money to pay for said stock this Honor the Mayor is authorised and directed to issue bonds of the city to an amount not exceeding forty-four thousand dollars, payable in twenty years from date, with coupons attached for interest, at six per cent. per annum, payable semi-annually, and to dispose of the same at not less than the par value thereof. Said bonds shall be signed by the Mayor and countersigned by the Treasurer, and the dates and amounts thereof recorded by the City Clerk; and the coupons shall be verified in such manner as the Mayor shall direct.

SECTION 3. This ordinance shall not be in force until the City of Dover shall have determined to subscribe for its proportion of said new stock, nor until a like proportion shall be subscribed by private individuals to make up the full sum of one hundred thousand dollars."

Adjourned for two weeks.

The vote in the Common Council on the railroad bill was, as follows: Yeas—Councilmen Knight, Marston, Long, Barnabee, Whidden, Prior, Woods, Buzzell, Laskey and Rowe, ten; Nays—Councilmen Prime, Gray, Payne and Winn, four.

JOTTINGS.

We regret to learn that Mr. Joseph R. Curtis, whose right arm was shattered by the premature discharge of a cannon during the firing of a salute at the dedication of Langdon Park, has never fully recovered from the effects of the accident, and will be obliged to have the injured arm amputated at the shoulder.

Elder E. Owen was visited by a goodly number of his friends on Thursday, and when they left, after a pleasant evening's call, they left behind substantial and acceptable tokens of their good-will. Mr. A. K. P. Deering was similarly treated by his brethren of the Odd Fellows' order on the same evening.

The Christmas services of the South Parish will be held on Sunday evening.

The Christmas Festival for the Sunday School of the South Parish will be held in Franklin Hall on Monday (Christmas) evening.

The previously-reported unknown schooner ashore at the Shoals is the "J. P. Ames," of and for Bucksport, Me., from Salem. She ran ashore on Cedar island on Saturday, the 16th, and was laying there at last reports, badly strained and with rudder and sails gone. The United States buoy steamer Iris brought the crew to this port.

Mr. Briant has added three more specimens to his gallery of owls,—two of the long-eared variety (better known as the "cat-owl,") and a screech-owl, a bird that bears the justly-earned reputation of being able to make the worst noise and the most of it of any created thing of its size.

We have received the January number of the Folio, published by White, Smith & Co., Boston; this is one of the best musical publications issued.

Among the many new books issued this season, we know of none more suitable for a holiday present than Bayard Taylor's National Ode, the Memorial Freedom Poem. Published by William E. Gill & Co. Boston. Illustrated, and elegantly bound in green and gold.

Hold the Fort, by P. P. Bliss, profusely illustrated and beautifully printed upon heavy tinted paper, with an account of the thrilling incident during "Sherman's March to the Sea," upon which this celebrated hymn was founded. Published by William F. Gill & Co., Boston.

Single tickets for the Skating Rink, ten cents; to be had at Preston's.

The Custom-house register shows the arrival at this port of 781 vessels and 4819 seamen from October, 1875, to November, 1876. [This of course does not include sailors and marines attached to the navy yard or government ships.] In the same time the volunteer city missionary, Mr. Loyne, made 608 visits on board the vessels lying at the wharves or in the stream.

Kearsarge S. F. Engine Co., No. 3, will give their sixth annual ball in Franklin Hall on the evening of New Year's Day. Harlow's quadrille band will furnish the music. Tickets at one dollar each may be obtained of members of the company. All the previous balls given by this popular and enterprising company have been thouroughly well conducted and enjoyable, and they propose to make this one fully as pleasant as any of the others.

Ship Sagamore, at San Francisco, has been sold to Pope & Talbot. The amount paid was $17,500. Bow ports are being cut in her, and she will probably be rigged into a barque before she goes into the lumber trade, for which purpose she was purchased.

The golden wedding of Hon. W. H. H. Hackett and wife was observed at their residence, Thursday afternoon and evening, being largely attended by members of the Bar and other invited guests. There were elaborate floral displays. A brilliant reception and entertainment was given in the evening, the festivities continuing until a late hour.

The regular Thursday evening assembly in the Light Artillery course will be omitted on the 27th, and in its place the company will on Monday evening, January 1st, give a benefit to one of their comrades, who has met with a serious misfortune. The dances in the Light Artillery course have been largely attended, and on this occasion Mechanics' Hall should be—and doubtless will be—filled to its utmost capacity.

—An American lady who had been visiting friends in Canada crossed the St. Lawrence at Cape Vincent last week, and courteously invited the custom officers to examine her baggage. "There is nothing but wearing apparel in the trunks," she remarked with a pretty smile. The officer unlocked the largest trunk and pushing aside a heap of stockings and overturning a layer of dress materials pounced upon a dozen bottles of French brandy. "Do you call this wearing apparel?" he asked sternly. "Why, yes," replied the lady, "they are my husband's night caps."

—Grace Greenwood speaks of the unpleasant odor from the hair of the laborers in the quicksilver mines. It may be true that his head is offensive, but the rest of the laboring man is sweet.

HATHAWAY SHIRTS,

—A FEW MORE OF THOSE

CELEBRATED HATHAWAY SHIRTS,

Cut low in the Neck, at

William P. Walker's,

jy3 No. 3 Market Square.

Daily Chronicle.

—The superintendent of a Sunday school near Lewiston was addressing the children on a recent occasion, concerning the coming Christmas festival, and asked all who desired a Christmas tree to hold up their hands. The display of hands seemed to be general, but a little four-year-older did not raise his. On being asked why he did not, he replied in a melancholy tone, "I don't want any more mugs, I got two last year!"

—A Belgian jury has done a facetious thing. A man named Brin had murdered both his first and second wife. They found him guilty, but recommended him to mercy on account of his wooden leg. Hard labor for life was substituted for death.

—A soldier was wounded by a shell from Fort Wagner. He was going to the rear, when he was hailed by the colonel. "Wounded by a shell?" "Yes," he coolly answered, "I was right under the darned thing when the bottom dropped out."

"Down in the Mouth."

When there is a continual dropping down of the back of the mouth, with irritation and inflammation of the nasal cavities and adjacent parts, the result is hawking, spitting, and a sense of fullness at the back part of the head, be not deceived or fancy it a simple cold. You are afflicted with that scourge of humanity, this climate, Catarrh, the forerunner of Consumption. In its early stages a few bottles of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy will effect an entire cure. When confirmed, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery should be used in connection with the Remedy. These standard medicines have been before the public many years, and their use has been attended with the most gratifying success. A full discussion of Catarrh and its rational treatment is contained in "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book of over nine hundred pages, illustrated with two hundred and eighty-two engravings, bound in cloth and gilt, price, post-paid $1.50. ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young, on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a Story adapted to the Thanksgiving Season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER,"

By J. T. Trowbridge, Author of the "Jack Hazard Stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday Number.

Readers serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the holidays, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental spaces, with drawings by Siamese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD,"

By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Barnard, splendidly illustrated; "The Clock in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday-school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Petrkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also

"TWELVE SKY PICTURES,"

By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will likely to surpass in interest any series of popular science recently given to the public.

Amusement and Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wisdom and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, and ST. NICHOLAS will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of Scribner's press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with vitality. The literature and artistic illustrations are both superior."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point out its equal in our own periodical literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper St. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15); so $4 at all may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaints, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well, and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 29, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 20, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal 'continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. I have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear. Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My mother has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head. One day work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story; I care not, so long as I am doing good by giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do from. I was advised to go to Texas, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The pain in my face seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anyone. I feel as if I ought to be rewarded for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas.

[Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LAGONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send three packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Cordiale as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the cause of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and as a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A. Proc. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With great care in the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something of interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Reduce the 192 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel Engraving usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $6.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

FURNITURE —AND— UPHOLSTERY!

WHAT PAYS?

IT PAYS every Manufacturer, Merchant, Mechanic, Inventor, Farmer, or Professional Man, to keep informed on all the improvements and discoveries of the age.

It pays the head of every family to introduce into his household a newspaper that is instructive, one that fosters a taste for investigation, and promotes thought and encourages discussion among the members.

The Scientific American

which has been published weekly for the last thirty-one years, does this, to an extent beyond that of any other publication; in fact it is the only weekly paper published in the United States, devoted to Manufactures, Mechanics, Inventions and New Discoveries in the Arts and Sciences.

Every number is profusely illustrated and its contents embrace the latest and most interesting information pertaining to the Industrial, Mechanical, and Scientific Progress of the world; Descriptions, with Beautiful Engravings of New Inventions, New Implements, New Processes, and Improved Industries of all kinds; Useful Notes, Recipes, Suggestions and Advice by Practical Writers, for Workmen and Employers, in all the various arts, forming a complete repertory of New Inventions and Discoveries; containing a weekly record, not only of the progress of the Industrial Arts in our own country, but also of all New Discoveries and Inventions in every branch of Engineering, Mechanics and science abroad.

THE SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN has been the foremost of all industrial publications for the past thirty-one years. It is the oldest, largest, cheapest, and the best weekly illustrated paper devoted to Engineering, Mechanics, Chemistry, New Inventions, Science and Industrial Progress, published in the world.

The practical Recipes are well worth ten times the subscription price, and for the shop and house will save many times the cost of subscription.

Merchants, Farmers, Mechanics, Engineers, Inventors, Manufacturers, Chemists, Lovers of Science, and People of all Professions, will find the SCIENTIFIC AMERICAN useful to them. It should have a place in every Family, Library, Study, Office and Counting Room; in every Reading Room, College and School. A new volume commences January 1st, 1877.

A year's numbers contain 832 pages and SEVERAL HUNDRED ENGRAVINGS. Thousands of volumes are preserved for binding and reference. Terms, $3.20 a year by mail, including postage. Discount to Clubs. Special circulars, giving Club rates sent free. Single copies mailed on receipt of 10 cents. May be had of all News Dealers.

PATENTS. In connection with the Scientific American, Messrs. MUNN & Co. are Solicitors of American and Foreign Patents, and have the largest establishment in the world. More than fifty thousand applications have been made for patents through their agency.

Patents are obtained on the best terms. Models of New Inventions and Sketches examined, and advice free. A special notice is made in the Scientific American of all Inventions Patented through this Agency, with the name and residence of the Patentee. Patents are often sold in part or in whole, to persons attracted to the Invention by such notice. A Pamphlet, containing full directions for obtaining Patents, sent free. The Scientific American Reference Book, a volume bound in cloth and gilt, containing the Patent Laws, Census of the U. S., and 143 Engravings of mechanical movements. Price 25 Cents.

Address for the Paper, or concerning Patents, MUNN & CO., 37 Park Row, New York. Branch Office: Cor. F & 7th Sts., Washington, D. C.

Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in Thousands of Cases. It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief; it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. Sold by Druggists throughout the world. dtfeb15

The reliable house of ALEX. PROTHINGHAM & CO., No. 12 Wall St. New York, publish a handsome eight-page weekly paper called the Weekly Financial Report, which they send free to any address. In addition to a large number of editorials on financial and other topics, it contains very full and accurate reports of the sales and standing of every stock, bond and security dealt in at the Stock Exchange. Messrs. PROTHINGHAM & CO. are extensive brokers of large experience and tried integrity. In addition to their stock brokerage business, they sell what are termed "Privileges," or "Puts and Calls," now one of the favorite methods of speculation in Wall Street. Their advice is valuable, and by following it many have made fortunes.—[New York Metropolis.]

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS. R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs. No. 78 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON. After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. All necessary for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS.

"I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful specialists practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents.

"I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents.

"MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART."

COMMENCED PAPERS—FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FIVE COPIES, $10, and an additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club. TEN COPIES, $20, and one additional copy for the year free to the sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Contributors, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate Improved Stock of every kind through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions—When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vine yard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

Annals of a Parish.

The parish of Ouachita, in Western Louisiana, is about twenty miles square, and is thinly settled, containing a voting population of about 2500. Its only industry is cotton raising, and large plantations, bounded by thick belts of woods and intersected by sluggish bayous, have been reclaimed from the swamps. The white inhabitants are the ex-rebel planters, who live in the decayed houses of the plantations and maintain themselves by raising cotton by negro labor, which they pay by a proportion of the crop, or by leasing the land in small patches; their poor white followers, who live chiefly by the long rifle and a lazy crop of corn, and the negroes, who dwell in cabins by the streams or in secluded places, doing the only labor in raising cotton for the white planters or upon small patches of their own. The registered vote for the present year was, white, 992; colored, 2392. At the previous election the vote was: republican, 1763; democratic, 787. This year it was: republican, 793; democratic, 1869, making a change of 2660. The reasons for this sweeping change are given in evidence taken before the Returning Board in New Orleans, and its kind and character forbids its disbelief by any unprejudiced man.

It is in undisputed testimony that the local affairs of Ouachita parish were well managed by republican officers. The sheriff was supported by the white population, who turned out in posses at his request, when criminals, as is almost always the case in unsettled countries, required the pursuit of armed bodies of men. The member of the legislature was socially recognised to a considerable extent by the leading white families, and above all, the rate of taxation was only eight mills upon the dollar. With the approach of the election, however, the whites organized into rifle clubs, and the reign of terror began. On the thirtieth of August, Dr. B. H. Dinkgrave, the white republican collector, was shot from his horse at noon a short distance from Monroe, the county seat and only town in the parish. He was a Southern man of good family, of unquestioned integrity and a Union man during the war. He was far from being a "scalawag" in any invidious sense of the word, and there was nothing in his personal character to make him the mark for the assassin, any more than there is in that of Charles O'Conor or Senator Eaton or any other Southern sympathiser in the North. His crime was that he was an outspoken partisan and an active organizer of the negroes. Sheriff Hamlett summoned a posse, but no one and he responded, received such warnings as convinced him that his own life was in danger, and he fled the country. From this date the outrages on the negroes were continuous and bloody.

On the twenty-fourth of September, Capt. Clayton Hale and Lieut. Henry McCauley were sent to Ouachita parish, with twenty-six men of the Sixteenth Infantry, by order of Gen. Augur. Their testimony cannot be impeached by any prima facie insinuation of ignorance, political bias or corruption. They declare simply that the greatest terror existing among the negroes; that they were frequently called upon and did interfere to prevent threatened outbreaks of violence at republican meetings, and saw with their own eyes, and received undoubted evidence of the killing and maiming of negroes by the whites. On the eleventh of October, Lieut. McCauley went by night with a guard of eight men to the house of Eaton Logwood in the Chowan Swamp. He found there helpless women, frightened men and children, all huddled together in groups, looking terror-stricken, as though they were about to be slaughtered; a few more surrounding a camp fire that was burning to keep them warm. In the passage way of the double log cabin lay Primus Johnson, a leading republican negro, bleeding from the wounds that caused his death. In the rear room Logwood was lying, with eight or ten men and women surrounding his death-bed. In his dying testimony he named the two white men who came to his house with blackened faces and shot Johnson and himself. At the heartrending supplication of the negroes, Lieut. McCauley left a guard of three men to protect them. Daily negro men and women fled into Monroe, with the marks of lashes and wounds upon them, and with tales of midnight assassination outrage.

It is easy to sneer at the ignorance and timidity of the negroes, but when they bear upon their naked bodies the marks of the knife, the bullet and the lash; when they come in by scores; when they are all of one party, and all at one time, just before election, and are corroborated circumstantially by officers of the United States army, it will be hard to prevent unprejudiced people from believing them. Cora Williams, a negress, came in covered with great welts from lashes, all over her body, and testified that in the night riders came to her cabin in search of her husband, and not finding him, for like many others he slept in the swamp, they beat her unmercifully with a circingle, that one of them came back and ravished her, and that lying with fear in the night, she heard outcries and saw through a crack in the wall the night riders dragging Meramon Rhodes, a colored man, with a lariat around his waist. A colored man passing by the bayou a few days afterward, saw a pair of hands sticking up through the green ooze of the water, and with a pole drew out the body of Meramon Rhodes, dead, and with his entrails cut out. The story of Eliza Pinkston, the murder of her husband and infant child, and her own outrage and mutilation, are well known, and excited the outspoken indignation of the democratic visiting committee. Benjamin James, United States Deputy Marshal, was stopped when on his way to the polling place at Monroe with republican ballots, by a body of men who picketed the road three miles from the town, three times shot and left dead. We have no space to give the details of the horrors of each individual act of murder, but Frederick Byrum, Andrew McCloud, W. H. Burnell, Spencer Dickerson, George Shelton, Hawkins Jones and William Clark were shot, and Emanuel Richards was hung. These were all republicans. They are not charged with having committed crime, and the proof of their bodies is the final testimony of their truth.

Daily Chronicle.

MONDAY, DECEMBER 25, 1876.

News and Notes.

James A. Coe, the Boston forger, died on Friday morning from the effect of muriatic acid he purposely drank.

During the trial of John Reeves before the Bennington (Vt.) County Court on a charge of the attempted blowing up of the Hatton house, James Fitzgerald, one of the men who confessed to the burning of Judge Carney's mill and being implicated in the other outrages, swore on the witness stand that Amos Aldrich had drank with him in Reeves's saloon and that he treated Aldrich. The fact that Aldrich had been an associate of Fitzgerald at Reeves' saloon and had drank with him, Fitzgerald standing treat, caused considerable laughter, for the reason that Aldrich is the man who claims to be the legally elected Tilden Presidential elector from Vermont and the man who says he shall go to Washington and claim the right to cast his vote for Tilden. Charles N. Davenport, one of the leading democrats of Vermont, was examining the witness when this circumstances leaked out, and sat down somewhat embarrassed.

Four men took three kegs of blasting powder into a coal mind near Ashland, Penn., on Thursday, to do some work. Friday morning their mangled remains were taken from the pit, the powder having exploded and shattered them past recognition.

The Board of Directors of the Western Union Telegraph Company, at a special meeting on Friday, authorized their President, Mr. Orton, to make all proper legal and constitutional resistance to the demand of the House of Representatives for private and confidential papers. The Board also resolved hereafter to destroy the originals of all telegraphic despatches at once, unless requested by the sender. This is an eminently proper resolution, and the wonder is that the telegraph companies have not adopted it before. If the principle that a telegraphic despatch is common property is conceded, the telegraph wires are not likely to be used so much hereafter, and telegraph line stock will not be worth so much as now.

In Portland, Saturday, at about half-past twelve o'clock in the morning, fire broke out in the Masonic Block, which was destroyed; loss $30,000 on building, which was insured. The Masonic property in the Grand Lodge room was insured for $16,000, which will not cover the loss. Other tenants of the block lost heavily. At about two o'clock fire broke out in an oyster saloon under Fanny Marsh's Theatre, the two fires giving the Fire Department a heavy job to manage.

William H. Dudley shot Samuel Ely in the gallery of the Grand Opera House at New York, Friday night. The newspaper reports say "the affair created great excitement in the theatre."

An unknown man about forty years of age, evidently an American, not a laboring man, and very poor, on Friday went into a store in Boston and asked to see a large-sized revolver. One was shown him, and the clerk put in a cartridge to show him how to load the pistol, when the man suddenly put the muzzle to his own head, and fired. He died in fifteen minutes, having been insensible from the time he shot himself. He was very much emaciated, and his appearance indicated that he had been a long time without food.

So pestiferous have tramps become in Pennsylvania that the grand jury of Lebanon county has made the following recommendation to the court: "The manifest increase of vagrancy in the county, evidenced by the number of tramps before the court this week, indicates the necessity of a remedy or cure for the disease, which we find is only possible in one way, and that is by having recourse to the measure suggested by the court in its charge to the grand jury. We would therefore recommend to the commissioners of the county, in accordance with the provisions of the act of assembly, approved May 8, 1876, entitled an act "to define and suppress vagrancy," that they erect a building with enclosed grounds for the reception, custody and employment of tramps, the expense of the erection of the building and fence not to exceed $1000, and that the custodian or custodians of the vagrants received in them shall provide them with work, as required by the act of assembly; and that the constables and police officers of the county be requested to acquaint themselves with their duty in connection with the execution of this law, and with the penalty for a neglect or refusal to arrest.

The proprietor of the restaurant of the House of Representatives has assumed that the alleged abrogation of the joint rules of Congress nullifies also the nineteenth joint rule, a provision under which he has been restrained from selling spirituous liquors, and he is now selling drinks as openly as he pleases. This result is regarded as an excellent joke by members of Congress, and an invitation to "take a drink" is now worded as an invitation to "go down and suspend the nineteenth joint rule."

The Providence Journal says a Newport tradesman recently failed for $8100, and offered to pay his creditors ten cents on the dollar, which was accepted, when he told them he could obtain the amount if they would endorse his note to the bank. This they agreed to do, actually making themselves liable for the money they were receiving in full payment of debts due them. A new way of paying old debts.

Schooner Emma Bacon had a hard time, of it getting into Boston harbor on Friday. First she ran upon some sunken rocks off Calf island, and hung there until nine o'clock at night; and as soon as she came off and before she could get under way, she was run down by schooner Daniel Webster, the crew having barely time to get into the rigging. She is a total loss, with her cargo of 470 tons of coal.

New Hampshire Items.

An engineer while running on the Dover & Winnipiseogee railroad, on Wednesday, saw a fox on the track ahead. He put on steam, and after a short run, overtook him, the engine throwing him off the track without injuring him much. The engineer took his skin as a trophy.

Rev. C. O. Libby, who has until lately held the position of Secretary of the Free-will Baptist Foreign Mission Society, died at his residence in Dover, on Thursday. He was a native of Gorham, Me., and went to Dover some 30 years ago. Mr. Libby was a man of superior business qualifications, serving with distinction in councils of that city and State. He entered the ministry in the 30th year of his age, and owing to his position and travels, became one of the most prominent men in the denomination.

Munroe Dickey was arrested at Laconia, Friday afternoon, on suspicion of being the firebug causing the many incendiary fires the past two months. He lives there, is a carpenter, and has a family.

Kearsarge Lodge of Odd Fellows was instituted at Contoocook, Friday evening.

Frank P. Morrison, a young man about twenty years of age, belonging to a much respected family, attempted suicide at Salmon Falls, Friday night, by taking laudanum. By the most skillful aid his life was saved, very much to his regret. The cause of the act was disappointment in love.

Election Notes.

Hendricks, the reformer, isn't troubled with any squeamishness about that Oregon vote. Rubbing his hands together, he thinks Governor Grover has done a thing which will redound to his credit through the ages. The Governor of Indiana is open to the suspicion of being a prejudiced person.

The Tribune's special says that the tendency of the democratic witnesses before the House Louisiana Committee has been rather to shake confidence in the validity of the vote actually returned for the democrats than otherwise.

If, after the unusually close and exciting campaign of the past season, a prominent republican Executive and candidate should pardon a notorious forger and swindler convicted on one of twenty-three indictments, after less than a year's imprisonment, and a murderer who took the life of a watchman who detected him in a theft, after six years of a life imprisonment, democratic papers would charge that it was the result of a corrupt bargain for the influence of the criminal's friends in the election. Mr. Tilden has just done this; but we will leave others to comment.

We have received a letter from South Carolina, giving an account of the most virulent abuse, violent and blasphemous denunciations, and insolent threatenings of death if they did not leave the State, visited upon Drs. Cooke and Webster, on board a train of cars from Columbia to Orangeburg, by a crowd of the flowers of Wade Hampton, who had been at the capital to aid in defeating the assembling of the republican members of the Legislature. It shows the desperate character of the present struggle in that State, the helplessness of the State Government to prevent lawlessness and abuse within its limits, and the constant exposure to indignities of the best men from the North, in the discharge of their legitimate business, from the hordes of unrestrained roughs which prowl over the country.—Zion's Herald.

The Cincinnati Commercial, in criticising Presidents Grant's Southern policy, remarks: "The South did not give Grant a fair chance. He had a great deal of good feeling toward the South, and put forward his old friend Longstreet. Was there anything in the treatment of Longstreet by the confederates calculated to encourage the President to a liberal recognition of the Southern men of his class?"

What idiots are they who mount the spavined, wind-broken hobby of stupendous Southern chivalry and spout about Southern intervention in behalf of Tilden or Hayes. Can't somebody be found to go around among the little flaring-up newspapers and bore their editors for the simples? They are incapable of serving Tilden or the country in the very nature of things, and should not be suffered, by exhibitions of rant and blowhardism, to place the South in a false position, and destroy the only hope for the concession of justice and right to the democratic party.—Austin (Texas) Statesman.

The New York Times says that State Senator Maxwell of South Carolina read a letter threatening him with death if he returned to the county he represents, the letter saying that it shall be a white man's county. After reading it Mr. Maxwell addressed the Senate, in which he reviewed the history of the outrages committed against the negroes of the State from 1867 to the present day, and of many [illegible] assassinate him. Personally, he would much rather lose his life at the hands of an assassin than imbrue his hands in any man's blood, and it was this same humane and forgiving spirit that had prevented his race from avenging the wrongs they had suffered through all these long years; but he wished to warn the Ku-Klux murderers and assassins of South Carolina that the patience of the colored men was now exhausted. The day was past when crime will be permitted to go unavenged. As for the cowardly dog who wrote this threatening letter, he was beneath contempt, and he should not have noticed this missive, which was only one of hundreds like it daily sent to republicans in that State, had it not been that he was a public man, occupying a seat in the Senate, and thus was afforded an opportunity to make it the occasion of giving some wholesome advice to those would-be assassins, and the men who stood behind them and backed them up.

Reformer Hewitt's charge that his letters were opened in the New York post-office during the recent campaign was based, he says, on information furnished in an anonymous letter (which he threw away) that "the tea-kettle was at work" on his letters, and the wrinkled state of the envelopes he received, as if they had been subjected to the action of steam. These envelopes, also, Hewitt threw away. If he cannot connect any more likely story than that he—a most accomplished political trickster—threw away the only evidence he had on which to base a charge he intended to make against republican officials, he had much better hold his tongue.

Speaker Randall has appointed the following as the House committee of seven to confer with the Senate committee on the electoral question: Payne, Hunton, Hewitt and Springer, democrats; and McCrary, Hoar and Willard, republicans.

If the South Carolina democrats had wished to hurt their own case as badly as possible they could not have found a more effective way of doing it than by electing Gen. M. C. Butler to the United States Senate. There has been a good deal of sympathy for them hitherto among fair-minded men of all parties in the North, but they have given this feeling a staggering blow by placing their indorsement upon the leading spirit of one of the most cold-blooded massacres in our recent history.—Tribune.

The Supreme Court of Florida has issued a mandamus to the Board of Canvassers to recount the vote. The democrats profess to believe that this will give the electoral vote of the State to Tilden; but as that electoral vote has already been given for Gov. Hayes, and the office of Presidential Elector expires by law on the 6th of December, which date will not come again this year, it is hard to see how the mandamus, even if the Canvassing Board obeyed it, would "elect Tilden," as the democrats claim it will. It is said that this action of the Court was inspired by direct orders from Washington and New York, in order to add to the complications arising out of the late election. No one entertains any idea that the Supreme Court expects that its mandate will be obeyed.

An Ingenious Swindle.

A very ingenious swindle was perpetrated on a prominent dry goods house on Thursday, when a finely-dressed lady appeared in the shawl department and, after careful examination, selected a camel's hair shawl costing about $100, for which she tendered in payment a $1000 bill, which was carefully scrutinized by the cashier, who, doubting his own power of discrimination, despatched a messenger to the bank to ascertain the genuineness of the bill. Meanwhile the lady customer had become anxious to procure the change and had approached the locality occupied by the man of scrip, when the messenger returned and announced in audible tone that the cashier of the bank said that the bill was good. The lady upon hearing this waxed exceedingly wroth, and demanded to know "whether he thought that she would attempt to pass a counterfeit bill." Of course apologies and explanations were of no avail; and, assuming to be highly indignant, she refused to purchase the shawl, demanded her money, and departed from the store the very embodiment of righteous indignation. A couple of hours afterwards she returned considerably mollified, and confessed that she was pleased with the shawl, and that her inability to find one which she liked as well was the only reason she returned, and she concluded to take it. The obliging salesman delightedly wrapped up the shawl, while the courteous cashier, disdaining to entertain a suspicion against such a lady, proceeded to count out the $900 change, with which and her shawl the lady departed. The feelings of that storekeeper can be better imagined than described when he awoke to a realizing sense of the fact that his "lady" customer had, after all his precaution, succeeded in passing upon him a counterfeit $1000 bill. It appears that, anticipating just what had occurred, she had provided herself with a good bill, which played its part in the early stages of the game, after which it retired in favor of the counterfeit.—Boston Globe.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The edition for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual, known as Hostetter's Almanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America, and indeed in every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

NOT SO BAD.

The firm of Davis, Moulton & Co. owe the Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank nineteen thousand dollars. Their other indebtedness to Banks in Portsmouth is as follows:

The Portsmouth Savings Bank,	$2376
N. H. National,	2466
First National,	1152
Nat. Mec. & Traders, (since taken up by endorsers,)	3098
Total	$28,093

Mr. J. C. Carr's indebtedness, which is duplicated in the notice to creditors, is as follows:

Rock. Ten Cents Sav. Bank,	$14,600
Portsmouth Savings Bank,	6500
New Hampshire Nat. Bank,	2500
All secured,	$23,600
Other indebtedness is
Ports. Savings Bank,	$494
First National Bank,	900

The publication of the figures as originally appearing in the papers was, to say the least, an unfortunate piece of "enterprise." In times like the present, communities are too apt to believe stories of losses, and confidence in moneyed institutions is impaired by exaggerated statements of indebtedness based upon the perusal of the list of creditors in Bankruptcy, the accuracy of which can seldom be relied upon. The amount stated as held by individuals is grossly overstated, and will probably amount to $7026. The amount of $49,491 stated in the papers, related to personal indebtedness of Mr. Carr, who being a partner in the house of Davis, Moulton & Co., the indebtedness, through proved previously against his estate in this District, was reported as a part of the indebtedness of the Rochester firm. There may be a small loss, but when the secured claims are realized, and the endorsed paper collected, the amount will be trifling as a loss, proportionable to the capital of the institutions holding the indebtedness.—Journal.

JOTTINGS.

To-day being Christmas, no paper will be issued from this office to-morrow.

There will be Christmas services at St. John's church at 10:30 A. M. to-day; and the Sunday school festival will be held in Franklin Hall on the evening of Wednesday, December 27th, St. John's Day. The Methodist society will have a festival at their chapel on Daniel street, the South Parish Sunday school will have one at Franklin Hall, and the Court street (Christian) Sunday school one in their church, this evening.

Concerning the postponement of the regular Light Artillery dance this week, and the date of the benefit assembly in aid of one of the members, our informant was in error. The regular assembly will take place on Thursday evening, as usual, and the benefit assembly will be given this (Christmas) evening in Mechanics' Hall.

The evergreen decorations at the Episcopal church are the most extensive and beautiful for many years.

There were but very few turkeys brought into the city from the surrounding towns on Saturday, though chickens were in fair supply; frozen turkeys from Boston were plentiful enough at the stores. Many people were in town and a good deal of shopping seemed to be going on, though the classes of goods selected (presumably for presents) were of a cheaper sort than has usually been the case at the Christmas season—a result of the "hard times," no doubt.

Rev. Charles A. Holbrook is to be instituted as Rector of St. John's Church on Thursday, Jan. 11, by Bishop Niles.

The schooner J. P. Ames, before reported wrecked at the Shoals, went ashore on the rocks off Cedar Island on Saturday, the 16th inst., her sails having previously been torn away by the fearful gale which blew that day. The crew remained on board the schooner until Wednesday, exposed to the fearful weather, before their situation was ascertained by the people on Star Island. It was impossible to get to the shipwrecked crew, and, as a last resort, a line was attached to a dory which was permitted to drift out to sea. The current took it so near the vessel that, after several vain attempts, it was secured by the shipwrecked crew. They got into it and were safely pulled to land. The mate and one of the seamen were so badly frozen that they could not be moved from the Isles of Shoals when the captain and rest of the crew were brought to this city by the lighthouse steamer Iris. All the crew were badly frozen. The schooner has been purchased by Rider & Cotton, for $175. Tug Clara Bateman made an unsuccessful attempt to tow her off on Friday; the attempt was to be repeated, and failing success the wreck would be stripped. The crew received free transportation over the Eastern Railroad to their homes in Bucksport, Me.

"Artaximinous ye Great," will be presented at the Temple by Messrs. Sanborn and Palfrey, assisted by an imposing array of local talent, on the evening of Thursday, January 4th, 1877. The costumes having been mainly built on plans and specifications furnished by the managers, and under their supervision, may be relied on to produce a most astonishing effect. Sanborn is down in the bills for some of that gorgeous dancing of which he is sole patentee and proprietor. Everything is in a good state of forwardness, and the play will positively be produced at the time mentioned.

P. S. Since the above was in type the Temple has burned down, so the play will not be given there.

Excellent skating at the Rink to-day. Tickets at Preston's, ten cents for the day.

At the High School, Saturday morning, the teachers found the room prettily decorated, and were most cordially welcomed by their pupils with the customary Christmas greetings. They were also presented with elegant bouquets, and valuable gifts. Mr. Clarke received a very fine set of plotting instruments, with which he was greatly pleased, as he has a weakness for anything connected with mathematics. Miss Bailey received a pair of beautiful statuettes, Appollo Belvidere and Diana; Miss Hooper, an elegant cologne stand; and Miss Magraw an exceedingly pretty silver card receiver. After a pleasant hour and a few remarks by the teachers, the school was dismissed for the usual Christmas vacation.

The public schools have a vacation this week and next.

The semi-annual dividend on the stock of the Concord & Portsmouth Railroad will be paid at the office of William H. Hackett, Esq., next Friday.

Barque Scud, 346 tons register, built at this port in 1863, has been sold at Philadelphia to go in the South American trade, on private terms.

Ship Favorita, Gerish, which sailed from San Francisco Dec. 19, was chartered to proceed to Manila, to load hemp and sugar for New York or Boston, at option of charterers, at $12 gold per ton.

The Bank Commissioners vs. Rockingham Ten Cents Savings Bank.

John M. Davis et al., petitioners for priority. The petitioners, who made deposits subject to check, claimed that as against the general depositors, who shared in the income of the bank, they are entitled to be paid in full: the Court decided that 1st, the expenses of the assignment must be first paid;

2d, that the residue of the assets should be divided in equal proportion to and among all the depositors, whether general or special, including the claim of the Portsmouth Savings Bank derived from Mrs. Thurston.

THE FIRE.

At about half-past five o'clock, Sunday evening, fire was discovered in the Temple, and an alarm was given,—in a rather undecided and intermittent manner, the "hollering" and bell-ringing being far from first-class, and the brewery whistle not joining in until after several of the steamers had got streams on the burning building. In fact, it was the meanest alarm we ever experienced,—and we would suggest that the first bell to ring out a fire alarm should be kept ringing for say ten minutes or so, as two minutes is hardly long enough to rouse the people. [We are informed that a gentleman passing the Temple saw the fire and hurried to Cochrane's stable with the alarm, and that Mr. Cochrane got his horses harnessed and over to the engine house on Court street before any one commenced to play at giving a general alarm.] The engine horses had all they could do (and much more than they should have to do) to haul the machines into position for service, and we presume snow-shoes for the wheels will now be procured; they should be, anyway. Two engines (Nos. Three and Four) were stationed at Haymarket square, and No. Two on Market square, the "soda-fountains" taking position on Warren street and doing good service. Steamer No. One was not used. The Rockingham House pump kept the wood work of that establishment wet down on the side next the fire, so that the paint was hardly blistered. The Market square reservoir gave out before the fire did, and the engine stationed there was transferred to the School street reservoir.

The fire was well managed by the Department, and was confined to the Temple, Mr. Peirce's stable (which adjoined it on the rear) and the Kearsarge House being little harmed. The wise forethought of the late Col. Peirce in putting up a heavy brick wall between his buildings and the Temple was made apparent, for without it the Kearsarge House could not have been saved; as it was, the wooden cupola was well cooked, and caught fire once or twice.

The fire was first seen by Mr. Stavers and Mr. Appleton Tredick, in the dressing room near where a funnel from a stove passed through the floor into the room above, but they were unable to extinguish it. As soon as it was evident the building would go, an attempt was made to save the piano, but the dense smoke compelled the men who were carrying it to drop it, and it was burned with the rest of the contents of the house. The Reform Club were to hold their usual Sunday night meeting in the Temple that evening; their organ was saved.

The Temple was owned by Mr. John W. Stavers and the heirs of the March estate. Its present proprietors, we are informed, paid $12,000 for it, and they have laid out a good deal of money on it since. The total loss cannot be much if any short of $15,000. Mr. Stavers had $2000 insurance on his half; and Wm. H. Rollins, Esq., as agent, had $3000.

It is a general democratic complaint that the affidavits of republicans, exposing democratic crimes, are made and sworn to in the Customhouse in New Orleans. To people who live in communities where the ægis of the law extends equal protection throughout the entire limits of its jurisdiction this may appear surprising; but in Louisiana the citizen who exposes democratic crime does so at the peril of his life. In the rural districts the witnesses dare not testify, nor the law officers certify to or attempt to punish democratic crimes. The cruel fate of those martyrs to republicanism, Pope and Chase, and Crawford and Harris, and a score of others, are yet too fresh and bloody for men not endowed with utter recklessness to venture upon their whole duty as judges and prosecutors. When witnesses dare, on the spot, with uplifted finger, declare: "Thou art the guilty man," then, and not till then, will republicans cease tremblingly to seek the protection of the Federal authorities in this city to unfold their tales of woe and suffering. And the democrats knowing this, dread the day it will come; for a true peace and an enforcement of the laws leaves them without hope of political control.—N. O. Repub.

"Governor" Hampton, of South Carolina, found a banker willing to advance his assembly men one hundred dollars each, but it is claimed that the banker had previously been supplied with funds by Hewitt, at the distance of the great autocrat of Gramercy Park. Hampton's senators were less fortunate. He had to get Cardozo, the republican State Treasurer, to pay them two hundred dollars each, thus acknowledging his official authority as head of the finances of the State. This kills the judicial proceedings previously instituted by the democrats to restrain Cardozo from paying out State funds.

The talk that President Grant had changed, under pressure, in his attitude regarding the present situation, was so silly that any respectable paper ought to be above indulging in it. If there is one feature of his character that Grant has clearly shown in his fifteen years of public service, as President and General, it is that of calm persistence in his purpose, without regard to opposition clamor. "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer."

Democratic papers have been publishing a statement that in Florida, from the precinct ballot boxes to the State House in Tallahassee all the officers doing the counting, making the records, and the final canvass, are republicans. A Florida paper says that half the counties are in the hands of the democrats, that 25 of 39 County Judges are democrats, that there are 25 democratic County Clerks, and that a majority of the County Commissioners who appoint election inspectors are democrats. Facts are very destructive to democratic statements.

How it happened that only 18 republicans out of over 10,000, in Mississippi, voted in November is not the subject of investigation by that branch of Congress which is "fresh from the people.

Hon. James R. Doolittle, of Wisconsin, who ought to be good authority for the democrats, in the Senate, in February, 1865, took occasion to declare as follows: "Now, Mr. President, what I maintain under this provision of the constitution is, that after the votes have been given, there is no power in Congress, as a legislative body, to declare certain votes valid or invalid. Congress is not the tribunal to which it is referred; but the tribunal to which it is referred is the President of the Senate of the United States, presiding over the joint convention of both houses. I admit that the President has in his hands the power to count or not to count the votes."

The increase in the republican vote from 1868 to 1872, in the Northern States, was 250,000. Between 1872 and 1876 it was 769,000. This illustrates the increasing hold the party has on the public confidence. In 1880, it will probably show an increase over 1876 of a million and a half.

ROCKINGHAM, SS.

BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of EMELINE KNOX, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, greeting:

You are hereby notified that SAMUEL ADAMS, administrator of the estate of said deceased, will present his account of administering said estate at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in and for said County, on the second Tuesday of January next, at 10 o'clock A. M. for examination and allowance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively, in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week before said Court.

By order of the Judge,
WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate.

This is to give Notice:

THAT on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1876, a Warrant in Bankruptcy was issued against the Estate of BENJAMIN CHESLEY, of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire, who has been adjudged a Bankrupt on his own Petition; that the payment of any Debts, and the delivery of any Property belonging to such Bankrupt, to him, or for his use, and the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law; that a meeting of the Creditors of the said Bankrupt, to prove their Debts and to choose one or more Assignees of his Estate, will be held at a Court of Bankruptcy, to be holden at the National Hotel in Portsmouth in said District before Thomas E. MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, F

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the last three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $3.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

[WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will ever be ready to advertise them direct to the soldier, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure in the field. Please send me three more by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine on the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and feel that they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried every thing that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Individual Pills to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partially relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for nearly ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they gave me up to die. I came to Florida the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will do me good, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they are. I shall continue using the Pills as long as I need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Send Blanks to the inventory, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO., Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest essays, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Profs. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family, it endeavors to keep itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP! For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels. Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants. We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in Thousands of Cases. It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic. We believe it is the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudice of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—you ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. Sold by Druggists throughout the world. dfeb13

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS. R. H. EDDY SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs. No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON. After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. All necessity for a journey to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS. "I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents. "I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents. "MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for Patents, having been successful almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend all inventors to apply to him to procure their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. JOHN TAGGART." Boston, Jan. 1, 1876. 13

All NEW Subscribers for 1877, paying in advance after November 1, 1876, will receive the paper weekly, from receipt of remittance to January 1st, 1877, without charge.

COMBINED PAPERS-FORTY-SEVENTH YEAR!!

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is published weekly on the following terms, when paid strictly in advance: ONE COPY, one year, $2.50; FOUR COPIES, $10, and one additional copy for the year 1877 to the person who is the Club; TEN COPIES, $20, and an additional copy for the year free to the Sender of the Club.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN possesses an unequaled Corps of Correspondents, regular and occasional, among the Best Farmers of All Parts of the Country, and constantly reflects the practical condition and progress of the husbandry of every section of the United States and civilized world.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN gives in its Horticultural Department a continuous variety of information and suggestions, equal or superior in the aggregate to what is obtained in the monthly numbers of most magazines devoted to Horticulture.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has probably done as much as all other Journals combined, to introduce and disseminate improved Stock of every kind, through the country; and commands to a greater degree than any contemporary, the confidence and support of breeders and purchasers.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN contains unusually full and trustworthy Market Reports, and devotes special attention to them and to the Prospects of the Crops, as throwing light upon one of the most important of all questions — When to Buy and When to Sell.

THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN embraces numerous minor departments of a practical character, such as the Dairy, the Poultry Yard, the Apiary, the Vineyard, and so on, and weekly presents a column or two for the Housewife, and an interesting variety of Fireside Reading. It contains a well-edited review of Current Events, and its advertising pages furnish a directory of all the principal agricultural and horticultural establishments of the country.

N. H. State Grange, P. of H.

The third annual meeting of the New Hampshire State Grange, of Patrons of Husbandry, was held at the hall of Sullivan Grange, in Newport, Dec. 19th to 21st, Worthy Master Dudley F. Chase, of Claremont, presiding. In his opening address, so far from recommending or approving the idea that the Order was designed or should be conducted merely or mainly as a union store or purchase and sale bureau, Mr. Chase used the following language:

Whatever may have been the original objects of the founders of the order of Patrons of Husbandry, it is now evident that the Order can only continue to maintain its ground and to increase its strength in proportion to the support that may be given to it by the members of the subordinate Granges. In order to gain the support of the agriculturists it is necessary that the claims of the Order should be presented in a sensible and reasonable manner. It is not sufficient that we promote business meetings to discuss the prices of corn, potatoes, and iron and tobacco. We cannot satisfy intelligent people with chimerical ideas upon questions of finance, trade, manufacturing, insurance and taxation. * * * *

The great needs of the agriculturist are association, combination and co-operation. The very occupation of the farmer requires isolation while engaged in his ordinary business. He is not continually brought in close contact with his fellow man by the force of circumstances over which he has no control. We combine together for our mutual advantage and for self-protection. Separately we are weak and powerless, but bound together by the fraternal bond we gather strength and are better able to maintain our rights against all opposition. While we associate and combine as farmers, we do not propose to urge any conflict with any other class or profession. We do not claim to maintain the agriculturist at the expense of other citizens. We do not seek protection of Government without yielding to all rights and privileges.

We combine, as all others may, to consider and accept such measures for our mutual advantage and protection as may seem desirable, and not to plot the ruin of our neighbors. We find the true basis of all co-operation is for many to execute each a different part of the complete whole, instead of one to complete the several parts. It is hardly possible for one man to produce and manufacture sufficient to satisfy all of his wants, but he may be able to make or produce in perfection one article, which exchanged for other commodities, will furnish all he desires. We believe in commodities and trade, in railways and manufacturing establishments, and in all the accessories that make a mighty nation.

I esteem it unfortunate that any business system should have been encrusted upon our order. I believe we could better succeed by maintaining the social and fraternal elements without any admixture of business relations, except so far as to manage the details of the organization in strict adherence to business principles. As these matters have been forced upon us we are called to meet the issues, to discuss them, and to arrange our business relations upon as sure a basis as is possible. While many of our number are not disposed to engage in traffic, others are induced to combine and co-operate in buying and selling, and thus carry out the idea that we must buy together and sell together. The system of co-operation, as recommended by the National Grange, seems to be the best for all purposes of trade that has ever been presented. It can be readily applied in any community where there is a sufficient number of farmers to organize a subordinate Grange. This system has stood the test of practical application in Great Britain for many years, and its success is beyond doubt. It is based on correct business principles, and will never fail when it is properly managed.

There is no royal road to success in co-operative trade, and he who expects to become suddenly rich therein had better withdraw and leave the field to those who are satisfied with moderate profits. The principles adopted by the co-operative association are to allow a fixed rate of interest on the capital invested and to divide the profits of the business, after paying the expenses, among the customers, in proportion to the amount of the purchases. On these two rules hang all the law and the profits of co-operation.

Under this system such members of our order as desire to do so may organize and control such an association, and the other members of the Grange are free from all responsibility, annoyance or loss, and are not obliged to participate in the discussions of such mere business as tends to promote estrangement and discord. I cannot urge too strongly upon such as may desire to organize a co-operative association, the absolute necessity of keeping the details of the business in such a manner as to enable those interested to easily satisfy themselves that the association is managed carefully and honestly. Quarterly settlements and accurate inventories are indispensable, and no dividends should ever be declared except upon actual profits.

Secretary Shaw, also, and Treasurer D. M. Clough, in subsequent remarks, set the social and educational features far above the pecuniary and material, however important these are or may become. The as finishing R... Patrons still contin... they ... nearly number more than double any other Order, and more than treble any except the Free Masons.

THE REPORT OF THE SECRETARY,

C. C. Shaw, Esq., of Milford, shows a steady and constant increase of the Order in this State, where there are now eighty-eight Granges, with upwards of 4300 members, an increase of sixteen new Granges during the past year. The receipts for the year have been $1600, and the expenses less than $300, and there is in the State treasury a balance of about $1500. And altogether the Order of Patrons appears to be well patronized in New Hampshire, and the members confidently expect to ere long wield a controlling influence in the State. Among their movements for the coming year will probably be the establishment of a Patrons' Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

It has just been a... bet of persons have been drawing pay from the Patent Office, and rendering no service. This has resulted in the dismissal of J. R. Nettingham, the appointment clerk.

Mr. William Cameron was the bearer of the electoral vote of Pennsylvania to Washington. He is a brother of the Senator and an uncle of the Secretary of War, and is 82 years of age.

Two negroes quarrelled over a game of cards in Boston, Sunday night, and one fatally cut the other with a razor.

An unknown vessel went ashore in the late storm on the south end of Marshal Island, off the coast of Maine. When discovered she had all gone to pieces. Three dead bodies were found among the timbers, frozen stiff, and naked except some shreds of clothing about the neck and feet. The stern of the vessel was carried away, but a beam was found bearing the number 66,891. The tonnage was marked 111 45-100. The vessel was laden with laths.

The ship Rjukan (Norwegian,) from London for New York, went ashore on the New Jersey coast, at Ocean Grove on Sunday night, during a fog. She is a total wreck. Crew saved.

By a gas explosion in the basement of the American Exchange Bank, in New York, Monday, damage was done to the amount of $30,000.

The Atlantic steamers arriving within a few days report the weather for two weeks past the worst they ever experienced.

The loss of vessels on the British coast within a fortnight is estimated at 120, and the lives lost at 300. A Norwegian brig has been wrecked at Burray Islands with all hands. The number of drowned is not stated. A great quantity of wrecked stuff is reported in Pentland Firth, including two unknown steamers bottom upward. On Saturday two unknown vessels, one of 1000 tons burden, disappeared off Arbroath and are supposed to have foundered. A schooner, name unknown, was wrecked in Ackervill Bay and seven seamen were drowned. A German bark was lost off Lossie Mouth, with 14 lives. The brig Sophie, and the bark Palmatta were wrecked off Peter Head and all on board were drowned. Two unknown vessels were lost, with all hands, at the mouth of the Tay. It is believed that there have been several wrecks of which no news will ever be obtained.

New Hampshire Items.

Munroe Dickey, the alleged incendiary at Laconia, attempted suicide Monday by cutting his throat with a jack-knife, partially severing the windpipe. Doctors are in attendance but the result is doubtful.

The venerable President Smith of Dartmouth College, who for thirteen years has ably filled this position, has resigned the position, but the Trustees refuse to accept his resignation, and have voted him a vacation in the hope that he may recover his health.

A house in Bow, owned by Horace Call, of Concord, and occupied by Paul Barry, was burned Saturday evening. Loss about $1500.

A granddaughter of Andrew J. Abbott of Canaan, about sixteen years old, got choked with a piece of beef while eating her supper recently, and died almost instantly.

Members of the Dover Reform Club passed Christmas day in sawing and splitting seven loads of wood donated by members of the First Parish to indigent widow women. Their march in procession through the city with saws and axes to the various places elicited cheers from one class and encomiums from another, attended with an excitment rarely seen in Dover.

Political.

Pat. Crosin is loafing around Washington with his "Electoral College" in his pocket. He seems doubtful about presenting it.

We haven't noticed any comments by the democratic press on the vote of the four Mississippi counties, Lowndes, Madison, Tallahatchee and Yazoo, counties which had in 1870 a colored population of 55,193, and that cast in 1872 a republican vote of 7,389, and which in November cast but 18 votes. No case at all parallel to this can be found in any other State in the Union. Leaving out of view the parish of East Feliciana, the outrages in Louisiana, horrible as they were, produced no such effect as this. Let us have a thorough investigation of that election, that the country may have a clear and vivid conception of the means resorted to by Tilden and his managers.

The democracy of Oregon—the home of Grover—the party that improvised a whole ... against the Returning Boards ... and the other "Southern doubtful States." Having fulfilled instructions as to the protest, the honest democratic magnates of Oregon then turn around and endorse Gov. Grover! Such are the nice distinctions between right and wrong that characterize the "Reform" party in that far off country. Providence Journal.

An English clergyman named Parsons, with ample credentials of his standing in England, has presented a complaint to the British Minister of outrageous treatment by the Mayor and other persons in Charlotte, South Carolina. Mr. Parsons has been travelling through the South as a commissioner of the Grand Lodge of Good Templars in England, to visit and inspect the Order in this country. He was accustomed to speak on temperance and preach. At the town above named he instituted a lodge among the colored people, and a few evenings after went to the Methodist Church to address the colored people on the same subject. On his way he was insulted by persons claiming to act for the Mayor, and was afterward visited by that official and treated in an insulting and threatening manner and ordered not to preach or speak again.

—If a man were to do as he should be done by, he might knock somebody down.

—The Beloit Anti-Horse-Thief Society held a meeting a few evening since, and during the session a horse belonging to a prominent member of the organization was stolen from the curb at the front of the hall, where it had been tied.

—At a spelling school in New York, recently, the duties of the "interrogator" were defined to be "to propound orthographical perplexities." The spellers were to be "marshalled in two battalions of equal dimensions as nearly as practicable, respectively commanded by a syntagmatarch."

—At a recent examination in one of the schools in Washington, the question was put to a class of small boys: "Why is the Connecticut river so called?" A bright little fellow put up his hand. "Do you know, James?" "Yes, ma'am! Because it connects Vermont and New Hampshire, and cuts through Massachusetts?" was the triumphant reply.

—A citizen stops before a blind man who carries on his breast a little picture representing a fire, and on which is written, "Blinded by an accident." "Tell me, my good fellow, in what country the accident represented in this picture happened." The blind man replied, with the greatest imaginable coolness, "Ah! I will not tell you, my good sir. It comes to me from my brother."

—"You voted for Tilden," queried a Bostonian, addressing a New Yorker. "Well, yes, all the fellers in our club voted for him," replied Fifth Avenue. "Well, what kind of a man is he anyway?" asked Boston. "Well," said F. A., wiping a speck of dust from his eye-glass, "I don't know much about him. One feller said the other night that Tilden might do for President, but he shouldn't want to have him own fifty-one per cent. of the stock of a corporation of which he and his friends held the other forty-nine per cent. I don't think it is complimentary—do you?"

Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 23.

The impression is generally prevalent about town that no material progress will be made toward harmonizing the differences of the House and Senate relative to the method of counting and declaring the electoral vote, until the committees sent South shall have completed their labors there and made their reports; and many predict that even then, a reconciliation of views will be found impossible. Almost three weeks of the session have resulted in nothing more definite in the matter than to establish the fact that Mr. Randall and his democratic followers of the House will have the Senate almost solidly against them in any attempt to count in Mr. Tilden by virtue of the twenty-second joint rule, which was the corner stone upon which the fabric of their hopes chiefly rested on the opening day of the session.

Grover has found the Republic ungrateful for his services. He has been treated with positive rudeness and disrespect by his own political friends. Throughout all the discussions in Congress provoked by his desperate expedient to save the great cause of "Honesty and Reform," only a disposition has been manifest to whitewash his illegal action by pleading the purity of his motive. This is about as far as any one has ventured to go in his defence, and hardly any one serious effort has been made in behalf of Cronin's right to cast one of Oregon's electoral votes.

The situation then, at the end of the third week, remains practically the same as on the 6th instant, after the electors of the several States had met and cast their votes, 185 for Hayes and 184 for Tilden, with the twenty-second joint rule eliminated (probably) and the case of several electors (beside the Oregon case) before the Senate Committee of Privileges and Elections for investigation. Under the circumstances the last hope of democracy seems to rest in their ability to successfully impeach the republican position in one of the three States, South Carolina, Florida or Louisiana. But if it should prove difficult for the republicans of either to positively establish their legal right to its electoral vote, how superlatively difficult will it be for their opponents to demonstrate their right to it, in the face of all their efforts to succeed through terrorism and fraud which have been reluctantly admitted by democratic Senators, who sought to extenuate such crimes by allegations of Governor Kellogg's inefficiency?

General Butler and other prominent men are said to favor an act by Congress, appointing some day in May for a new election with every possible precaution against fraud and intimidation, the President of the Senate to act from the fourth of March until the newly elected President shall have qualified for his duties. There are no lack of other plans, proposed by statesmen ambitious of the distinction of lifting our country "from the pit of miry clay" and putting her fairly on her feet again.

If Mr. Abram Hewitt had been chief of the Liberty street Bureau of "nincompoops" he could not have been guilty of a more serious faux pas than when he stated to the House that he had reason to believe his correspondence had been tampered with in the New York Post Office. He evidently regrets his precipitancy, as it has brought out a challenge from the Postmaster for proof, and the whole matter has passed out of his hands into those of an investigating committee. His grounds for the charge, as he half-deprecatingly gave them to the House, were an anonymous letter, which he says he burnt up, and the corrugated condition of the flaps of envelopes which came to him among his other mail matter. How he can reconcile the exceptional efficiency of Mr. James—so efficient that he hoped Mr. Tilden would retain him, as intimated to the House—with such criminal proceedings directly under that official's nose, he did not explain.

The members of Wade Hampton's Legislature have hastened to emphasize that gentleman's assurance in his inauguration speech, that his supporters were the law abiding element of the Sate, and accepted the fourteenth and fifteenth amendments in their full spirit and intent, by electing "General" Butler to represent them in the United States Senate, a person now under indictment for his leading part in the deliberate murder of several negroes at Hamburg, South Carolina, on the Fourth of July of the present year.

Fernando Wood appears to feel the poisoned arrows with which the editor of the National Republican drove him into a personal explanation before the House a few days ago. The cruel archer is pressing home his advantage in every issue of his paper. The revelations of the Republican attracted a good deal of unpleasant attention.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The edition for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual, known as Hostetter's Almanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America, and indeed in every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in their neighborhood.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., is noted for its fine location and the unsurpassed elegance of its appointments.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, means "war" on rates. To accommodate the demand for low prices, it has reduced its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint. It is pleasant to take and works to a charm. Price only 35 cents. Sample free.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

GUARD AGAINST FIRES.

Eds. Chron.: It is to be hoped that our citizens will be admonished by the Temple fire to renew precautions against a future conflagration, which under less favorable circumstances than those of Sunday night, may prove disastrous in the extreme. It is high time that we had fire limits, embracing the compact part of the city, within which it shall be unlawful to erect a building of wood of more than one story in height. Portsmouth has an excellent fire department, but it cannot work miracles. Begin at once with a rigid law, the operation of which from year to year will give us walls of brick, instead of rows of tinder boxes. Will some one in the city government move at once in this matter?

PRUDENCE.

THE POOR CHILDREN'S DINNER.

The Christmas festival for the poor children of our city occurred on Saturday afternoon, Dec. 23d, as announced. It was a thoroughly successful and happy occasion; ninety-seven children sat down; at the first table fifty-seven were seated; the remaining forty were provided for at the second table. Prayers of Thanksgiving were made by Rev. E. M. Grant and Rev. James Noyes, both clergymen alluding most appropriately to the occasion, and the day. The tables were bountifully spread, for the people had responded nobly to the call for aid, and under the vigorous appetites of girls and boys the turkeys, ducks, mutton, bread, pies, turnovers, apples, cakes, snaps, milk, doughnuts, etc., rapidly disappeared. Doughnuts were held in high esteem; think of a boy having six in his plate and being assured that "there were more to follow;" but there seemed to be no end to the good things. Many friends came in to look upon the happy scene,—to watch the keen enjoyment of the children, who were waited on by a corps of very efficient young ladies. It was evident that many of the children had put on their cleanest and best array; still there were cases of great deficiency in clothing; one boy appeared in a linen coat, hardly sufficient protection against the sharp winter air.

The dinner terminating satisfactorily, the children were marshalled to the chapel, where they listened quietly as Dr. Goodall sung several songs, the children joining lustily in the choruses of the stirring hymns. Dr. Goodall said a few words to them about the chapel in which they were gathered, of the old pulpit, from which Dr. Burroughs, the friend of the poor, had often told the sweet story of the nativity, etc. The story of Elijah fed by ravens was read from the raised Bible by Miss Hunting, a blind resident of Faith Home. Capt. Marvin, president of the S. P. C. A., then catechised the little children regarding the Christmas time; the hearty answers told plainly that the speaker had their complete attention. Probably the captain was surprised and amused when the question, "whose birth does Christmas commemorate?" was answered by a very confident voice, "George Washington;" the boys had mixed sacred and secular history just then.

Mrs. J. J. Pickering and Miss E. H. Pearson, untiring workers in every good cause contributed gifts of lovely pictures and books for each child. The children were presented with these gifts; eager, wondering eyes watched longingly as name after name was called, none were forgotten; there were gifts for all, even for the sick little brothers and sisters at home.

Gifts were also presented, in the name of the N. H. S. P. C. A., to Miss Mabel Brown and Master Eddie Goodall, for kindness in caring for forlorn and abused animals. This presentation was made to encourage children to efforts of kindness to animals.

The deportment of the children during the afternoon was good. The last distribution was that of cornucopias of candy; at this sweet climax the boys were slightly uproarious, but who could wonder? so many good things—a dinner and a day never to be forgotten.

The donations were as follows: One barrel flour; 8 bushels apples; 1 sheep; 69 pies; 3 gallons milk; of doughnuts, 1 bushel and 1 peck; rolls, biscuits, bread, turnovers, cakes, tarts, buns, cookies, sponge cake, cheese, pickles, puddings; 11 chickens; 4 turkeys; 2 ducks; 1 ham (boiled); cash, $58.00.

The cash expenses were as follows: Milk, $1.30; corn, $2.75; candy, $5; hack, $1; Hourly, $2.50; paper bags, 20 cts.; total, $12.75.

The provisions remaining on hand will be distributed during the week to needy families. The funds will be used as judiciously as possible, in buying clothing, etc., for the children.

Much of the labor of this occasion devolved upon Mr. Loyne, who visited over one hundred families, and by careful enquiries ascertained as far as possible the condition of the children before issuing tickets, as it was the intention of the committee to issue tickets to those outside the churches.

Mr. J. G. Harvey gratuitously solicited funds for this occasion; he was received in almost every instance with a ready response. We would gladly publish the names of those who thus contributed so liberally, but many refused to have their charity known, therefore we can only thank the givers.

The committee also extend thanks to all who assisted in any way at this Christmas dinner.

FEEDING THE BIRDS.

We have lately seen quite a large flock of the English sparrows flitting about the centre of our city; and if it be true, as reported, that they were brought here from Boston by parties interested in them, it is to be hoped, and ought to be reasonably expected, that their importers will see to it that they are provided with food and shelter houses for the winter.

When Langdon Park was planted, last summer, there were set three trees in the centre row, one each for the S. P. C. A., the S. P. C. C., and the birds. On Christmas day, the fine old Swedish and general European custom, of offering an unthreshed sheaf of grain to each of these trees as food for the birds was observed at the Park, and we trust will be adopted and repeated elsewhere. Don't let the birds go hungry.

JOTTINGS.

The burning of the Temple has left the city without any suitable place for the assembling of large audiences, at operas, theatrical performances, lectures, fairs and high-toned negro minstrel shows. Such a place is needed, but will it pay to build it?

A family named Hanson, father, mother, and four children aged respectively, nine, seven, and five years, and one five months old, were entertained at the station house at Haverhill, Mass., on Wednesday night. They had been turned out of home in Watertown, N. Y., and were on their way to friends in Portsmouth. Night overtook them there penniless. They had tickets to Portsmouth, and were sent thither on Thursday morning.—Concord Patriot.

"Burleigh" writes from New York to the Boston Journal that "Rev. Mr. Martyn, from Portsmouth, has disappointed every one. He came to a flock scattered and disheartened. He has gathered together the disaffected members, secured a very fine attendance, and his work promises to be successful. With the aid of the Collegiate Church, who keep the interest down on the debt, it is thought he will win."

"Artaximenous ye Great" will be given in Franklin Hall, on the evening originally named for its production,—Thursday, January 4th.

We are informed that Mr. John W. Stavers proposes to at once put up, on the site of the Temple, a building sufficiently large to accommodate any average Portsmouth audience.

The cargo of coal (160 tons) of the sunken schooner "Ceres," which was sold by auction to Mr. John L. O. Coloman of this city for $8—for the lot—was by him sold to Mr. Nehemiah Gibson, of Boston, for $200. Mr. Gibson was the purchaser of the schooner's hull and fittings.

What is Glycerine.

This question is often asked, and an answer would be of much interest to many, for it is an article that is much used, and ought to be found in every household. It is a principle which exists in fat, and fats are a combination of glycerine. Lard, after the lard oil has been pressed out, is chiefly a compound of stearic acid and glycerine. Where the best candles are manufactured, the compound is broken up, and stearic acid is used for candles, while the glycerine is cleansed and put up for sale. Pure glycerine should be a quite thick and colorless liquid. It has no odor; its name is from the Greek word meaning sweet, and this term points out one of its prominent characteristics—its sweetness. For its undrying qualities it is very remarkable. If spread out and exposed to the air, it remains unchanged for a long time. It will not mix with oils, but mixes freely with alcohol and with water, and has a solvent power for numerous substances. It is much used in medicine as a solvent for many drugs. In medical preparations it is much used instead of sugar. We all know of its excellent qualities for chapped and sore hands, face and lips, keeping the parts from the air, and is much more convenient than other oily matters. Diluted with water it makes a good hair dressing, keeping the hair smooth and moist and rendering it easily combed. Glycerine does not freeze or evaporate. It is used instead of molasses to mix in glue, to form the rollers by which ink is applied to type. It is exclusively used in cities to put in gas meters, and in many other ways. These are only a few of the many uses to which it can be still more generally used if people only knew the virtue of this interesting chemical product.

—The New Century asks: "How can a woman make home more attractive to her husband?" Around here the surest way is believed to be to hire a pretty chambermaid.—Norwich Bulletin.

—There is a sweet clerk in an up-town storef who all day long says: "Ah, me ladee, ah," in true Philadelphia style, and in the evening, while he is playing shuffleboard in a lager beer saloon, he says: "If these devilish scoundrels in Florida count Tilden out, I wouldn't give five cents for a four-bladed knife in this country."—N. Y. Herald.

HATHAWAY SHIRTS,

—A FEW MORE OF THOSE

CELEBRATED HATHAWAY SHIRTS,

William P. Walker's,

193 No. 3 Market Square.

—In Paris the most fashionable ladies have cut the cord of the pull-back, and developed again into voluminous drapery.

—Most people are ignorant of the fact that this country possesses a distinguished Russian—Mr. Tildenjohnmorrisseysaysallyoubetsareoff.—Chicago Post.

—No, bub, we can't remember the name of the father who first invented the art of leading his son to expect a pair of skates at Christmas, and then filled his stocking with five cents' worth of pop-corn.

—An express robber, who had been tried and acquitted, after hearing Moody and Sankey at Chicago, confessed his guilt, and returned $3,000 of the $16,000 he had stolen. This is preaching to some purpose.

—A little boy in Springfield, Mass., after his customary evening prayer, a night or two ago, continued, "and bless mamma and Jenny and uncle Benny," adding, after a moment's pause, the explanatory remark, "his name is Hopkins."

—A Springfield woman who had a son in Brooklyn, dreamed on the night of the disaster that he was burned in a theatre. On reading the news of the fire she was convinced that the dream was prophetic, and she telegraphed for information, learning all reply that the son had not been to the theatre.

—A few months ago an elegantly dressed woman, the wife of a rich merchant, was so drunk in a Baltimore street that she could not stand, and a policeman arrested her. Her husband secured her release, and the incident was made a secret. She promised never to drink intoxicating liquor again. Lately she was found lying drunk in a gutter, and this time the husband would do nothing to hide her shame. She was publicly fined in a police court, and discarded by her family. Yet how many wives endure year after year the disgrace of a drunken husband, even when it inflicts upon them suffrings and anguish which the "merchant" in question could not be made to suffer through his wife—the miseries of homelessness and starvation.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivalled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Constantinople, about Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron string," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will begin on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Miss Trafton's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers on "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Bennett's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Loaf Factory," and the November number, and "Trout Lake, Scotdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Money Making for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Rivers by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more social and generous in all its utterances and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (new or renewal) and whose subscription begins with the present volume, or, with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year; or two numbers, special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

SOUTH BERWICK, ME., Nov. 26, 1875.

MR. DENNIS SHEA, Sir: The Water Cement Pipe you laid for us over three years ago has proved perfectly satisfactory to us in every respect, and although a part of it froze up last winter, we can't see any injury done. The Pipe was laid by you in a thorough manner, and we believe it to be the best Water Pipe known, and if we lay any more shall surely lay the same, and you are to do the job if alive and well. Yours, D. CUMMINGS & CO.

ROCKINGHAM, SS.

BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of EMELINE KNOX, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, greeting,

YOU are hereby notified that SAMUEL ADAMS, administrator of the estate of said deceased, has filed his account of administering said estate at a Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in and for said County, on the second Tuesday of January next, at 10 o'clock A. M. for examination and allowance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge,
WOODBURY M. DURGIN, Register of Probate.

This is to give Notice:

THAT on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1876, a Warrant in Bankruptcy was issued against the Estate of BENJAMIN CHENEY, of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire, who has been adjudged a Bankrupt on his own Petition; that the payment of any Debts, and the delivery of any Property belonging to such Bankrupt, to him, or for his use, and the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law; that a meeting of the Creditors of the said Bankrupt, to prove their Debts and to choose one or more Assignees of his Estate, will be held at a Court of Bankruptcy, to be holden at the National Hotel in Portsmouth in said District before Thomas E. Sawyer, Register, on the 4th day of January A. D. 1877, at 11 o'clock A. M.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 23, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have tried no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 19, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his head to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatism Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians told me my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go to Florida and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here is that I owe all for your pills which came near being cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for a friend, and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

USE

OF

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are Editorial Discussions of Current Events, Survey Notices, Foreign Literary Notes, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving, usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Trial subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

CHILDREN TEETHING

MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP! For Children Teething, greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels. Depended upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants. We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered. This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in Thousands of Cases. It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. Be sure and call for "MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP," Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper. Sold by Druggists throughout the world. dtf&eo15

AMERICAN & FOREIGN PATENTS. R. H. EDDY, SOLICITOR OF PATENTS, For Inventions Trade Marks or Designs No. 76 STATE ST., OPPOSITE KILBY ST., BOSTON. After an extensive practice of upwards of thirty years, continues to secure patents in the United States; also in Great Britain, France and other foreign countries. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all papers for Patents, executed on reasonable terms with dispatch. Researches made to determine the validity and utility of Patents of Inventions, and legal and other advice rendered in all matters touching the same. Copies of the claims of any patent furnished, by remitting one dollar. Assignments recorded in Washington. No Agency in the United States possesses superior facilities for obtaining Patents or ascertaining the patentability of inventions. All necessary for a party to Washington to procure a Patent and the usual great delay there, are here saved inventors.

TESTIMONIALS. "I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the most capable and successful practitioners with whom I have had official intercourse. CHARLES MASON, Commissioner of Patents. "I have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a man more competent and trustworthy and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office. EDMUND BURKE, Late Commissioner of Patents. "MR. R. H. EDDY has made for me over THIRTY applications for patents, having been successful in almost every case. Such unmistakable proof of great talent and ability on his part leads me to recommend ALL inventors to apply to him to prepare their Patents, as they may be sure of having the most faithful attention bestowed on their cases and at very reasonable charges. Mark Twain on the Situation.

The World sent a reporter to call upon Mr. Mark Twain during his recent visit to New York. Mr. Twain immediately began to pack his carpet bag, and the following conversation occurred:

"Mr. Twain," said the reporter, "what have you to say on the political situation?"

"Sir," replied Mr. Twain bundling a long white garment into his valise, "it is mixed."

"And?" said the reporter.

"I didn't mix it, and I don't know who did, and I can't straighten it, and I don't know who can, and—what do you think, sir, of paving Broadway with—"

"Excuse me, Mr. Twain; now, there are the Southern outrages—"

"Never heard of them; never, never, never."

"Never heard of them, Mr. Twain?"

"No, sir, I never did; (by this time Mr. Twain had one side of his bag packed, and was sitting on it;) ain't in my line; let's talk about something else."

"Mr. Twain, I understand you voted the republican ticket?"

"Yes, sir; where's the whisk-broom? Ah, here it is; in you go. Sir, would you journey through life swiftly and in peace?"

"Yes," replied the reporter; "but Mr. Twain——"

"Never mind the buts. You must make a rule of packing the whisk-broom first. Now for the pipe and the Bible, and there I'm all packed; must go; got to catch a train in three minutes; good-by;" and in a twinkling Mr. Twain was on his way to Hartford.

The reporter turned sadly to leave, when the pensive voice of the republican politician was again heard, and turning round he beheld Mr. Twain, with his body in and his head out of the elevator.

"I say, now, you had better not print the information I've given you."

"Why not?"

"Because it's private, and because if you do I'll kill one of the editors you can't spare; I will, I will. Merry Christmas."

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its episodical serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its beautiful binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid holiday offering and gift ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is in all respects the best of its kind. We have never yet seen a number that was not surprisingly good."—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

"ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877, Which opens with November, 1876, begins a short and very entertaining Serial from the French, "The Kingdom of the Greedy," a story adapted to the Thanksgiving season. Another serial, of absorbing interest to boys,

"HIS OWN MASTER," By J. T. Trowbridge, Author of the "Jack Hazard stories," begins in the Christmas Holiday number.

Besides serial stories, Christmas stories, lively sketches, poems and pictures for the young, and some astonishing illustrations of Oriental sports, with drawings by Chinese artists, The Christmas Holiday Number of ST. NICHOLAS, superbly illustrated, contains a very interesting paper,

"THE BOYS OF MY BOYHOOD," By William Cullen Bryant;

"The Horse Hotel," a lively article, by Charles A. Dana, profusely illustrated; "The Cook in the Sky," by Richard A. Proctor; "A Christmas Play for Home or Sunday school," by Dr. Eggleston; "The Peterkins' Christmas Tree," by Lucretia P. Hale; "Poetry and Carols of Winter," by Lucy Larcom, with pictures.

Do Not Fail to Buy St. Nicholas for the Christmas Holidays. Price 25 cents.

During the year there will be interesting papers for boys, by William Cullen Bryant, John G. Whittier, Thomas Hughes, William Howitt, Dr. Holland, George MacDonald, Sanford B. Hunt, Frank R. Stockton, and others.

There will be stories, sketches, and poems, of special interest to girls, by Harriet Prescott Spofford, Susan Coolidge, Sarah Winter Kellogg, Elizabeth Stuart Phelps, Louisa Alcott, Lucretia P. Hale, Celia Thaxter, Mary Mapes Dodge, and many others. There will be also "TWELVE SKY PICTURES," By Prof. Proctor, the Astronomer, with maps, showing "The Stars of Each Month," which will be likely to surpass in interest any series on popular science recently given to the public.

A unprecedented Instruction, with Fun and Frolic, and Wit and Wisdom, will be mingled as heretofore, in ST. NICHOLAS, which will continue to delight the young and give pleasure to the old.

The London Literary World says: "There is no magazine for the young that can be said to equal this choice production of SCRIBNER'S press. All the articles, whether in prose or rhyme, are throbbing with life, and the work is literature and artistic illustrations are both superb."

The London Daily News says: "We wish we could point to a publication equal in every political literature."

GOOD NEWS FOR BOYS AND GIRLS;

To meet the demand for a cheaper ST. NICHOLAS Gift Book, the price of vols. I and II has been reduced to $3 each. The three volumes, in an elegant library case, are sold for $10 (in full gilt, $15), so that it may give their children a complete set. These volumes contain more attractive material than fifty dollars' worth of the ordinary children's books.

Subscription price, $4 a year. The three bound volumes and a subscription for this year, only $12. Subscribe with the nearest newsdealer, or send money in check, or P. O. money order, or in registered letter, to LITTELL'S LIVING AGE FOR 1877. The continued and increasing success of this periodical (now over thirty-three years old) is doubtless owing to the fact that it affords a comprehensive and cheap means of keeping well informed in the best literature of the day. With its weekly issue, and its three and a quarter thousand large pages of reading matter a year, it is enabled to present with freshness and satisfactory completeness able essays and reviews, choice serials and short stories, interesting sketches of travel and discovery, poetry, and valuable biographical, historical, scientific and political information from the entire body of foreign periodical literature.

In its pages are represented such eminent authors as Prof. Max Müller, Prof. Tyndall, Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Prof. Huxley, Richard A. Proctor, Frances Power Cobbe, The Duke of Argyll, Anthony Trollope, Mrs. Oliphant, Mrs. Alexander, Miss Thackeray, Jean Ingelow, Geo. McDonald, Wm. Black, Matthew Arnold, Henry Kingsley, W. W. Story, Auerbach, Ruskin, Carlyle, Tennyson, Browning, and many other leaders in science, fiction, history, biography, philosophy, poetry, theology, politics, criticism and art.

The subscription price ($8 a year) is cheap for the amount of reading matter furnished; while for those desiring the cream of both home and foreign literature, the publishers make a still cheaper offer, viz.: to send, postpaid, The Living Age and either one of the American $4 monthlies, or weeklies, a year for $10.50. With The Living Age and one or other of our leading American monthlies, a subscriber will at small cost, be put in possession of the whole situation.

An extra offer, also, is made to all new subscribers for 1877, viz.: to send them gratis the six numbers of the remaining, besides other valuable reading, the first installments of a new and unusually powerful serial story by George MacDonald, now appearing in The Living Age from advance sheets.

The volume begins Jan. 1st, and we recommend the beginning of the year to the attention of our readers. We know of no other way in which so much of the best work of the best minds of the time can be obtained so cheaply and conveniently as through this standard weekly magazine. Published by Littell & Gay, Boston.

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 28, 1876.

News and Notes.

St. Elizabeth's convent, near Joliet, Canada, was burned Christmas night, and thirteen persons, nearly all young girls, were burned to death.

Robert Summerton, master of a Rockland, Me., schooner, had his skull fractured Tuesday evening at Beverly, Mass., by a blow from a club in the hands of one of his crew, named William Cousins. Both men belong in Rockland. Summerton will die.

A brick chimney one hundred feet high, attached to a Philadelphia glass-works, did $5000 worth of damage by falling through the roof of the building. The fires had been allowed to go out, and the intense cold contracted one side of the chimney until it toppled over.

Frank McGraw, a New York Central Railroad brakeman through whose neglect an accident occurred which resulted in the death of an express messenger, has been arrested on a charge of manslaughter. McGraw was sent back to flag a train, and was left in the bitter cold for more than three hours. Unable to longer endure it, and his arms being already paralyzed, he sought shelter in a caboose on a side track, and while there the train he had been instructed to flag passed him without the signal being observed. McGraw showed the jury that he had not been in bed for one week previous, and for two days had not tasted food, being detained on the road by accidents. The feeling is in his favor, and intensely bitter against the Railroad Company.

A fire at Tokio, Japan, Nov. 25th, destroyed 5000 houses, valued at $10,000,000, and fifty lives.

The man who committed suicide by shooting himself at Lovell's gun store in Boston on Dec. 23d has been identified as George L. Maury, thirty-eight years of age, and belonging in Woonsocket, R. I. He was a single man, and has a father living at Woonsocket.

Schooner S. J. Watt left New York for St. John, N. B., Dec. 6th, with pig iron and corn meal. As other vessels sailing at the same time have arrived, and as she was out in all the recent gales, fears are felt for her safety. She is an American vessel.

The Turkish council has voted for war. England will withdraw her fleets from Turkish waters if Turkey refuses to agree with the proposals submitted by the conference of the European powers.

The proposed new Territory of Huron, to be created out of the northern portion of Dakota Territory, has an area of 70,000 square miles and an estimated population of 10,000. The creation of the Territory grows out of the pressing need of local government, and especially of courts of justice. Litigants who now have to go from Pembina to Yankton, the capitol of Dakota, to bring their cases before the Supreme Court of the Territory, are in about as awkward a predicament as the people of Maine would be if they had to conduct their law business in Washington. The Territory has now as many inhabitants as Minnesota had when ex-Senator Ramsey went to St. Paul to organize the Territory; and Minnesota at that day was thought to be as uninhabitable as Huron is now.

Steamer Victoria, at New York from Glasgow, reports having encountered violent gales from the time of leaving Glasgow until reaching Halifax, where she was compelled to put in for a supply of coal 21st inst.; on the 18th experienced on the eastern edge of the Grand Banks a gale of unusual severity; during the height of the gale there appeared on the trucks, yards and stays large balls of fire or phosphorus, strung on at intervals of a foot or two, giving the ship the appearance of being decorated with Chinese lanterns, only more brilliant; they settled on the vessel like a shower of meteors, and disapeared almost as suddenly as they appeared, an occasional one dropping from the yards, bursting with a loud report; one of them fell and burst almost in the face of Mr. Theo. Knox, chief officer, making a noise like a small piece of artillery, but causing no more inconvenience than dazing him for the moment. Capt. Hedderwick states that he has known no such weather for eleven years, when he had somewhat similar experience. During the whole passage not a ropeyarn was damaged nor an individual injured in the slightest manner.

The business community will rejoice at the efforts of the Western Union Telegraph Company to preserve the inviolability of telegraphic despatches. There is no reason why they should not be as secret as communications by mail. The company has resolved that, if there is no other way left for them to protect their customers from exposure, they will destroy all despatches and all records showing the nature of such despatches, unless the sender shall request their preservation.

A man named Metcalf attempted suicide by shooting in Manchester, Dec. 26th. Cause, depression in spirits caused by ill conduct of his wife. He is a quiet, sober, industrious man.

Political.

The democratic papers are propounding the following conundrum: "Why is it that, while the democratic investigating committees of the House, in Louisiana, Florida and South Carolina, sit with open doors, the republican committees of the Senate in those States hold their sessions" in secret? That's an easy one; the witnesses before the democratic committees are aware that no matter what they say, so long as they testify to suit the democracy, their lives are perfectly safe; while the witnesses before the republican committees know that their lives are not worth a day's purchase if they tell Senate committees sit with closed doors that republican witnesses may not be exposed to the vengeance of democratic assassins.

That incorruptible patriot, David Dudley Field, of New York, has been laboring through an article in the International Magazine, to prove that public morals have decayed. Mr. Field is a practical reformer. He ought to know all about decadence in morals. He would make an admirable chief mourner in a period of national downfall resulting from corruption. Mr. Field was for years the attorney of the Erie Railroad thieves, and later he has conducted Tweed's financial and legal affairs. Formerly a republican, his more recent associations have naturally transformed him into an independent reformer.—Traveller.

Governor Tilden's plan of battle is thus unfolded by the Indianapolis Journal, "on excellent authority:" "Between now and the counting of the electoral votes he will bulldoze public opinion as effectually as possible by public meetings, State conventions, warlike editorials, etc. As soon as possible after Hayes is inaugurated, he will move in some court of proper jurisdiction for a writ of quo warranto to test the former's title to the office. Failing in this he will apply for an injunction to restrain him from exercising its functions. Then he will sue the President in trespass, quare clausum fregit, claiming the White House as his private property. After that he will bring an ejectment suit, in the course of which he will furnish an abstract of his title to the Presidency, and go over the whole ground of the contest in Oregon and the three disputed Southern States. His next step will be a replevin suit to recover possession of the furniture and personal property in the White House, hoping thereby to so embarrass the President as to compel him to relinquish the office. Failing in this he sues the President for damages, in the confident expectation of recovering sufficient to pay the expenses of his litigation. Finally, having exhausted every constitutional remedy, he will send word to George W. Julian and J. Ross Dobbs that it's of no use, and they may as well cry havoc and let slip the dogs of war. Upon these instructions they will cry and let slip as aforesaid."

Exhorting the Wrong Person.

An amusing incident is related in connection with the meeting at the Tabernacle on Thursday night. As it was well known, Mr. Moody preached to fallen women, hundreds of whom were present. The newspapers were agog, and a dozen or so of reporters were dodging about the great building trying to pick up ideas. Among these was a young man from the Times, who had been told to interview some of the women, if possible, after the services. He was a nice young man, a modest young man, as all Times reporters are, but he had not that stock of wordly experience with which most of his brethren are endowed. Seeing a richly dressed lady in the audience who seemed deeply affected over the services, he watched his opportunity, and, as the audience was passing out, addressed her. "How have you enjoyed the meeting?" said he. "Oh, very much," she replied. "Nothing could be more effective." "Do you like Mr. Moody's preaching?" "I think he is the greatest living evangelist," she returned. "You believe what he says, then?" said the reporter. "Most assuredly I do," she answered. "Are you ready to leave your life of sin, then, and try to reform?" "What?" exclaimed the lady, looking rather blank. "Are you ready to reform?" An expression half of astonishment and half of indignation overspread the lady's countenance. "What do you mean by reforming?" said she, rather tartly. "I mean leaving your disreputable life," he replied. The lady looked at him steadily a moment and then said: "I think the managers ought to send only such members of the Christian association out to talk to the congregation as are possessed of a little common sense, and I intend to tell them so." It was the young man's turn to stare now. "What managers?" said he. "The managers of these meetings," she replied. "I've nothing to do with the meetings," said he. "I'm a reporter." "Oh!" said the lady. "Yes!" returned the reporter. "Then," said she, "I'll tell you something that you can make a note of. I hope I am a respectable woman. I have been a member of an orthodox church ever since I was eleven years old. I have done all I could to aid Brother Moody in these meetings, and I am here tonight to help any fallen women—or fallen men," she added, looking significantly at the reporter, "who may need my services. Now, if you will come to the inquiry room I will take great pleasure in introducing you to Brother Moody." The young man didn't go, but he did get out of that building about as fast as his legs could carry him, while his face was beaming like a carnation rose. The lady, the wife of one of Chicago's prominent and wealthy young citizens—told the story afterward to some friends, who greatly enjoyed it, as will everybody else, except, possibly, the unfortunate reporter.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

The South African Method.

A Capetown (South Africa) newspaper tells the story of a native, who, having been the unfortunate creditor of a bankrupt, had lost $200 or so, and was determined to master the system by which he was deprived of his money. Having done so, he was able to explain to his friends that he had lost his money because the debtor became "Packarapu." In explanation of this word he said that a white man who wants to become a "Packarapu" goes into business and gets quantities of goods and does not pay for them. He then gets all the money he can get together—say $10,000—and puts it away where no one can get it, all except $25. With this he goes to the Judge of the Supreme Court and tells him he has been robbed, and he then calls all the lawyers together, likewise all the men to whom the "Packarapu" owes money, and he says "This man is 'Packarapu,' but, wishing to give you all he has got, he has asked me to divide this among you all." The Judge thereupon gives $20 to the lawyers and $5 to the other men, and the "Packarapu" goes home.

—Last week Mr. Crim, living near the battle-field of Antietam, couldn't find a big stone to make red hot for the purpose of heating water for butchering, and put into the kitchen stove an old shell, a relic of the battle. He went out for a while, and when he returned the stove and a part of the house had disappeared.

—A young man from Michigan, writing up his first ball, because it was at a "hop," described one of the belles of the evening as "a graceful and bewitching little toad."

Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy is beyond all comparison the best preparation for Catarrh ever discovered.

A Valuable Medical Treatise.

The edition for 1877 of the sterling Medical Annual known as Hostetter's Almanac, is now ready, and may be obtained, free of cost, of druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the United States and British America, and indeed in every civilized portion of the Western Hemisphere. This Almanac has been issued regularly at the commencement of every year for over one fifth of a century. It combines, with the soundest practical advice for the preservation and restoration of health, a large amount of interesting and amusing light reading, and the calendar, astronomical calculations, chronological items, &c., are prepared with great care, and will be found entirely accurate. The issue of Hostetter's Almanac for 1877 will probably be the largest edition of a medical work ever published in any country. The proprietors, Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburgh, Pa., on receipt of a two cent stamp will forward a copy by mail to any person who cannot procure one in his neighborhood.

The Colonnade Hotel.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., is noted for its fine location and the unsurpassed elegance of its appointments.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, means "war" on rates. To accommodate the demand for low prices, it has reduced its rates from $4.00 to $2.50 and $3.00 per day.

Adamson's Botanic Balsam does not dry up a cough and leave the cause behind, but it loosens and cleanses the lungs and allays irritation, thus removing the cause of the complaint. It is pleasant to take and works to a charm. Price only 35 cents. Sample free.

TRAVELLERS GOING SOUTH, whether for business or pleasure, are greatly indebted to the energy of the managers of the N. Y. & N. E. Railroad, which now runs a Pullman sleeping car direct from Boston to Richmond and Danville, without change. Invalids seeking the salubrious climate of Florida will find this route the most direct and least fatiguing.

Important to persons visiting New York or the Centennial. The Grand Union Hotel, New York, opposite the Grand Central Depot, has over 350 elegantly furnished rooms. Elevator, steam and all improvements. European plan. Carriage hire is saved, as baggage is taken to and from the depot free. Guests can live better for less money at the Grand Union than at any other first-class hotel. Stages and cars pass the Hotel constantly to all parts of the city, and to the Philadelphia depot.

SUGGESTIONS.

Mr. John W. Stavers, in his card, thanks the Fire Department for their noble effort, notwithstanding the long delayed alarm. This leads me to suggest one or two of the duties of the citizens in case of fire. First, if you discover that a building is on fire, don't wait to put the fire out before giving an alarm. First cry out and raise the community and then put out the fire if you can. Nobody will complain if the fire is out when the firemen arrive. Better this than a great fire. This is what Mr. Stavers did not do. He neglected to give an alarm, though he was in the street when he discovered the fire, but rushed into the building and tried his best to put out the fire. In this way several precious minutes were lost.

Second. When there is a fire, and there is nothing for you to do, keep out of the way. Don't hinder if you cannot help. If a friend or neighbor is in danger go in and help him. But keep cool, and move nothing except absolutely necessary. If water must be used, throw it with a dipper or some small vessel. Use it prudently. It will save labor and great damage. Very valuable help was given in this way last Sunday evening.

Third. Look out for your own fires. It was a stove pipe running through the floor that imperilled the city on Sunday. Don't let a pipe run through a floor. It is never safe, and never should be allowed. B.

OUR APOLOGY.

The burning of the Temple has left the city without any suitable place for the assembling of large audiences, at operas, theatrical performances, lectures, fairs and high-toned negro minstrel shows. Such a place is needed but will it pay to build it?

The CHRONICLE this morning, with its usual enterprise, contained the above item, which was no doubt intended to keep amusements from this city while leading astray parties unacquainted with our hall facilities. We take particular pride therefore in saying that Franklin Hall offers every facility for entertainments, being large, finely and completely appointed and easy of ingress and egress, its constant demand proving that it is a most desirable place, the CHRONICLE to the contrary. In this connection we will add that Mr. Alfred Stavers, proprietor of the above hall, is having plans drawn for the construction of another opera house, which is to take up the remaining portions of Franklin block, work upon which will be soon commenced. It is intended to make the new hall one of the best in the State outside of Concord.—Times.

Who the author of the Times' comments is we don't know; also, we don't care; but whoever he is he knowingly and purposely lied when he wrote that our item was "no doubt intended to keep amusements from this city." We are glad—and the public will be—to hear that Franklin Hall is "easy of egress;" but if it "offers every facility for entertainments," what need is there of its proprietor enlarging it, or constructing "another opera house?"

FOG SIGNALS NEEDED.

The fishermen who use this harbor in the winter as a base from which to prosecute their venturesome and perilous calling, and the coasters who are driven by stress of weather to take refuge here, complain bitterly of the utter lack of efficient fog signals,—and with good reason, for in heavy weather (just the time when efficient signals are needed to aid the mariner in his efforts to reach a haven of safety) the fog-bell on Whale's-back—the only fog-signal there is here—cannot be heard a hundred yards away. The need of good signals as guides to this harbor is so evident to every seaman that it seems passing strange they have not long since been provided. Portsmouth lower harbor is the only port of refuge between Thatcher's Island and Cape Elizabeth that a vessel caught in an on-shore gale can run for; for York harbor, Wood island pool and Cape Porpoise are too difficult of entry in heavy weather to be worth considering as shelter ports. Yet the hundreds of vessels that yearly run for this harbor as a last resort to save property and life, have to run blindly through fog or snow or rain, trusting to their skill at guessing (far that is about what dead reckoning amounts to) and the use of the hand-lead to enable them to hit the narrow entrance to the harbor instead of the jagged rocks on either side of it. Could those who are responsible for the lack of signals at this port once have the pleasure of straining their eyes in the endeavor to see land through a fog or driving snow-storm, from the deck of some schooner running for harbor before a gale, which harbor must be made, efficient fog-signals at the Shoals and the harbor's entrance would not long be wanting. It is no uncommon circumstance for fishing vessels to be so situated—to have to run in for shelter at times when land can be seen only a few hundred feet away, when the weather is such that small craft cannot keep to sea, and the only chance for safety lies in making the narrow mouth of the Piscataqua; and at such times a good signal would be invaluable, enabling them to run [illegible] guides they can only hope [illegible] may [illegible] enough to reach safe anchorage [illegible] of a rough bed on the rocks, for they have absolutely no guiding signals, the Whale's-back bell being utterly worthless in a gale of wind. Schooner Grace Choate had such an experience in one of the recent furious gales. Having hung it out on Jaffrey's until it was impossible to do so any longer, a course was shaped so as to sight Mingo rock, at the Shoals, 35 miles away; but the first land sighted through the snow and fog was Anderson's rock, and the schooner had to haul up sharply to the westward to clear White Island ledge. After passing the Shoals the schooner was headed for Kitt's rock buoy; but the heavy sea and current set the vessel to the westward, and instead of Whales'-back lighthouse being next seen Col. Eastman's cottages on Odiorne's point suddenly loomed up, uncomfortably close aboard. Had it been night instead of midday the schooner would almost certainly have gone on the rocks, in which case the lives of the thirteen men on board would not have been worth five cents on a dollar; as it was, she got in all right—no thanks to the authorities who have not established good signals, for the fog-bell was not heard at all by the crew. The schooner Celia, Capt. Allen, also had to run in in the same storm, and similarly was indebted for her safety to good seamanship, the hand-lead and good luck, the abortive fog-signal on Whale's-back not assisting her in the least. Efficient fog signals will probably be established at this port some time; the seamen who use the port in the winter hope that time is not really so far distant as it now seems to be.

JOTTINGS.

Reese Owens, of Seabrook, was before the police court Wednesday on a charge made by the Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, for keeping animals out in the extreme cold on the night of the 9th, of which offense he was proved guilty, and fined $20 and costs.

Sheriff Kent has appointed Jasper G. Wallace a deputy for Rockingham county.

The churches and the public are cautioned against a young man, calling himself Henry Sebastian and hailing from New York and Chicago, who is attending prayer-meetings and begging money. For information concerning him write to the Chicago Young Men's Christian Association or apply to M. R. Deming, Secretary Boston Young Men's Christian Association.

Would not the running of a much larger feed-pipe (the present one we are informed is but an inch in diameter) from the Aqueduct Company's main to the Market square reservoir prove a paying investment on the part of the city, should an abundant supply of water from that reservoir ever be necessary in case of fire? At present a single steamer can pump it dry in a few hours. This question was brought up in the City Councils several years ago, and a committee appointed to enquire into the matter, but nothing further was done, we believe because the committee reported that water was not plenty enough in the aqueduct pipes to make it pay. There is an abundance of water now.

Several hundred horn-pouts have been put in the pond on Seavey's island at the Navy Yard, having been procured for that purpose from away Down East by Mr. H. W. Briant, who has a number of them in a glass globe at his store. They are a kind of fresh water sculpins being formed with a big mouth and an appetite for almost anything small enough to be swallowed, which makes them excellent scavengers. Placing them in the Seavey's island pond is preparatory to stocking that water with black bass.

Zell's Popular Encyclopædia is well called a Universal Dictionary of history, biography, geography, science, art and language. Its great merit is the combination of comprehensiveness of scope with fulness of detail. The art of condensation is strikingly shown in it. Nos. 29-32, the four parts of this work last received, show the same characteristics which have distinguished the previous numbers. They contain a vast amount of information upon almost every conceivable topic, put in a wonderfully compact and convenient shape. Numerous illustrations add to the value of the work, by bringing to the eye the image of many objects, which no description could give an accurate idea of. The present is a new and revised edition of this important work, which has been brought down to the latest date by the editor, L. Colange, LL. D., who has had the assistance of experts in the various departments covered by it. The work is valuable not only for what it contains, but as a guide to a person desiring exhaustive information on any special subject—the references here contained being invaluable. As a companion alike for the scholar or the general reader it is worthy of special commendation. Having received the award of diploma and medal from the Department of Education and Science at the Centennial, the publishers have reason to be proud of their great work. It is sold only by subscription. Philadelphia: published by T. E. Zell. Horace King, general agent.

—It's easy finding reasons why other folks should be patient.

—There is nothing dispels the dreams of youth and shatters the ambitious hopes of the noble boy like having a young lady remark in his hearing that he would make, with study, a good hat rack.

—The Virginia City Chronicle tells some droll stories of Nevada life. One of the largest concerns a dog who had a wonderful scent. His master was proudly boasting how far the animal could track him, and concluded his yarn with the triumphant query: "What d'ye think about that?" "Do you want to know what I think about it?" said one of the bystanders; "well, I think you'd better go and take a bath."

[illegible] New York custom house a [illegible] of valuable meerschaums and other property. The goods were, it is alleged, concealed in a bass viol. This was certainly a bass violation of the revenue laws.

—All the great problems of nature are not yet solved. One of the most interesting is how a woman can hold her mouth full of hairpins while she is doing up her back hair, and at the same time impart to her husband exact and valuable information in a loud, voice concerning the undesirability of his dropping his cigar ashes on the carpet.

—A gentleman making a speech at the opening of a cookery school in Edinburgh, Scotland, said that every young woman before marrying should be able to exhibit a diploma showing that she is a good cook. This will be fair when it is also required of a marrying young man to show a diploma proving that he is a good farmer, and can raise the grain and other material which she is to cook.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Unrivaled Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (twelve illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntterings About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Pictures of My Window at Moscow," by Eugene Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, who-e story of "Seven-Oaks" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of this latest novel is laid on the banks of the Hudson. The hero is a young man who has been always "tied to a woman's apron strings," but who, by the death of his mother, is left alone in the world,—to drift on the current of life with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Tmf. ton, will be ready on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson Burnett. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in Autumn, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the Editor.

There is to be a series of original illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Herrick, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the Cotton Manufacture, "Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," to be in November number, and "Coal Lane, Rochdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Hymeny a Week for the Million," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports or Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest product-ns of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, higher and nobler, more genial and generous in all its influences and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber (who requests it), and whole subscription begins with the present month, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest book-seller, or send a check or P. O. money order to SCRIBNER & Co., 743 Broadway, N. Y.

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, or 56 broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the substitution of statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for dollar grabbing, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of reporters and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will doubtless continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who thrive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, while it will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of adventurous power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The SUNDAY edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a year, post paid.

The WEEKLY SUN, eight pages of 56 broad columns, will be furnished during 1877 at the rate of 60 a year, post paid.

The benefit of this large reduction from the previous rate for the WEEKLY can be enjoyed by individual subscribers with out the necessity of making up clubs. At the same time, if any of our friends choose to aid in extending our circulation, we shall be grateful to them, and every such person who sends us ten or more subscribers from one place will be entitled to one copy of the paper for himself without charge. At one dollar a year, postage paid, the expenses of paper and printing are barely repaid; and, considering the size of the sheet and the quality of its contents, we are confident the people will consider THE WEEKLY SUN the cheapest newspaper published in the world, and we trust also one of the very best.

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are represented to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 5th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer by the use of the pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

(WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains contracted from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS in the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried every thing that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I induced him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. He thinks nothing of the pills, but I think he is well. Yours, DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, is the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, but I do not remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I used I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent nostrums with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, but still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst of administering and stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five packages to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

THE BEST ROUTE FOR

Washington and Florida.

On and after MONDAY, December 18, a Pullman Sleeping Car will be dispatched from Boston on the 9 a. m. train from the Summer Street Depot of the New York and New England Railroad, running through without change via Putnam, Willimantic, New Haven, Harlem River (Steamer Meriden), Jersey City, Philadelphia, Wilmington, Baltimore, Washington, Alexandria, Manassas, Gordonsville and Lynchburg to Danville, with there connecting at 3 o'clock, on the afternoon of the next day, with through sleepers for Atlanta and New Orleans, for Savannah and Jacksonville, Florida. Breakfast in Boston; dinner on board the Sleeper Steamer Meriden; breakfast in Philadelphia; breakfast at Gordonsville and dinner at Danville.

OF

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent. A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind; and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the only opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, R. A., Prof. Owen, Dr. W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and others equally eminent. Besides the regular articles in the body of the magazine, there are four original Editorial Departments: Literary Notices, Foreign Literature, Science and Art, and Varieties.

With regard to the character of the selections, the aim of the ECLECTIC is to be instructive without being dull, and entertaining without being trivial. While each number contains something to interest every member of the family circle, it addresses itself particularly to that great body of intelligent readers who seek profit as well as amusement in solid and healthful literature.

Besides the 128 pages of reading matter, each number of the magazine contains a Fine Steel-Engraving—usually a portrait—executed in the most artistic manner.

TERMS.—Single copies, 45 cents; one copy one year $5; two copies, $9; five copies, $20. Tribal subscriptions for three months, $1.

The ECLECTIC and any $4 Magazine to one address, $8.

Postage free to all subscribers. Address,

MRS. WINSLOW'S
SOOTHING SYRUP!
For Children Teething,
greatly facilitates the process of teething, by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is Sure to Regulate the Bowels.
Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and Relief and Health to Your Infants.
We have put up and sold this article for years, and CAN SAY IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE, when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in the matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after years of experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.
This valuable preparation has been used with NEVER FAILING SUCCESS in
Thousands of Cases.
It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instant relieve Griping in the Bowels and Wind Colic.
We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD, in all cases of DYSENTERY and DIARRHŒA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—do not let your prejudices, nor the prejudices of others, stand between your suffering child and the relief it will be. SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle.
Be sure and call for
"MRS. WINSLOW'S SOOTHING SYRUP."
Having the fac-simile of "CURTIS & PERKINS" on the outside wrapper.
Sold by Druggists throughout the world. dtfeb15

The War of the Wines.

There are few prettier vineyard views in France than the one seen from the chesnut-covered platform on which stands the old and romantic Chateau Yquem. There has been an old-standing feud and rivalry of hundreds of years between the greatest wines of this district and the far-famed Johannisberg of the Rhine, and a great trial of skill took place at the Paris Exhibition of 1867. The jury was composed equally of French and German experts, with a Rhenish President, and two bottles of the choicest Rhine wine were pitted against two bottles of Chateau Vigneau of 1861. A unanimous verdict gave the prize to Chateau Vigneau of Bordeaux, and it was afterward ascertaine that the Rhine wine was taken from a single barrel made from grapes chosen individually from a whole growth. The French have never forgotten this victory, and although the Germans claim for their Johannisberg a bouquet that is indescribable, the French maintain that for wealth and delicacy of flavor, no wine in the world can touch Chateau Yquem or Chateau Vigneau.

—Mr. W. W. Eddy, of Huntington, Vt., is the owner of a cat, which cat is in the habit of going into the stable on cold winter evenings and getting on the back of one of the cows and remaining there during the night, having discovered in some way that this is a cheap and effective way of keeping warm.

—The winter of 1827 was the coldest ever known in Missouri, so cold in fact that, in the words of the local paper: "Horses, cattle and turkeys roosting on trees were frozen to death."

—A negro was put on the stand as a witness, and the Judge inquired if he understood the nature of an oath. "For certing, boss," said the citizen; "If I swear to a lie I must stick to him!"

—Mrs. Partington says that few persons suffer from suggestions of the brains nowadays.

ST. NICHOLAS.

"The King of all publications issued for the young on either side of the Atlantic."—Southampton (England) Observer.

The third volume of this incomparable Magazine is now completed. With its eight hundred royal octavo pages, and its six hundred illustrations, its splendid serials, its shorter stories, poems, and sketches, etc., in its handsome binding of red and gold, it is the most splendid gift-book for boys and girls ever issued from the press. Price, $4; in full gilt, $5.

"ST. NICHOLAS is full of the choicest things. The publication is, in all respects, the best of its kind. We have never yet—on a number that was not surprisingly good"—The Churchman, Hartford, Conn.

ST. NICHOLAS FOR 1877,

Editorial Pencilings.

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.

And so the old "Temple" is gone! Lives there an absent son of Portsmouth who can learn the news without a feeling of regret that another of the old landmarks of old "Strawberry Bank" has been destroyed? Who will write its history and do it justice? Who record the many changes of its checkered career? To the "Sons" it was a sacred thing—used for secular purposes! Oh were the predictions of old that it would burn each coming Winter, and it has scorned the flames till now.—Those who predicted its destruction years ago were called to their last account before even its bell tower surrendered. That was but a few brief months ago, and the old building has never been itself since. Even a new coat of paint did not encourage it to go on as in its glorious past. Venerable structure! Yes, venerable! It saw the first seed of religious liberty ripen and give forth fruit. It liberalized fully as fast as the world did and was in the advance of public sentiment. It had its years, and they were years of usefulness. Once, away back in the days of long ago, it had a rival, the cosy little "Cameneum," but the rival deteriorated into a stamping ground for equinity, and left the "Temple" alone in its glory. The latter was the joy and the fear of the town. Every youth looked forward to a coming harvest when he or she could inhabit a seat in it for an hour or two to listen to the merriment of the minstrel, the intense earnestness of dramatic puppets, or to bask in the favors of some "great" Fakir, he of "Ava," for instance. The gamin was always at his best inside the "Temple," where he reigned supreme. His shrill whistle and cat-call were half forgotten in his exhibitions of sublime impudence! The Portsmouth boy is always on time. He keeps it—with his feet; and he notifies indolent managers that it is high time the performance should commence. The superlative essence of pea-nutitude hurls him not from a prompt realization that if the manager is not ready he is! The clatter of boot-heels swells into a volume resembling young thunder, and many a brogan is withdrawn from the view of the anxious sitter-beneath, to do valiant duty in the gallery. How deep must be his chagrin o'nights to find his occupation gone! Be it ever so humble there was no such place for gatherings. And in those good old times when the audience room was an amphitheatre and a lyceum course was fully attended, the filled seats presented a spectacle such as few could forget after having once seen. Should a new "Temple" arise from the dust of the old, no more comfortable plan of seating an audience could be suggested. Convenient as has been the "Temple" for concerts, lectures, fairs, the drama, and church uses, how liberally it has been patronized by every shade and type of class and society. Within its walls what eloquence has been spent for the conversion of souls and voters! The gamin who in his early years has haunted the stage hall to listen to the tempting castanets of the "end" man, and has afterward taken part in public on the same stage in Sabbath school concerts and amateur theatricals, can remember that when he was not far from "so high," Gen. Sam. Houston had a rousing reception in the identical place. John B. Gough there sent broadcast his eloquent appeals for the salvation of his fellows. John P. Hale, Henry Wilson, William Lloyd Garrison and others of the noblest in the anti-slavery fight, held the platform, sometimes even against that potential pro-slavery argument—the effete egg! The Washington Total Abstinence Society accomplished its greatest results within those walls, and local politics with the same end in view have successfully followed them. The rise and decline of nearly every considerable society existing in "Strawberry Bank" has been connected at various times with the "Temple." When the running stream of the Spring Market and the old cemetery at Point of Graves are forgotten, then will the memories of the living thousands recall past exp[illegible] change in t[illegible] ashes!

man having been drowned when the boat was swamped. The Wild Horse was found to have auger holes bored in her bottom.

The sham fight at the centennial celebration of the battle of Trenton was elaborately carried out on Dec. 26th. One patriotic citizen proposed to engage two tramps to freeze to death on the march, but this realistic feature was omitted. The anniversary of the battle was always observed in Trenton before the war, but the historic fight was never resuscitated with so much spirit as on this centennial occasion. In the afternoon, Judge Buchanan delivered an oration.

It was reported some days since, that the bark C. A. Whitmore, of Bath, Me., was closely watched in the harbor at Hong Kong, by the United States ship Kearsarge, Captain Peabody and the mates, Snow and Stafford, having been accused of unprecedented cruelty to the crew during the voyage from Cardiff, and of compassing the death of the mate Elwood. Hong Kong was ceded to Great Britain under the treaty of Canton, in 1841, and the accused officers could not be arrested, in consequence of the suspension of the extradition treaty with England. At an indignation meeting of British residents, a resolution was adopted requesting the Governor to telegraph for permission to surrender the men to the United States authorities. Before this could be done, the bark sailed, as appears by a San Francisco despatch, and was promptly followed by the Kearsarge and boarded on the high seas, but the scoundrelly officers were not found and are supposed to be still in China, awaiting an opportunity to escape.

Gen. James W. Nye, ex-Senator from Nevada, died at White Plains, N. Y., on Wednesday.

Joseph Matting, fourteen years of age, living at Goff's Falls, was run over and killed on the Concord Railroad Wednesday afternoon. He got on a freight train at Reed's Ferry, and was stealing a ride to Manchester. When in the yard there, while the train was moving, the conductor saw him and requested him to get on top of the car, but he was frightened and jumped off, striking his head in a snowdrift and his body falling back on the track. Seven loaded freight cars passed over him, severing his body in two and also cutting off both legs. The remains were gathered up and carried to his home at Goff's Falls. No blame is attached to the railroad company or its employes.

At a meeting of the directors of the Manchester & Ashburnham Railroad, held in Manchester on Wednesday, Joseph S. Shannon was chosen treasurer, and the president was authorized to have the line of the road surveyed at once.

The annual session of the Most Worthy Grand Lodge of Free and Accepted Masons of New Hampshire was held in Manchester on Wednesday.

While John Shirley was attending a levee at Hooksett, on the night of Dec. 13th, some rascal cut and nearly ruined the harness upon his horse which was tied near the hall. Mr. Shirley has been prominent in suppressing the rum traffic in his town, and it is presumed that this detestable act was done by some one formerly connected with it. It is pretty well known who committed the act, but proof will be difficult it is feared.

Barney Sullivan, a section hand on the Northern Railroad, was at Canaan on Christmas night and visited the Methodist church, in which a festival was being held, and began ringing the church bell vigorously. The pastor of the church went to the hallway to expostulate with the ringer of the bell and asked him to stop. Barney at once left the bell and gave his attention to the minister, knocking him down and beating him severely. Two young men interfered and pulled the assailant from the helpless victim. The people of the village are much aroused, but Barney cannot be found, having left for parts unknown [illegible] ing the night.

Two men st[illegible]

frightening all who are opposed to them away from the polls is an act to be justified. They appear to think the golden rule is not applicable to the relations between white democrats and negro republicans. They appear to think it is the part of good citizens to obstruct the enforcement of the law when its enforcement would bring white democrats into disgrace. We are judging them by acts which are of record, as their partisan allies and apologists at the North well know.—Boston Advertiser.

Affairs in Florida seem mixed. Messrs. McGinn and Cowgill, of the Board of Canvassers, on Tuesday morning refused to obey the order of the court requiring a new canvass of the face of the votes. Attorney General Cocke (democrat,) made a canvass of the vote, which gave Drew 497 and Tilden 94 majority. Subsequently the other members of the board agreed to recanvass, and the full board met on Wednesday afternoon, their canvass giving Drew a majority of 195 and the Hayes Electors 206. Cocke filed a protest.

—Rev. J. F. Gardiner made the remarkable statement at a recent medical conference in England "that within one hundred yards of the Sailors' Home at Liverpool there were forty-seven public houses, and the publicans actually strewed sawdust on the pavement in front of them, and sprinkled rum over it, so that the smell of the spirit might decoy sailors within their doors."

—Most men call fretting a minor fault, a foible, and not a vice. There is no vice except drunkenness which can so utterly destroy the peace, the happiness of a home. —Helen Hunt.

CHRISTMAS FESTIVAL

The School of St. John's church, in Hall on the evening of St. Dec. 27th, is enthusiastically by the participants. Tableaux, "learned pig," refreshments on, etc., all together furnished a good time, which was en- Rev. Charles A. Holbrook ed with a students' reclining Nellie Newell making the pres- ech, as follows:

Brookville The members of the to show their appreciation you have manifested in them st year, have purchased for and now offer it to you as a regard, with the hope that it restful and acceptable to

"accepted the sit-uation" self in the chair, and re- parishioners were "very -able."

Mr. Arthur F. Pfeiffer, Superintendent of Sunday School, was the recipient of a en silver spoons, presented by the teach- of the school. After the young people's ainment was over, at midnight, dance- taken up by the older ones, to out the evening.

The attendance was not confined to the members of the Sunday School, but the par shioners generally, with their friends, were present to witness the enjoyment of the children. The tableaux, from the fairy tale of Cinderella, were beautiful; and when Santa Claus appeared upon the stage, (he was first seen issuing from the hugh chimney of his winter residence) he was greeted with uproarious applause by the children. The appearance and grotesque acting of "the learned pig" afforded much amusement; in fact, the whole stage management reflects great credit upon those having it in charge.

"SUGGESTIONS" HEEDED.

Eds. Chronicle:—I think the article in this morning's CHRONICLE, headed "Suggestions," calls for a reply from me.

It is a very easy thing for one to suggest what should have been done under the circumstances. After discovering the fire I did not lose my senses for a moment, but thought it best to find out how much fire there was, which I did, and then went to work with Mr. Tredick's help to put it out with the means that I had; and that was to bring water from a tub in the cellar which I always left full for such emergencies. The time I spent was not more than five minutes before I gave a general alarm; and I could not succeed in getting any help, and then went to the Kearsarge Engine House, and there found Mr. Seymour hauling out the hose-carriage alone. I took hold with him and helped to get it to State street, and then left for the Police Station to have the North bell rung, and found no one there. While running again to the Temple the bell was feebly struck and then stopped.

Had I been more selfish I should have staid by the building and no doubt have saved a thousand dollars' worth of fixtures, including my [illegible]; but I had a thought for my [illegible] and therefore left my property to burn while I sought help to save theirs.

If the water company had let on the water equally all over the city I should have had a hose-pipe always attached; as it was, I did the best I could where the water was to be had, which was only in the cellar by pumping, and it never was in the building until I had it put in.

As no one has met with any serious loss but myself, I do not see any cause for ill-natured remarks. J. W. STAVERS.

PORTSMOUTH GRANGE, P. OF H.

[illegible] ly enjoyable and well conducted affair. We speak confidently on this point, as all the entertainments given by this popular company have been pleasant for the participants and creditable to "the boys," and the latter are working to make this ball fully the equal of anything they have ever engineered in that line.

A Mothers' New Year's Tea Party and Service will be held at Faith Home at 6 o'clock P. M. Tickets will be issued with special reference to the mothers of the children entertained at the Christmas dinner. Friend desiring to aid in this good time for mothers may send what they please to contribute to the Home on or before Monday.

Newburyport is having a religious revival conducted by Rev. E. Payson Hammond, the Evangelical Revivalist; large crowds are in attendance each day and evening. The out door meetings in Market square attract immense crowds, notwithstanding the cold weather, and great numbers have been converted. It is reported that the Mr. Hammond intends visiting this city.

The Chicago Tribune thus refers to a well known son of Portsmouth: "The managers of the new Erie & Chicago line are to be congratulated upon securing the services of Mr. Charles W. Adams as their agent in this city. Mr. Adams, besides being a thoroughly-accomplished railroad man, is a most genial gentleman, with a wide acquaintance and popularity,—in short, is in every way qualified to represent the interests of the line to excellent advantage."

In 1630 neither women nor swine were allowed on the Isles of Shoals—the swine because they muddled the springs, which were scarce, and the women because they muddled the men.

The Boston Traveller says: "John W. Stavers, one of the proprietors of the Sample Amusement Hall, burned Sunday evening, will immediately rebuild on the old site."

Wide Awake for January, 1877. Christmas, in the superlative degree, pervades the holiday number of Wide Awake. Mrs. L. C. Whiton opens it with one of the loveliest of this year's Christmas poems. Opposite is the frontispiece, an engraving of Raphael's Sistine Madonna. The Little Folks all over the country are represented by letters which they have sent with their dolls to the Doll's Fair, as Christmas gifts to the children in the hospitals. Only $2 per annum, free of postage. Ella Farman, editor. D. Lothrop & Co., publishers, Boston, Mass.

The reform club being about to vacate Rechabite hall, have secured the spacious room in the second story of Badger's new block and fitted the same in excellent taste as a club and reading room. The Sunday evening meetings of the organization will be held at Mechanics hall. The club is enjoying a good degree of prosperity, and proposes to prosecute its work.

The Universalist Sunday School had its annual Christmas festival Wednesday evening in the vestry of the Church. There were at least three hundred persons present. Excellent charades, recitations and music were given, followed by two Christmas trees, from each of which were hung numberless small stockings of confectionery and other good things for the children.

Mr. Ulysses D. Tenney has painted a splendid portrait of the late Hon. Richard Jenness, which is to be placed in the Senate chamber in the State House at Concord.

ANOTHER FIRE.

The alarm of fire at half-past eleven o'clock, Thursday night, was occasioned by the partial burning of the building on Market street owned by Mr E. M. Brown, and occupied on the ground floor by George H. Tripp (paper hangings, etc.,) and Peyser & Kennedy (clothing), Mr. Brown's furniture warerooms being in the second and third stories. The fire was discovered by the police patrol through clouds of smoke pouring from the building; a good alarm was given, the department rallied promptly and soon had water going through the hose, and little else than smoke was seen outside the building at any time to indicate that there was fire within. The building was apparently not damaged to any great extent, but the stocks of goods in it suffered largely.

The fire is supposed to have caught from a stove in Mr. Tripp's store, burning thence into the cellar (where the firemen had a hard job to put it out) and up through the floor into Mr. Brown's store-rooms. Mr. Tripp's stock was totally ruined by fire and water; his loss is about $3000, the insurance being about half that sum. The extensive stock of Mr. Brown was rendered nearly worthless by fire, water and steam, the insurance being light. Peyser & Kennedy had their large store filled with an immense amount of ready made clothing, much of it of superior quality, men's furnishing goods, etc., and though the fire did not get into their premises the water did, from overhead, and did great damage.—how much cannot at this moment be estimated; they hold insurance to about three-fifths the value of their stock.

For a fire that made so little show it was a costly one. It was well managed, as is usually the case with fires in this city; [illegible] ch speedily got under control [illegible] ing until [illegible]

Daily Chronicle.

"Couldn't you give me something to ?" asked a poor boy at a Michigan shingle factory, the other day. "No," said the owner, "we are all full now." The boy looked sad, and was about to go away, when a bright thought seized upon him, and, turning again to the owner, he inquired: "Don't you need a boy to test shingles on?" But even then the lad could get no position, for the man had a boy of his own.

SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY.

An Illustrated Illustrated Magazine.

The prospectus for the new volume gives the titles of more than fifty papers (mostly illustrated), by writers of the highest merit. Under the head of

"FOREIGN TRAVEL,"

we have "A Winter on the Nile," by Gen. McClellan; "Sauntering About Constantinople," by Charles Dudley Warner; "Out of My Window at Seaford," by Eugen Schuyler; "An American in Turkistan," etc. Three serial stories are announced:

by Dr. Holland, the Editor, whose story of "Seven-Gables" gave the highest satisfaction to the readers of the Monthly.

The scene of the latest novel is laid on the banks of Long Island Sound.

"Red is a romance of real things," but also by the author of his inimitable "Bitter Sweet" in the world,—to drift on the current of life,—with a fortune, but without a purpose.

Another serial, "His Inheritance," by Miss Trafton, will be run on the completion of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," by Mrs. Hodgson. Mrs. Burnett's story, begun in August, has a pathos and dramatic power which have been a surprise to the public.

Twenty-two articles of practical illustrated papers of "Popular Science," by Mrs. Henrich, each paper complete in itself.

There are to be, from various pens, papers on

"HOME LIFE AND TRAVEL."

Also, practical suggestions as to town and country life, "village improvements, etc., by well-known specialists.

Mr. Barnard's articles on various industries of Great Britain include the history of "Some Experiments in Co-operation," "A Scottish Leaf Factory," in the November number, and "Tom Lane, Stockdale," in December. Other papers are, "The British Workingman's Home," "A Nation of Shopkeepers," "Twenty a Week for the Child," etc.

A richly illustrated series will be given on "American Sports by Flood and Field," by various writers, and each on a different theme. The subject of will have a prominent place, whilst the latest productions of American humorists will appear from month to month. The list of shorter stories, biographical and other sketches, etc., is a long one.

"HOUSEHOLD AND HOME DECORATION"

The editorial department will continue to employ the ablest pens both at home and abroad. There will be a series of letters on literary matters, from London, by Mr. Welford.

We mean to make the magazine sweeter and purer, lighter and nobler, more genial and generous in all its influences and influences, and a more welcome visitor than ever before in homes of refinement and culture.

FIFTEEN MONTHS FOR $4.00.

SCRIBNER for December, now ready, contains the opening chapters of "Nicholas Minturn." The three numbers of SCRIBNER for August, September, and October, containing the opening chapters of "That Lass o' Lowrie's," will be given to every new subscriber who requests it, and whose subscription begins with the present volume, i.e., with the November number.

Subscription price, $4 a year—35 cents a number. Special terms on bound volumes. Subscribe with the nearest bookseller, or send a check or P. O. money order to

THE SUN.

1877 NEW YORK. 1877

The different editions of THE SUN during the next year will be the same as during the year that has just passed. The daily edition will on week days be a sheet of four pages, and on Sundays a sheet of eight pages, of nine broad columns; while the weekly edition will be a sheet of eight pages of the same dimensions and character that are already familiar to our friends.

THE SUN will continue to be the strenuous advocate of reform and retrenchment, and of the subjection of the statesmanship, wisdom, and integrity for the low pretence, imbecility, and fraud in the administration of public affairs. It will contend for the government of the people by the people and for the people, as opposed to government by frauds in the ballot-box and in the counting of votes, enforced by military violence. It will endeavor to supply its readers—a body now not far from one million of souls—with the most careful, complete, and trustworthy accounts of current events, and will employ for this purpose a numerous and carefully selected staff of writers and correspondents. Its reports from Washington, especially, will be full, accurate and fearless; and it will continue to deserve and enjoy the hatred of those who derive by plundering the Treasury or by usurping what the law does not give them, and will endeavor to merit the confidence of the public by defending the rights of the people against the encroachments of a lawless and distributed power.

The price of the daily SUN will be 55 cents a month or $6.50 a year, post paid, or with the Sunday edition $7.70 a year.

The daily edition alone, eight pages, $1.20 a month or $12.00 a year, post paid.

ROCKINGHAM, SS.

BY THE JUDGE OF PROBATE FOR SAID COUNTY.

TO the heirs at law and creditors to the estate of EMELINE KNOX, late of Portsmouth in said County, deceased, intestate, and all persons interested in said estate, greeting.

You are hereby notified that SAMUEL ADAMS, administrator of the estate of said deceased, will present his account of administration of said estate for Court of Probate to be holden at Portsmouth in and for said County, on the second Tuesday of January next, at 10 o'clock A. M. for examination and allowance.

You are therefore hereby cited to appear at said Court to be heard thereon, and to make such objections as you may then have. And notice is hereby required to be given by causing this citation to be published three weeks successively in the Portsmouth Daily Chronicle, a newspaper printed at Portsmouth in said County, the last publication whereof to be at least one week prior to said Court.

By order of the Judge,
WOODBURY M. DUNGIN, Register of Probate.

This is to give Notice:

THAT on the 11th day of December, A. D. 1876, a Warrant in Bankruptcy was issued against the Estate of BENJAMIN CHESVER, of Portsmouth in the County of Rockingham and State of New Hampshire, who has been adjudged a Bankrupt on his own Petition; that the payment of any Debts, and the delivery of any Property belonging to the Bankrupt, to him, or for his use, and the transfer of any Property by him, are forbidden by law; that a meeting of the Creditors of the said Bankrupt, to prove their Debts and to choose one or more Assignees of his Estate, will be held at a Court of Bankruptcy, to be holden at the National Hotel in Portsmouth in said District before Thomas E. Sawyer, Register, on the 4th day of January A. D. 1877, at 11 o'clock A. M.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness, Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for four years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as one of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from Maj. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d, their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you and your great Pills. I have tried no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldier, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship. Send me three more packages by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving testimony, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He hesitated nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a free from the Rheumatism. Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some one may think I am telling a big story I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEYARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for some years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for some years, and could not stand, kneeling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and incurable. I concluded I had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed pl ase find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Rev. Laurie Sherrell Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I am recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. J. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after, dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

For the terrible diseases engendered by the lung-trying climate of New England,

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate reach. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agent. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

ECLECTIC MAGAZINE OF FOREIGN LITERATURE.

THIRTY-THIRD YEAR.

THE ECLECTIC reprints from the foreign Quarterlies, Reviews, Magazines, and Journals, their choicest contents, including Essays, Scientific Papers, Biographical Sketches, Reminiscences of Travel and Adventure, Tales, Stories, and Poems. The field of selection is very large, and it is believed that the ECLECTIC presents a greater variety and higher standard of literature than any periodical can hope to do that depends exclusively upon home talent.

A knowledge of the current literature of other countries is indispensable to all who would keep pace with the progress of the human mind, and the ECLECTIC offers the best, and, indeed, the sly "opportunity for obtaining this knowledge within a reasonable compass, and at a moderate price.

Among the writers represented in recent numbers of the ECLECTIC are: The Rt. Hon. W. E. Gladstone, James Anthony Froude, Matthew Arnold, Charles Kingsley, Robert Buchanan, Geo. McDonald, John Ruskin, Alfred Tennyson, Thomas Hughes, William Black, Mrs. Oliphant, Thos. Hardy, William Morris, Miss Thackeray, Mrs. Alexander, Prof. Huxley and Tyndall, Richard Proctor, B. A., Prof. Owen, W. B. Carpenter, Max Muller, J. Norman Lockyer, Herbert Spencer, and the ablest equally eminent writers of the regularly issued periodicals. Specimen copies sent for ten cents. Terms, $4 a year, or four copies for $10. Address, LEONARD SCOTT & CO., 140 Fulton Street, New York.
